ROMANIA QUITS GERMANY!

HER TROOPS BATTLE NAZIS

FRENCH ARMY IN PARIS; MARSEILLE IS CAPTURED

Americans Push 140 Miles from Mediterranean.

ROME, Aug. 23 (AP).—Marseille, France's second city and greatest seaport, fell to the swift drive of French infantry and armor today as American forces swept 140 miles inland from the Mediterranean and captured Grenoble.

This advance placed the Americans within less than 240 miles of a junction with Gen. Eisenhower's legions below liberated Paris.

Only eight days after the landings in southern France the inspired pollus battered their way into the heart of Marseille against Nazi resistance.

[Associated Press Correspondent Sid Feder, with the French forces in Marseille, last night reported that German resistance in the port collapsed after French soldiers and patriots engaged Nazi marines in street fighting. The Germans, he said, fought from behind bulwarked forts and buttressed hotels to keep open escape routes from the city. Hour after hour the fighting continued down the center of the famed Rue de la Canebiere, but finally the opposition was overcome.]

Toulon's Fall Near.

The capture of the great port insures the 7th army of Lt. Gen. Alexander M. Patch an adequate flow of supplies and reënforcements for a speedy continuation of their thrust toward northern France. Prior to the city's fall other French troops had cut the last escape route for the German garrison along the coast to the west.

The encircled Nazi force in Toulon, big naval base 27 miles east of Marseille, still was holding out tonight, but French troops had fought their way within a few hundred yards of the docks and the city's fall was expected any hour.

[NBC in New York last night quoted Radio Atlantik, secret German language station, as saying that Toulon was in allied hands.]

Yanks Dash to Grenoble.

Matching the French victory in its spectacular quality was the dash of American forces into the big industrial city of Grenoble—a bold drive that threatened to bisect France and trap every German soldier in the southern and western parts of the country.

Triumphant American infantry and armor occupied Salon, 25 miles northwest of Marseille, and continued their advance with only slight opposition from the stunned and bewildered Nazis who claim they have been deserted by their air force.

[Radio France of Algiers said a junction of French Forces of the Interior and allied invasion units at Lyon, which dominates the Rhone valley 170 miles north of Marseille, appeared imminent. The broadcast, recorded by FCC monitors, said allied vanguards were within 52 miles of Lyon. It added that "it is known the entire Lyon region is controled by patriots."]

As the swift American column of armor, self-propelled guns, and motorized infantry plunged almost unopposed thru the French Alps it appeared that the two allied fronts would be joined much sooner than originally was thought possible—perhaps in a matter of days. Nazi resistance to the 7th army's smashing drive was officially described as "weak and disorganized." More than 17,000 prisoners had been taken.

80 Mile Advance Indicated.

In their dramatic dash to Grenoble, an important communications center of about 100,00 population, Yank tanks and doughboys advanced at least 80 miles beyond their last reported position. Tonight they were less than 70 miles from the Swiss border near Geneva and virtually had severed communications between German forces in France and Italy.

Gen. Bradley Orders Yanks to Move Into Capital.

BY CHARLES COLLINGWOOD.
[Columbia Broadcasting System Correspnd.]

PARIS, Aug. 23 [By Radio via London]—(AP).—The 2d French armored division entered Paris today after the Parisians arose as one man to beat down the motley, terrified German troops who had garrisoned the city.

Lt. Gen. Omar N. Bradley ordered some American units into Paris to work with the French military forces.

[The 2d armored division is part of Brig. Gen. Le Clerc's French forces attached to the American 3d army. The 3d army is part of the 12th army group headed by Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley.]

It was the people of Paris who really won back their city with fantastic suddenness.

Yesterday a Frenchman burst into Lt. Gen. Omar Bradley's headquarters. He was the chief of the Forces of the Interior in Paris, and he had a staggering, incredible story to tell.

Concludes an Armistice.

He said he had concluded an armistice with the German forces in Paris. He declared that the people of Paris had risen and so hounded the Germans that the German commander requested an armistice. The commander asked the armistice to withdraw his troops from the road blocks west and south of Paris, where they had been facing the Americans, and pass them thru the city. The armistice expired at noon today.

This news caused a sensation in Bradley's headquarters because, altho we had known that rioting had been going on in Paris since Saturday, we had not known the French had given the Germans a terrific beating.

Americans on Way.

Altho the whole 3d army operation had been geared to the complete encirclement of the Germans west of the Seine, Gen. Bradley decided we must go into Paris.

It was short notice, for the troops had to be ready to enter at noon today. Bradley ordered the 2d French armored division out of the line and told it to start moving toward Paris. On a moment's notice the whole machinery was set in motion to occupy the city.

In Desperate Straits.

YANKS, FRENCH IN 2-WAY DRIVE ON BORDEAUX

IRUN, Spain, Aug. 23 (AP).—American and French forces, reënforced by troops landed last night from the sea, were reported by French authorities at Hendaye to be pushing steadily toward Bordeaux from both sides tonight.

Front line messages said Americans had reached Libourne, on the Dordogne river, 15 miles northeast of the great Atlantic port of Bordeaux, which is the last center of German resistance in southwestern France.

French military authorities at Hendaye said 800 French Commandos were among allied forces that landed last night south of Arcachon, below Bordeaux. They said the French landed from a French destroyer. Exact size and composition of the force were not known here, but border reports said it was mostly American.

The French at Hendaye said aerial reconnaissance indicated the Germans had given up previous attempts to organize an armored column and fight their way northward to the reich, and now appeared to be preparing to make some sort of stand at Bordeaux.

Flagman's Bare Midriff Ties Up Highway Traffic

Harrisburg, Ore., Aug. 23 (AP).—A feminine flagman on a highway construction job decided it was too hot for overalls and donned a midriff exposing swim suit. Soon after the state highway commission sent out a representative to find out why traffic on the Pacific highway was all gummed up.

Allied planes harried the Germans' frantic efforts to withdraw across the Seine river by any possible means and bombarded the Germans with 1,000,000 leaflets urging them to surrender.

The latest advance south of Paris saw armored reconnaissance units drive more than 15 miles east of Sens while others passed thru Corbeil and Melun, and others gained between Orleans and Sens.

Canadian Drive Slowed.

Chief prize on the lower Seine was Evreux, which the Americans freed, while a parallel Yank advance neared Conches farther west. Resistance everywhere was light except where the Germans slowed the Canadian advance in the 45-by-30-mile pocket, by blocking further bridgeheads across the Toques river.

"The main battle for France already is over," declared an Associated Press correspondent, who watched United States tanks drive 15 miles east of Sens to within 150 miles of the German border.

Truckloads of prisoners streamed back in the wake of the American advance, said this dispatch, datelined "en route to Berlin."

Tighten Noose Along Seine.

Supreme headquarters lifted the cloak of secrecy only enough to report the thrust east of Sens, 65 miles southeast of Paris, and to report tightening of the noose about tens of thousands of Germans in the Seine river loop northwest of Paris.

The Americans, driving from the south against these shattered remnants of the Nazi 7th army, seized Evreux in a nine mile advance.

An ever greater weight of attack was being thrown into the battle southeast of Paris, with units of Lt. Gen. George S. Patton's 3d army driving thru Corbeil and Melun, 15 and 25 miles below the capital.

Supreme headquarters kept secret the progress of the American forces forging north across the Seine northwest of Paris in an attempt to pin the battered 7th and 15th German armies against the sea.

American columns battled the enemy in Fontainebleau forest, 35 miles southeast of the capital.

This was the only hint of enemy opposition in strength on a spreading front from the sea at Trouville 170 miles southeast to Sens. At last reports, no opposition had been struck around Sens, indicating the enemy once more had left his flank exposed on the south, as in Normandy.

Seven Miles from Le Havre.

In the battle of the Seine loop northwest of Paris, Canadians on the west were gaining from 10 to 16 miles a day, but Belgians and Dutch along the coast ran into heavy going after rolling to Trouville, seven miles across the Seine estuary from Le Havre.

Belgian and Dutch forces on the coast seized Villers-sur-Mer, Deauville, and Trouville before they came under enemy guns firing from Le Havre.

British and Americans on the south were constricting the area left to the tens of thousands of Germans still believed west of the almost unbridged river.

On a line running east from Argentan to the Seine, the Americans captured Verneuil, 13 miles east of Laigle, and thrust north. They also were in contact with Germans south of Breteuil, 17 miles southwest of Evreux.

Seize 6,000 in One Day.

The area held by the Germans west of the Seine is deepest at a point from Laigle, 80 miles west of Paris, due north 48 miles to the coast. Along this front Canadians alone took 6,000 prisoners yesterday and captured the communications center of Lisieux, about 25 miles from the mouth of the Seine.

Germans still were streaming across the Seine in all kinds of vessels under heavy punishment from allied planes. The enemy air force tried to cover these crossings yesterday, but lost 37 planes.

LONDON, Aug. 24 [Thursday]—(AP).—The two-fisted soviet offensive that knocked Romania out of the war roared thru its fourth day yesterday, capturing Vaslui, 140 miles northeast of the Ploesti oil center, and toppling the two big Bessarabian bastions of Tighina [Bender] and Cetatea-Alba [Akkerman] on the west bank of the Dnestr, and more than 400 other towns.

The 2d and 3d Ukrainian armies deepened to as much as 60 miles the holes they have ripped in the German-Romanian defenses and advanced within 167 miles of the city of Bucharest.

Romania still was garrisoned with thousands of German troops, and the Russians were likely to continue their lightning campaign to drive the Nazis entirely out of the country, regardless of what Romanian troops choose to do.

The London Daily Express said, however, it had recorded a German military broadcast saying that the Romanian 3d army already had turned around and was fighting alongside the Russians.

Advance on Krakow.

Meanwhile the 1st Ukrainian army of Marshal Ivan S. Konev in southern Poland lashed out westward and seized the city of Debica, a large aircraft industry center and communications point 64 miles east of Krakow and 19 miles east of Tarnow, next probable objective of the offensive.

The flowering new offensive northwest of Warsaw advanced the Russians to within eight miles of the formidable Nazi fortress of Lomza, 20 miles below the East Prussian border, and freed another 80 towns, the Russians announced.

Nazis Repulsed.

The Germans counter-attacked from the Warsaw suburb of Praga, one the left flank of the Russian operations, but the soviet communique said they were driven off with sharp losses.

Other Germen counter-attacks were hurled back repeatedly in Latvia, where they were trying to establish a workable communication line with the two Nazi armies still semi-isolated in the north Baltic states.

The Russians were silent concerning a German broadcast which said Russian forces had reached "the beaches of Riga."

The plight of the German armies in the Baltic states became increasingly grave, despite the narrow escape corridor to East Prussia, as the Red armies in the north thrust to within four miles south of Tartu, Estonian railway hub and key point of the German communications.

Linked with the land drive in Romania was a new series of air attacks on Romanian Black sea ports, which the Russians said sank a total of eight ships.

TEXT OF ROYAL PROCLAMATION QUITTING AXIS

LONDON, Aug. 24 (Thursday)—(AP).—King Michael's proclamation taking Romania out of the axis, as broadcast from Bucharest, is as follows:

"Romanians! In the difficult hour of our country I have decided for the salvation of the fatherland on immediate cessation of hostilities with the united nations, and I call upon the government of the national union to fulfill the determined will of the country; to conclude peace with the united nations.

"Romania has accepted armistice terms offered by the soviet union, Great Britain, and the United States.

"From this moment all hostilities against soviet armies and the state of war with Great Britain and the United States will cease.

"The united nations have guaranteed the independence of Romania. Any one who opposes the decision we have taken and who takes justice in his own hands is an enemy of our nation. I order the army and the whole nation to fight with all means and at the cost of any sacrifice against him.

"All Romanians must rally around the throne and the government; he who does not assist the government and resists the will of the nation is a traitor to the country.

"The united nations have recognized the injustice of the dictate of Vienna under which Transylvania was torn from us.

CAROL JOYFUL AT SON'S ACTION IN QUITTING AXIS

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 23 (AP).—Former King Carol received joyfully tonight the news that his country had quit the axis. When he spoke the name of his son, King Michael, it was with warm emotion.

Carol said he was "very happy that my son listened to the real sentiments of the people and has pulled Romania out of the war, that Romania ceases being an enemy of the nations which always have been her friends."

Michael Will Battle Hungary to Win Transylvania.

LONDON, Aug. 24 [Thursday]—(AP).—Romania, Hitler's most useful satellite, abandoned him last night and announced she was joining the allies in the war against the axis—a turnabout suggesting the imminent collapse of the Nazi empire.

Moscow immediately afterward reported that fighting had broken out between German and Romanian troops on the eastern front, with many Romanians slain by Nazi forces as they sought to retreat before the Red army onslaught towards Ploesti and the Danube.

The German radio today denounced Romania's capitulation, saying that a "clique of traitors has put aside Premier Antonescu, and King Michael has come to an understanding with Britain and America."

The broadcast, beamed to Romania, asserted that a "national government"—presumably a puppet regime sponsored by the Nazis—had been formed to "prevent bolshevization" of the country, and told the Romanian people:

"Obey only its orders and not those of the traitors."

"With Greatest Danger."

The radio added that "Romania is threatened with the greatest danger" and appealed to Romanians to "fight together with the Germans against Russian bolshevism."

Young King Michael announced the capitulation and switch in a proclamation broadcast from Bucharest.

Indications were that Romania would be a co-belligerent, like Italy, rather than a full ally, and that her main offensive intentions were against Hungary in the hope of recovering Transylvania.

The proclamation said "Romania has accepted armistice terms offered by the soviet union, Great Britain, and the United States."

There was no official confirmation by any of the allies, but Britain had approved soviet terms in advance, and Prime Minister Churchill said on Aug. 2. "Russia has offered generous terms to Romania and I have no doubt they would be accepted with gratitude by the Romanian people if only the Romanian leaders had not a Prussian automatic pistol pressed closely against their breast or at the nape of their neck."

Ousts Premier Antonescu.

In desperation, Romania now evidently has chosen to defy the pistol, ousting her Dictator-Premier Ion Antonescu and his pro-German cabinet and, in King Michael's words, taking her fate in her own hands.

[The Moscow radio, in a broadcast beamed to Germany, rebroadcast the Romanian armistice proclamation without comment within 40 minutes after it was issued, but later general soviet broadcasts carried only the news item that Antonescu and his cabinet had fallen. A Swiss broadcast said Premier Antonescu had fled to Germany.]

The new Romanian cabinet, headed by Gen. Konstantin Satanescu, made a brisk show of the sudden turnover, announcing that all concentration camps were being closed and the inmates freed, and issuing amnesty decrees for political crimes since 1918 except in such cases as assassinations.

Pledges Democratic Rule.

The new premier issued a proclamation saying, "The dictatorial regime hitherto, by permanently violating the will of the country, has by its policy endangered Romania's existence. Today the dictatorship has been cast aside. The people reënter into their own rights. The regime which we shall follow will be a democratic one in which public freedom and the rights of citizens will be guaranteed and respected.

"Our withdrawal from the war that it must come to terms with the allies. It is believed Russia will require the use of the Bulgarian Black sea ports of Varna and Burgas as post-war bases.

Bulgar Peace Believed Near

[By Wireless to the New York Times and The Chicago Tribune.]

CAIRO, Egypt, Aug. 23.—The Bulgarian armistice parleys have made further positive progress and there is reason to believe the departure of Hitler's small Balkan satellite from the war is imminent.

The talks are taking place with allied representatives and directly with Russia, which is at peace with Bulgaria. Hitches still remain, but the combination of a new soviet offensive aimed into the Balkans thru Romania and mounting internal Bulgarian pressure on Premier Ivan Bagrianov is serving to accelerate the process.

The allies have told the Bulgarians that a necessary preliminary will be the evacuation of all seized areas in Yugoslavia and Greece.

The kremlin has advised Bulgaria

Slovakia Deciding

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP).—The Bratislava radio said tonight that the Slovak government "held a meeting and discussed urgent problems," and that important decisions were taken.

[Slovakia, formerly the eastern part of Czechoslovakia, is situated between Hungary and Poland on the southern slopes of the Carpathians.]

fought at the side of the tripartite [axis] powers and the cessation of hostilities against the soviet union are definitely intended to prevent certain and true national catastrophe. From today onward Romania considers the united nations as friendly nations.

"Recognition by the governments of Moscow, London, and Washington of the injustices to Romania by the Vienna award [of Transylvania to Hungary in 1940] opens the possibility for Romanian armies at the side of allied armies to liberate northern Transylvania from foreign occupation.

"Masters of Our Destiny."

"Henceforth we mean to be masters of our destiny."

What Romania would be able to do next depended in large measure on the German army in Romania, and the extent of that army's reaction depended on its ability to cope with the Russian offensive which still was rolling ahead.

The broadcasts announced appointment of a new army chief of staff, Gen. Gheorghe Mihail, and a new lord mayor of Bucharest, Brig Gen. Victor Dongorschi.

Popovici Heads Defense.

Foreign affairs—Grigore Niculescu-Buzesti.

National defense—Gen. Michael Popovici.

Interior—Gen. Aurel Aldea.

National economy and finance—Gen. Ion Potopeanu.

Labor and public health—Gen. Dr. Nicolae Marinescu.

Agriculture and domains—Dimitrie Decutescu.

National education—Gen. Ion Voiceanu.

The king's proclamation indicated that the Romanian army's fighting now would be primarily aimed at forcing the Hungarians out of Transylvania.

Prime Minister Churchill has been in Italy for more than a week and presumably had a hand in the events leading up to Romania's decision.

The Romanian army suffered heavily at Stalingrad in 1942 and again in the Crimea this spring, when the Germans were reported to have left several Romanian divisions unsupported in the siege of Sevastopol, where they were hammered to bits.

ALLIES FOLLOW CLOSE ON OUR HEELS: GERMANS

Of France, yesterday's broadcast Nazi war bulletin said:

"West of the lower Seine, the enemy in the Touques sector on both sides of Lisieux is following hard on the heels of our detaching troops. At Evreux and to the west, as well as between the Eure [river] and the Seine, our divisions are offering strong resistance to the enemy attacking with strong forces from the north. The enemy, after having suffered heavy losses, succeeded only in gaining insignificant ground.

"Our counter-attack against the enemy bridgehead north of Mantes threw the enemy farther back toward the river after heavy fighting.

"South of Paris, the enemy with strong forces attacked our advanced screening positions and pressed them back toward the Seine.

"Farther to the south, fighting is in progress on the Yonne river.

"German bombers and battle-planes with telling effect attacked enemy formations crossing the Seine north of Mantes. Several pontoon bridges and fully laden ferries were destroyed.

"In the waters north of Le Havre, German mine sweepers and submarine chasers sank three British E-boats and damaged three others.

"On the Isle de Cezembre off St. Malo, German naval batteries are still offering stubborn resistance to an attacking enemy destroyer formation. Patrol vessels of the German navy downed seven enemy bombers over the French Atlantic coast. Two German vessels were sunk by bomb hits.

"V-1 retaliation fire is continued on London."

Russians Free Paris, but It's in Bessarabia

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—The Russians today liberated Paris—A Bessarabian village midway between the Prut river and the Black sea in Romania, it was announced in the Soviet war bulletin broadcast from Moscow.

CAPITAL GREETS ROMANIA NEWS WITH SURPRISE

Believe Terms Were Given in Spring.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23 (AP).—The Bucharest announcement that allied peace terms have been accepted was met with some surprise in Washington, where officials said they knew of no negotiations with Romania.

Senators were reluctant to discuss the report, pending disclosure of more information, particularly on peace terms. There was no immediate comment from the White House or state department.

Belated Acceptance.

Last spring Prince Barbu Stirbey of Romania went to Cairo and received Russian peace terms approved by the United States and Great Britain, but his government did nothing about it. King Michael's announcement was believed to be a belated acceptance of last spring's unconditional surrender dictate.

While it is not known how many Germans are in Romania, Bucharest's announcement indicated a belief that Germany could not pour in any additional troops to pull Romania back into the war.

May Speed Up Bulgaria.

The announcement is expected to speed Bulgaria's haste to get out of the war. Bulgaria has made several announcements of her anxiety to make peace with the United States and Great Britain, but negotiations have not reached a conclusive stage.

PERSHING HAILS VETERANS' SONS WHO FREE PARIS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23 (AP).—Gen. John J. Pershing today described the liberation of Paris as "a great step forward along the road to Berlin." His statement said:

"Over four years ago, when the Germans took Paris, my sorrow was beyond words. Paris, to me, was and is the heart of France. Today, Paris is free; and the sons of the Americans who fought to preserve the freedom of Paris in 1917 and 1918 have had a permanent role in the liberation of 1944. By their coöperation with their British, Canadian, and French allies these American soldiers of 1944 have upheld the high military traditions of the United States army."

'WE'LL GIVE UP LAND, BUT WAR'S FAR FROM END,' GERMANS TOLD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—While the entire German defense of France seemingly has collapsed, the Germans still are trying to persuade their people that the war is far from over. "Operational reasons will make giving up territories unavoidable in German counter-measures," the German overseas news agency said today.

"Operations in France now will more and more assume the character of a 'battle of movement' and the German high command at present is concentrating all its forces for a decisive move.

"In Brittany the garrisons at Brest, St. Nazaire, and Lorient continue to hold out. It may, however, be assumed from strong enemy movements in his rear and the bringing up of further war materials that large scale attacks against Brest will be launched soon."

MANIU BACK IN CABINET AFTER RIFT WITH CAROL

Juliu Maniu, 71, hardy Transylvania village lawyer, peasant leader and former premier who has been recalled into Romania's new cabinet, has been the nation's strongest opponent of the Nazis and of Premier Antonescu's policies.

Maniu, at one time a university professor, organized the National Peasant party and was prime minister from 1928 to 1930, when he brought the exiled King Carol back to the throne. He thought Carol would stabilize the country. Maniu resigned because he could not effect a reconciliation between Carol and Queen Helene.

Maniu was sworn in again as head of a new cabinet before Carol in October, 1932, but he resigned in January, 1933. It was reported he left public life because he and Carol could not compose their differences, one of which involved red haired Magda Lupescu, Carol's sweetheart.

'18 Truce Signed 43 Days After First Satellite Quit

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Forty-three days elapsed in World War I. between the time the first German satellite ceased fighting and the date of Germany's signing of an armistice.

In 1918 Bulgaria was first to drop out, signing an armistice with the allies on Sept. 29.

On Oct. 30, Turkey withdrew from the war. Austria followed Nov. 4.

'FAT CAT OF THE BALKANS' FINDS WAR ONLY GRIEF

Romania Cut Up by Hitler in 1940.

Romania, some times known as the "Fat Cat of the Balkans," found nothing but grief in a war into which she was drawn because domestic instability made it impossible for her to resist.

Long before the outbreak of hostilities, a Romanian fascist party, which developed into the green shirted Iron Guard, was established. The organization gained strength rapidly despite early proscriptions until it became an important factor in the government.

But Romania's real difficulties began, in the classical pattern, when all constitutional freedoms were suspended by King Carol in 1938. He suspended elections, dismissed the cabinet and established a personal dictatorship. Later in the same year, Carol founded the Front of National Renaissance as an all-Romanian party to support his dictatorship.

Coveted for Oil, Wheat.

Romania found herself in a most difficult situation, faced by the revisionist claims of Hungary, Bulgaria and the soviet union for Romanian territory, and also coveted by Germany because of her oil and wheat.

Even before she actively entered the war, Romania began to lose territory. In June of 1940, the soviet union occupied Bessarabia and northern Bucovina. Romania accepted the occupation and renounced a treaty with Great Britain under which Britain and France guaranteed Romania's territorial integrity in the event of aggression.

German aviation and troops began to infiltrate into the country, ostensibly for the protection of Romanian oil fields, notably those at Ploesti which later formed an important source of supply to the German war machine until repeated bombings by American planes reduced the output an estimated 90 per cent.

Loses Transylvania.

On Aug. 30, 1940, Germany and Italy compelled Romania to cede Transylvania to Hungary as the price of Hungary's support of the axis.

The discontent engendered by this loss compelled King Carol to abdicate early in September. With his friend, Mme. Lupescu, he sought refuge in Mexico, leaving the throne to 19 year old Crown Prince Michael.

Michael, however, was shorn of all influence. The real power lay with Gen. Ion Antonescu. And on Sept. 6, by the treaty of Craiova, Romania ceded to Bulgaria the southern Dobruja, which it had gained in 1913. Romania had lost 4,000,000 subjects to the soviet union, 2,400,000 to Hungary and about 350,000 to Bulgaria.

The Iron Guard began a reign of terror. Former ministers, generals and high officials were assassinated. Romania joined the axis officially and a German military mission was established in the country. The whole economic life of the country was placed under military dictatorship. The German minister to Romania, Baron Manfred von Killinger, became the dominating influence.

Armies Go on March.

The British government severed all ties with the country the following February.

In June of 1941, Gen. Antonescu sent Romania's army against soviet Russia as a full fledged ally of Germany, and within 30 days had reoccupied Bessarabia and Bucovina.

But when, in December of 1942, Field Marshal Gen. Walther von Brauchitsch, German commander in chief, demanded that Romania furnish five more divisions for the Russian front, Antonescu protested because he said he feared an adverse effect on public opinion. By this time, Romanian losses were reported at more than 150,000 killed.

The tide of battle turned. And early this year surging Russian armies were rolling thru Bessaradia and into Romania itself. American planes were shuttle-bombing Bucharest, the capital. After the first raid on the Ploesti refineries, others followed until Romania, so far from being able to supply Germany with high octane gas, was compelled to draw on Germany for fuel to keep her own planes in the air.

Hull Warns Michael.

Last January, British parachutists landed in Romania with documents to show Rumanians that Germany had offered Russia peace terms, including Romanian territory up to the Siretu river. In March Prince Barbu Stirbey, former Romanian premier, was on his way to Cairo seeking allied peace terms.

In April, Secretary of State Hull advised Romania to get out of the war. The following month, Antonescu warned Hitler that if more German reënforcements were not forthcoming Romania would consider herself free to negotiate a separate armistice with the allies. This followed a two day conference between Antonescu and Hitler in Berlin.

Thus conditions were ripe for the fall of the Antonescu government, too blackly tarred with the brush of axis coöperation to be longer acceptable to a peace hungry Romania.

FRENCH REGIME TAKES CONTROL OF PARIS TODAY

Koenig and De Gaulle May Meet in City.

ately 3,000 tons of food and 3,000 tons of coal. After that there must be huge and steady supply.

Take Over City Today.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP).—French patriot forces battling in the streets as their forefathers did in 1789 have liberated Paris, historic symbol of freedom, bringing to an end four years and two months of Nazi bondage, Gen. de Gaulle's headquarters announced today.

With a great force of American troops half way around the capital, 50,000 armed French patriots, aided by several hundred thousand citizens who wielded what arms they could find, defeated the Nazi occupation forces in a four day battle ending last night.

The patriots occupied all public buildings and arrested all Vichy government representatives who did not flee, said a formal announcement signed by Lt. Gen. Joseph Pierre Koenig, commander of the French forces of the interior and newly named military governor of Paris under Gen. de Gaulle.

Goes to Paris Today.

Gen. Koenig was expected to go to Paris tomorrow with his entire London staff, and he may join Gen. de Gaulle there, but it was pointed out at Gen. Koenig's headquarters that no attempt would be made to move a full civilian governmental organization into Paris until the Germans are cleared out of the entire area.

De Gaulle is expected to bring the French Committee of National Liberation from Algiers to Paris as soon as military and economic conditions permit.

[Gen. de Gaulle, en route to Paris, was reported by NBC to have arrived at Laval, 145 miles southwest of the French capital, where he addressed several thousand French men and women gathered in front of the city hall. Herbert Clark, Blue network correspondent, radioed from somewhere in France last night that 20,000 German troops had been or were being evacuated from Paris. The Germans did not immediately acknowledge any change in the status of Paris. A DNB broadcast said "the situation in Paris has calmed down as the result of strict measures, but it cannot be said whether terrorist and irresponsible elements will not provoke unrest shortly."]

The fact that the liberation of Paris was accomplished by the French, and announced by them rather than by allied supreme headquarters, may have been part of allied strategy to bolster French confidence and emphasize to the world the resurgence of France.

An agreement which was to have been signed today between the British and the French for governing liberated France may now be signed in Paris. A parallel agreement between the United States and the De Gaulle committee is expected also to be signed in the French capital, with Gen. Eisenhower representing the Americans.

Island Made a Bastion.

Gen. Koenig's announcement said the Germans were "defeated everywhere" in the French capital after street battles which began with a police strike and an order from the French Committee of National Liberation for a general insurrection.

Then, from Saturday thru Tuesday, there came a mob battle surpassing anything Paris has known since the Battle of the Bastille. The core of the resistance was the Ile de la Cite [the island in the center of the Seine in the heart of Paris], which was turned into "a fortress against which the German attacks broke," Gen. Koenig's announcement said.

A railway strike which tied up traffic in the whole Paris area helped, along with the police strike, in clearing the way for the French to wrest control of the city. So determined were the employes to stop traffic that some of them lay full length across the rails.

People Machine Gunned.

Crack SS. Elite Guard troops formed part of the Paris garrison, and these placed machine guns at strategic intersections in a futile attempt to break up the massing of crowds.

As the outbreak started people were machine gunned in the Boulevard Bonne Nouvelle, the Rue du Faubourg, Rue St. Denis, and the Rue de Rivoli.

There was no word of the fate of the German force which the French caught in Paris, and it was expected to be several days before any estimate is made of the number killed and captured. The Germans had fled Paris by the thousands as the American armored pincers closed around the capital. Allied airmen reported roads to the east jammed with Germans.

Today Paris, the first conquered allied capital to be liberated, lived on enthusiasm, but French sources emphasized that tomorrow she will again be a city of increasing hunger. The government broadcast a promise to do all possible to alleviate any suffering, but pointed out that several days must pass before effective help arrives.

Food Control Promised.

Fed by the Germans on the produce of Normandy, Paris has been on tight rations ever since the invasion cut that supply.

The liberation of Paris ended a period of Nazi bondage begun June 14, 1940, when the German army marched thru the capital's famed boulevards in triumph. With France's capitulation a few days later, Paris entered a period of bewildered darkness.

Then the French resistance movement began to grow, and from 1941 on German occupation troops were frequently found slain in the streets, or were killed in bomb explosions.

With the entry of the United States in the war, with the strengthening of the organization of the patriot armies, and with the turn of the tide of war against Germany, Frenchmen in the capital began looking forward with lighter hearts toward the new day of liberty, finally announced today.

REPORT MAQUIS FREE PERPIGNAN AND LYON AREA OF GERMANS

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP).—French resistance forces [Maquis] were reported to have ripped the entire Lyon region and the city of Perpignan from the grip of Nazi occupying forces today in fighting that raged along the entire Spanish frontier area and against German pockets thruout the whole of resurgent France.

A recapitulation showed that the allied armies and French Forces of the Interior had liberated roughly one third of France—212,569 square miles—as the last vestige of the Vichy government of Pierre Laval disappeared as a political force.

Radio France at Algiers reported the liberation of the Lyon region and said that three allied planes had landed at Perpignan to establish contact with the FFI.

With the FFI striking well inside the German lines a review of their work shows they have liberated 56,000 square miles outside the range of the major fronts and have freed 14 departments.

SONS OF FRANCE LIFT HER PRIDE FROM THE DUST

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ON THE ROAD TO TOULON, Aug. 23.—Resurgent France's pride was illustrated for me today at a wayside cafe. It was pride in the deeds of France's brave Maquis.

At a table in front of the cafe, a weeping old Frenchman was drinking a toast in wine to the Maquis.

"They are such brave men," he said. "They are 'soldats formidables.' They are our pride for they have kept the real France alive thru these awful years."

And this old man told me again of some of the things the Maquis have done. As he talked his eyes dried and there was a light of battle rekindled in them. He was at Verdun in the last war.

Tells Deeds of Maquis.

He told how the Maquis sabotaged enemy installations—how they half emptied gasoline cans and refilled them with water to bring grief to the wehrmacht's vehicles on the road. He told of daring young Frenchman stealing into German camps at night and killing soldiers from beyond the Rhine.

Another old man came bicycling up. He was the village priest. He took aside my drinking companion and spoke softly to him. The latter returned, shook my hand and started up the road.

"I will tell you of one of the young men of our village," the cure said to me.

"He Was His Son."

"He joined the Maquis and was one of the bravest of these brave. Then one day the Germans found him out and took him away. Days later we came across what was left of him. He had been mutilated and his body wasn't nice to see. I am a man of God and I tell my people revenge is unholy but do you wonder that German prisoners beg our regular soldiers not to turn them over to the Maquis?"

The cure took me to the road and pointed. I could see the old man I had drunk with plodding down the dusty way under the calm French sunlight.

"The young man I told you of," the cure said softly, "he was that old man's son."

FRENCH FLAGS RAISED IN AMERICAN CITIES WHEN PARIS IS REWON

[BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

The French tricolor and the cross of Lorraine appeared on flagpoles from coast to coast yesterday when America learned Paris had been freed after four years of Nazi occupation.

In New York the largest celebration of all was held in Rockefeller Plaza, where 20,000 gathered to witness a program sponsored by France Forever, the organization affiliated with the French committee of national liberation.

French sailors and girls marched arm in arm thru the historic common in Boston and a formal celebration was planned for today.

The French flag, by order of Mayor A. P. Kaufman, will replace the city flag for a week at the St. Louis soldiers' memorial. A special mass of thanksgiving will be said today at the Kansas City convent of Notre Dame, which has not heard from its mother house in Paris in four years.

16,000 Flown to France; 66,000 Wounded Fly Out

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP).—Since D-day, aircraft of the combined air transport operations room [CATOR] have flown more than 15,500 tons of supplies from England to allied units in France, ferried more than 16,000 soldiers to the battle area and up to Aug. 19 had evacuated more than 66,000 wounded, it was announced tonight.

35 CHILDREN DIE AS FIERY BOMBER FALLS ON SCHOOL

American Plane Kills 19 Others in Britain.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP).—Fifty-four persons, including 35 children under 5, were killed today when a flaming American bomber plunged into a church school infants' department in the Lancashire village of Freckleton, near Liverpool.

Eight American soldiers were among those killed. They included three members of the plane's crew. The death toll was expected to reach 75 in Britain's worst accident of the kind.

Snack Bar Also Hit.

The plane smashed thru the top of the school where 41 children under 5, many of them refugees from robot bomb attacks, were assembled. It careened across the street and crashed into a snack bar where several dozen soldiers and a staff of six women were gathered. It was feared 30 or 40 persons may have been trapped in the ruins.

The flames spread swiftly thru the school, the snack bar, and several buildings. Fire brigades from neighboring districts brought the fires under control and several injured infants were saved. All 140 in another group of children in the school escaped serious injury.

The United States strategic air force announced that the bomber, a Liberator, crashed after it was caught in a sudden storm. The pilot was among the three crewmen killed. Other members of the crew were injured.

Yanks Help in Rescue.

"There was a great crack, the windows caved in, and children all over the school were knocked over," said F. A. Billington, the headmaster. "The flames spread rapidly everywhere."

American soldiers in the village joined in rescue work, comforted frightened children with candy, and shed their coats to provide coverings for others.

"The Americans were really splendid," said one mother. "After the crash they kept the children quiet by playing games and joking with them, and they did splendid rescue work."

YANKEE RAIDERS ATTACK VIENNA BASES 2D DAY

ROME, Aug. 23 (AP).—Several hundred American heavy bombers and fighters fought thru large forces of Nazi interceptors today and bombed military installations in the Vienna area of Austria for the second straight day. Medium bombers attacked rail bridges in southern France near Lyon.

Particularly heavy opposition was encountered at the Markersdorf airdrome, 35 miles west of Vienna, which Liberators bombed. Several Nazis were destroyed. The German radio said the aircraft center of Weiner Neustadt also was attacked. Liberators also bombed Po river railway bridges at Ferrarra.

The flight to Lyon was the deepest penetration of southern France yet for the American Mitchells based in Italy.

Maj. Herschel H. Green of Mayfield, Ky., a Mustang pilot, shot down his 18th plane today to become undisputed top American ace in the Mediterranean theater.

BURGLARS' LOOT TOTALS $100.

Charles Crane, 7223 S. Paulina st., reported to police yesterday that burglars who broke into his home stole two watches, a radio, an alarm clock and a billfold, all valued at $100.

ONE FOOT GONE, BOMBER PILOT SAVES HIS CREW

A BOMBER BASE IN ENGLAND, Aug. 23 (AP).—Sticking to his controls 15 minutes after his left foot had been blown off by flak, a courageous pilot saved his crew by pulling their crippled Flying Fortress out of a 15,000 foot dive during the June 18 raid on Hamburg, Germany.

The pilot, Lt. Charles Hodges of Sweetwater, Tex., has been recommended for a high decoration. The co-pilot landed the bomber safely at an R. A. F. base, tho the instruments in the cockpit had been wrecked.

FLYING BOMBS TRAP AND KILL MANY IN LONDON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—The Germans intensified their flying bomb attacks on southern England and the London area today. Altho many were reported shot down over the channel, several deaths were caused.

Casualties included women and children who had declined to take advantage of government evacuation facilities. In one district an American officer was killed. In another district 12 persons were injured. Other victims included the wife and baby of a soldier now overseas.

When a bomb fell in a suburban street, Eddie Hall, a one eyed merchant seaman pensioner, answered a trapped woman's call for help. Tho almost blind, Hall probed thru the dust and darkness to a pile of wreckage, burrowed under the heap, and saved a soldier's wife and five young children. In an adjoining house he extricated a man and his wife. When a robot hit a wood shop, many trapped persons were burned.

FIND STOLEN CAR, MINUS CARGO.

BRITISH GUARDS TOLD GERMANS MAY YET INVADE

BY WILLIAM STRAND.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 23.—Lt. Gen. Edmond Schreiber, commander in chief of the British home guard, southeastern command, which has practiced, maneuvered, and waited vainly since 1940 for signs of a German invasion horde, today issued an order of the day in which he said that the danger to the British Isles is not ended and that services of the home guard are still required.

"I promise there will be no delay in letting the home guard know when they are no longer required, but until then, carry on," Gen. Schreiber told his men.

Strikes at Churchill.

The London Daily Mail retorted in an editorial, however, that the refusal of Prime Minister Churchill to demobilize the guards represents an "outstanding example of the desire for controling power irrespective of all circumstances, which is typical of the official burocratic military mind."

The newspaper warned that the refusal to act "needs to be seriously considered at once for unless this sort of autocracy is broken, it will persist into the peace with still more intolerable results."

"A Gross Waste."

There are about 2,000,000 men in the guards and it is the contention of those arguing for at least a partial demobilization that the hour they were needed has passed. The Daily Mail said:

"To keep all these men constantly parading and to compel them to take repeated training courses in the practice of arms in which they are already proficient is ridiculous discipline, a gross waste of ability, and a totally unnecessary imposition on the patriotic response of willing men."

NAZI FORTRESS NEAR NIS SEIZED BY TITO FORCES

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP).—Marshal Tito's Yugoslav Partisans today announced capture of the German stronghold of Lebani, 25 miles south of Nis, junction on the Belgrade-Sofia rail line. Tito's broadcast war report said the enemy garrison was wiped out with heavy losses and 100 truck loads of war material were captured.

POLAND READY TO REVAMP RULE TO PLEASE REDS

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP).—Seeking accord with Soviet Russia and unity among factions at home, Poland's exiled government in London, perhaps under a new president, will reshuffle and expand its cabinet to include representatives of the underground army as well as the rival national liberation committee, it was disclosed today.

A shift in presidents—with Thomasz Arciszewski succeeding Wladyslaw Raczkiewicz—has been under consideration. This was disclosed as the cabinet forwarded to leaders of the resistance movement in Poland for their approval a copy of a broad policy which it hopes will stabilize the situation.

What Yanks Overseas Think of Red Cross

The Tribune company gave $50,000 to the Red Cross in the campaign last spring and at that time Col. Robert R. McCormick, editor and publisher of The Chicago Tribune, cabled Tribune war correspondents to consider themselves representatives of all Red Cross donors and "thru The Tribune report to them frankly and objectively on the organization's activities." Reports have been received from correspondents in England, France, and the Southwest Pacific and are presented herewith.

LONDON, Aug. 23.—American doughboys here approve heartily of the recreation facilities and other services provided by the American Red Cross. Most of all, an informal poll shows, they seem to like the Red Cross snack counter, where they can get sandwiches and coffee prepared the way they are used to it. This is understandable to any one who has tasted what comes out when the bean and water are mixed in an ordinary British restaurant.

Besides the food, which is sold at very low prices, there are Red Cross clubs with game rooms, lounges, and writing rooms everywhere on the island. Movies and other entertainment are provided regularly.

"It was different a couple of years ago," said Sgt. Alfred Uchman, 10457 Torrence av., Chicago. "When we landed the Red Cross was opening clubs fast, but there weren't many. G. I.'s wandered about with no place to go and no place to spend the night when they had leave. We can really appreciate the way things are now."

Navy Specialist Richard Guenberg, 2929 N. Luna av., Chicago, said: "The Red Cross serves meals at all hours. That is important to us, particularly in blackouts, when restaurants are closed."

Sgt. Carl Stammer, Indianapolis, Ind., a gunner on a Liberator bomber, said: "Red Cross food tastes good when you're back with your feet on the ground again."

SOMEWHERE IN NEW GUINEA, Aug. 23.—At least two-thirds of the G. I.'s who have spent all their overseas time in New Guinea think the Red Cross is money wasted. They say the Red Cross services in forward areas and even in most areas which are relatively to the rear are insignificant and limited to handing out token supplies of cookies and coffee.

At hospitals the principal Red Cross service is handing out stationery, toilet articles, candy, and cigarets which, until the Red Cross arrives, are supplied by the regular army.

Red Cross canteens dispensing coffee, doughnuts, and sometimes sandwiches at meal time are found for the most part only at airports. G. I.'s report further that most of the few clubs established by the Red Cross in New Guinea are at air force camps, tho nearly every air squadron has its own officers' and enlisted men's clubs.

G. I.'s often express resentment over the salaries paid to Red Cross girls and men. They say the girls get two and three times the fighting man's pay and this irks them.

From the G. I.'s in Australia or those going south on leave there is no complaint. In leave areas the Red Cross is highly praised for the large number of hostels, camps, clubs, and excursions the Red Cross operates. While on leave the G. I.'s swear by the Red Cross.

U. S. 1ST ARMY HDQ. IN FRANCE, Aug. 23.—American G. I.'s, like the soldiers of every land, grumble about most everything, even in victory. But the soldier is a rarity who hasn't a good word for Red Cross men and women.

Red Cross men serve far forward, enduring the same hardships as combat fighters. When soldiers in rear areas are served doughnuts from clubmobiles or see movies put on by mobile cinemobiles, they get even a greater thrill from talking with Red Cross girls.

"After you've lived with death for so many days," said one soldier, "and have known only fighting, dirt, and having your pals killed, it's terrific to see an American girl again."

Red Cross girls' clubmobiles are not permitted to go as far forward as Red Cross jeeps. One outfit, however, tries to get its vehicles within 3,000 yards of the front.

Red Cross women have set up service clubs in many rear areas. There they not only distribute food and coffee and arrange writing rooms, but often are able to stage a dance and act as partners for the G. I.'s.

Up front in their jeeps, Red Cross men have a knack of finding cigarets just when some tired G. I. needs them most. They lend a sympathetic and helpful ear also to troopers' troubles.

ARMY TO OPEN 2 RESORT CENTERS FOR VETS TODAY

Yanks to Be Prepared for Duty in U.S.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—Overseas veterans of the army ground and service forces will begin moving into resort hotels tomorrow at the new Miami Beach, Fla., and Santa Barbara, Cal., redistribution stations. The two are the first of five stations to be opened to reorient, reclassify, and reassign veterans returning for duty within the United States.

The war department announced resort facilities also have been leased in Asheville, N. C., Hot Springs, Ark., and Lake Placid, N. Y.

The Asheville and Hot Springs stations will receive their first veterans Sept. 5, and the Lake Placid center will be opened Sept. 8. The stations are expected to be in full operation by Oct. 1.

Under Rotation Program.

Most of the troops who go thru the stations will be officers, enlisted men, and WACs returning to this country under the army's rotation program. Recovered battle casualties and other personnel also will be included.

The war department said the primary purpose of the stations is to insure physical and mental health for returned veterans and to determine their occupational abilities so they may perform at peak efficiency new army assignments in the United States.

This is to be carried out, the announcement said, thru painstaking physical and mental reconditioning, occupational reclassification, orientation, and reindoctrination, and reassignment to take the fullest advantage of combat experience.

Wives May Go Along.

Full hotel facilities will be extended to the veterans, and the processing will be carried out in an environment "characterized by mental and physical relaxation and comfort," the war department said.

Wives will be permitted to accompany their husbands to the stations. Those having wives with them will be required to pay housing and food expenses on a cost basis.

The stations at Lake Placid and Asheville will serve the northeastern United States. Miami Beach will serve the east central and southeast sections, Hot Springs the west central states, and Santa Barbara the west and southwest.

Three Ordered Arrested for False Draft Pleas

United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker issued warrants yesterday for the arrest of two men, about 20 years old, and the uncle of one of them on charges of supplying false information when asking for selective service deferments. Both young men, it was reported, had told draft officials that for five years they had been working in the uncle's factory, while an investigation showed they had been in school most of that time.

BATAAN'S FALL BITTEREST NEWS FOR MacARTHUR

He Longed to Return, but Bigger Job Faced Him.

(Gen. MacArthur's strategy at the opening of the New Guinea campaign—his plan to seize Milne bay and then make a brilliant end run several hundred miles up the coast—is described here. This is another article in a series condensed from the forthcoming book, "MacArthur and the War Against Japan."

BY FRAZIER HUNT.

[Copyright: 1944: By Chas. Scribner's Sons.]

MacArthur had few arms, few planes, few troops, but he had the will to win. Now he had chosen his battlefield—New Guinea.

But he was still a man without a command, without orders, without a directive. It was embarrassing, to say the least. He could not make his final arrangements with the Australians, or the Dutch, or even with the United States forces that were here. He wired Washington over and over to have such vital matters as the limits of his theater cleared up. Finally on April 18, after he had been in the country a full month plus a day, his directive arrived.

His Operations Limited.

In place of New Zealand, New Caledonia, and the eastern portions of the Solomons being included in his theater, he was to be limited on the east to the 160th meridian and on the other side to west of the 105th meridian. Wavell's command, the old ABDA area, which would have been the logical assignment, now had its eastern and western thirds shorn away and MacArthur was left only the central sector. Most of the parts outside of Australia were in enemy possession.

But MacArthur now had his orders, and he would defend Australia—and defend it in the precipitous jungle reaches of the Owen Stanley range in New Guinea. To fail would mean that the Japanese could push on southward and then infiltrate in force into the rich Australian coastal cities when and how they wished.

By the time MacArthur had set up headquarters in Melbourne, bad news was beginning to come from the Philippines. Food was low, morale was dropping. The question of surrender was raised from Washington. What were MacArthur's views on the subject? He replied that he was utterly opposed to surrender and asked that he be permitted to return at once to the Philippines and personally attempt a break-thru. He felt sure he could fly back safely.

Had Mapped Break-Thru.

During moments of discouragement, long before he had been ordered by the President to Australia, he had worked out in detail the possibility of a last desperate venture to break from the trap of Bataan. By a sudden enveloping movement on the right and then a change of direction to the left, with a simultaneous drive from the left itself, he would attempt to overwhelm the enemy at Olongapo base on Subic bay, seize his transports and attempt to reach Mindanao by sea and join Gen. Sharp. Other elements would rapidly disintegrate into the Zambales mountains of Luzon for guerrilla warfare.

Washington liked the plan but felt he should not return to put it into effect.

There was nothing MacArthur could do now.

Bataan surrendered within the week. To MacArthur it was a taste like unto death. But he maintained then, and has maintained ever since, a complete reserve with reference to it.

Now came the Coral sea fight that stretched from May 4 to 8. It was the first great naval battle in history where no surface ship even saw an enemy ship, and no ship's horizontal gun was fired. It was fought between carrier based planes—a deadly battle of the skies. The Japanese plan to land troops by sea at Port Moresby was frustrated.

Corregidor Final Blow.

It was a victory that eased a little of the heartache that was saddening MacArthur and those about him. On May 7 word came that Corregidor had fallen. It was a crushing blow to MacArthur.

On April 6 the 41st United States infantry division had arrived in Adelaide, and on May 14 the 32d United States division landed. Brigades of the three veteran Australian divisions from the middle east were beginning to come home—but compared to the forces of the enemy it was still only a shoestring force. It was unbalanced at best, and short of service troops, water transport, and air units.

The trickle of supplies from America was now a little wider, but the Southwest Pacific was still less than a 10 per cent war—and actually the supplies sent to MacArthur were no more than 10 per cent of those sent to North Africa alone. It was to remain that for the next two years of peril and hardship. Never was this great and vital Southwest Pacific theater to receive as much as 10 per cent of America's total war output.

Stop Japs—Then Hit Back.

Briefly stated, MacArthur's fundamental problem was to stop the advance of the Japanese that threatened New Guinea, gather such forces as he could and then strike back. To defend Australia successfully he must fight the attackers in Guinea.

He already had one important toehold—Port Moresby—midway up on the southern shore of the tail of this vast weird shaped island. It is a wild, forbidding land, a land where thousands of square miles have never felt the tread of white men; an ominous land of jungle and mountains, forests, and fever swamps.

To reach the eastern shore of the Guinea tail allied troops and supplies would have to move across the high passes of the mountains that swung down thru the center of the peninsula like a gigantic spinal column.

The Japanese were already securely planted on the eastern shore at both Lae and Salamaua. The mountains apparently protected Moresby from any Japanese attack from there. Crossing the high range was a mud track that passed over the hump leading by the native village of Kokoda—which gave its name to this trail.

Barrier to Allies, Too.

But this range apparently was not only a barrier against Japanese attack from the east Guinea coast, but as well a barrier to allied advance. MacArthur figured that if he could grab the tiny native village of Milne Bay, at the extreme southwestern tip of the Guinea tail, quickly build air strips and develop a port there, he then could move by sea and air up the rugged eastern shore line—and thus obviate the need of going directly over the great Owen Stanley range.

By late July, he had built air fields and bomber strips at Moresby, and he could now move stealthily some 250 miles on southeast, down the west Guinea coast to Milne Bay. From here he anticipated that he could make an end run, a couple of hundred miles on up the east Guinea coast to the string of tiny native villages called Buna, Sanananda, and Gona. Once these were in his hands, he could build advance air fields, bring in his fighters, and eventually his bombers, secure air control—and the lower Papuan quarter of New Guinea would be his.

Even Time Against Him.

But he had neither the men nor the equipment, neither the ships nor the amphibious vessels to do the job. He was driving the few people and machines he had as hard as they could be driven. Even time was against him.

On July 22 black news came: Buna and Gona had that day been occupied by the Japanese. MacArthur's tiny air force had failed to stop the Japanese convoy. The optimistic plan he had made to push up the eastern coast of Guinea had disappeared in the mists and rain of the jungle shore. But the key to New Guinea was still Milne Bay—and the key was his.

LIFTING OF AUSSIE BAN ON TRIBUNE EDITION SIGHTED

SYDNEY, Australia, Aug. 23 [Reuter].—The Canberra correspondent of the Sydney Sun reports that the commonwealth government will announce shortly that permission will be granted to American newspapers to print copies of overseas editions for sale to United States troops in the South Pacific area.

CHUNGKING, China, Aug. 23 (AP).—Chinese troops have seized a small town 18 miles south of Hengyang, and northwest of the city have halted twin enemy columns attempting to outflank their positions in the area of the fallen Canton-Hankow rail junction, the high command announced tonight.

BOMBS SET BIG FIRES IN TENTH RAID ON DAVAO

GENERAL HDQ., SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Aug. 24 [Thursday]—(AP).—Striking into the southern Philippines for the 10th time in two weeks, United States navy Liberators touched off towering fires at Davao and sank a small Japanese freighter northeast of Mindanao, headquarters reported today.

Five other enemy vessels, one a destroyer tender, were hit in raids ranging from Celebes, south of Mindanao, to Palau in the Caroline Islands north of New Guinea.

Air patrols bombed Palau Monday night, setting fires and explosions, and returned Tuesday to attack the destroyer tender and leave it dead in the water. Two enemy fighters ineffectively attempted interception, the ony aerial interference reported in the raids listed today.

Nimitz Sinks 2 Ships.

PACIFIC FLEET HDQ., Pearl Harbor, Aug. 23 (AP).—Sinking of two cargo ships, with a third set afire, near Chichi Island in the Bonin Islands by navy search Liberators was announced today by Adm. Chester W. Nimitz.

The raid on the convoy, made up of the three cargo ships and two destroyers, occurred Tuesday in an area a little over 600 miles south of Tokyo. One of the two attacking Liberators was lost.

Planes Attack Yap.

The announcement said the planes made their attack at low level.

The day before, 7th army air force Liberators attacked Yap, in the Carolines, in daylight, hitting bivouacs and air field installations. The attackers encountered meager anti-aircraft opposition over the Yap air base which guards the central approaches to the Philippines.

N. Y. LABOR UNIT INDORSES F. D. R.; DEWEY LAUDED

Syracuse, N. Y., Aug. 23 [Special].—A resolution indorsing the 4th term candidacy of President Roosevelt was revised on the floor of the New York Federation of Labor state convention here today to remove a phrase implying that Gov. Dewey is an "enemy of labor."

As offered to the convention, the resolution stated that the Roosevelt indorsement was in accord with the federation's nonpartisan political policy of "supporting its friends and defeating its enemies." The words, "defeating its enemies," were stricken after several speakers attacked them as unfair to Dewey, whose labor record they described as good.

During the debate, Charles Hansen of New York, president of the state council of carpenters, praised Dewey's labor record and exclaimed, "God help us if the President continues forever in this office." John E. McGarry, secretary of the resolutions committee, read the resolution to the convention and then took the floor to speak against it.

After the deletion was agreed upon, the indorsement was voted with a scattering of opposition.

MORE SENATORS ASK TRIALS FOR PEARL HARBOR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—Two senators joined today in the congressional demand that the full story of the American catastrophe at Pearl Harbor be told at once.

Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.] announced that he will shortly introduce a resolution in the senate for a complete investigation of the circumstances surrounding the attack on Pearl Harbor, despite the fact that congress has previously sanctioned postponement of the court-martial trial of the two Pearl Harbor commanders, Rear Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Maj. Gen. Walter C. Short.

Sen. Brewster [R., Me.] supported Ferguson, asserting that Kimmel and Short have been made the "goats" without an opportunity to defend themselves.

Ferguson's statement followed Kimmel's charge that Sen. Truman [D., Mo.] the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee, had made false statements concerning Kimmel's conduct in a magazine article.

DEWEY PICTURE HIDDEN TO BAR COUP BY G. O. P.

Director of Service Center Keeps It.

Mayor Kelly's man in charge of the Chicago service men's centers refused yesterday to relinquish a 7 by 8 feet portrait of Gov. Dewey, Republican nominee for President, which Kelly will not permit to be displayed alongside a huge picture of President Roosevelt in the center at 430 S. Michigan av.

The Dewey portrait has been languishing in a hiding place at the center since it was presented last month by George M. Fisher, chairman of the Cook county Republican central committee. Because the portrait had not been up, Fisher decided to place it on display at a prominent downtown location.

G. O. P. Plan Goes Awry.

Some of the G. O. P. leaders favored the idea of a placard explaining the situation. They had in mind a brief text stating in effect: "This is the picture of the man who was the original national chairman of the United Service organizations that raised 15 million dollars for service men's centers. Mayor Kelly would not permit it to be hung with that of his opponent for President."

The plan came to naught. Fisher telephoned Daniel L. Flaherty, director of the centers, who had echoed Mayor Kelly in saying Dewey's portrait could not be put up because he is not President.

Picture Kept as Gift.

"My understanding is that the picture was a gift to the center," Flaherty countered. "We will keep it right here."

Confirming this to a reporter, Flaherty said Dewey's portrait will be used "if he becomes President." He said it still is in a safe place somewhere on the premises.

John F. Tyrrell, Republican state chairman, reiterated that the fate of the Dewey portrait shows that New Dealers are determined to use every war time activity to help put across the fourth term.

"Republicans and Democrats alike support the service men's centers, but that is where nonpartisanship ends," Tyrrell said. "Only Roosevelt may smile down from his portrait in the mess hall where free food and drink are consumed. Only Kelly's name appears on the electric sign boards at the centers.

Says Mayor's Getting Glory.

"Now we have the working out of the scheme. Formerly Kelly was coy about his dominance of the Democratic machine. But in the hundreds of thousands of letters the Democrats are sending to soldiers urging them to vote, for the first time we find Kelly's name in solitary grandeur at top and bottom. He is cashing in for the New Deal at the expense of the patriotic citizens who keep the service men's centers going."

TEXAN DIES ABOARD TRAIN.

Jacob J. Nathan, 70, of Beaumont, Tex., died yesterday aboard a Chicago and North Western train at Harvard, Ill. He was on his way home from Rochester, Minn., where he recently underwent surgery.

G.O.P. COMMANDS VICTORY MARGIN, SAYS BROWNELL

Polls Held to Show Edge.

"It is my considered opinion we have a Republican trend and the trend is such that if the vote were taken today, we would have a slight edge," he said at a press conference. "We think that when the candidates open their speaking campaigns the trend will be accelerated as the Republican case is presented to the voters."

"We confidently believe that on the basis of the polls, the results of primaries held since the conventions, and reports made to us by leaders thruout the country the Dewey-Bricker ticket will win," he said.

Support Is Mounting.

"We have achieved a unity in the party that is very favorable and which will be a factor in our victory this fall. The enthusiasm that I met on my recent trip to the middle west and thru New England, during which I conferred with leaders and voters, convinces me that the original enthusiasm for our ticket is mounting and increasing."

Brownell announced the appointment of Godfrey Hammond of Scarsdale, N. Y., as publicity director for the committee. Hammond is president of Popular Science Publishing company.

REPORT WILLKIE ASKS PRESIDENT BE MADE CZAR OF ALL ARMS

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—The New York Times said today Wendell L. Willkie has been urging Republican congressmen to support a measure which would authorize the President to use military forces without prior consent of congress in any international organization set up to preserve peace.

Willkie said tonight in a statement that he had conferred with "a number of Republican leaders," but that he had "no comment" as to topics that were discussed. The paper said Willkie made two other suggestions to the congressmen;

"That the party insist that the organic structure of an international security organization be established and American participation therein approved at once, without waiting for the treaties formally ending the present conflict; and, that it insist upon the fullest possible information and discussion of all proposals considered at the Dumbarton Oaks conference and that it take the lead in developing a body of public opinion within the United States favorable to American participation in international peace machinery."

The exchange will be made early in September and the ship is expected to be back in Jersey City in the latter part of the month.

TRIBUNE AWARD GIVEN DESIGNER OF SIZER FOR DIE

A gold and diamond pin symbolizing The Tribune War Workers Award was presented to Adolph Kutzler last night at a ceremony participated in by executives of the American Steel and Wire company plant at Waukegan and Broadcast by W-G-N.

Kutzler, the 25th award winner, worked out a mechanical die sizer, which performs an operation previously done tediously by hand and is credited with saving time and money. The job is to make the aperture in the hard metal die thru which wire is drawn to the desired size and Kutzler's machine has performed so well the company is having it patented.

Kutzler received his pin from Corp. Clair Hume of the marine, who was wounded in the first landing on Guadalcanal. John R. Gaut, general superintendent of the Waukegan plant, and Don Sengenberger, foreman of the die department, told of Kutzler's invention and raised his ingenuity.

SENATOR FEARS NEW DEAL COUP ON WAR SURPLUS

BY LAURENCE BURD.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—The congressional battle over plans for cushioning the nation's reconversion to a peace time economy moved ahead on Capitol Hill today with these developments:

1. The senate, opening debate on an administration sponsored bill for sales of war surpluses, heard charges that the measure, as drawn, is an apparent disguise for refashioning the nation's economy along lines sought by New Deal theorists.

2. The house ways and means committee, continuing its revision of the senate approved bill for postwar unemployment pay benefits, eliminated the senate section calling for such benefit payments to the more than 3 million federal employes.

Nelson Trip Stirs Anxiety.

3. Members of the senate war investigating committee, which today heard War Production Chief Nelson at a closed session, expressed continued anxiety over President Roosevelt's decision to send Nelson to China on an undisclosed mission. Members indicated to reporters after the hearing they were fearful, in spite of official denials, that Nelson's plans for cushioning the shock of industrial reconversion by starting it at once may be sidetracked during his absence.

Republicans, led by Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.], took the floor during senate debate to demand safeguards against New Deal plans which might be concealed in the 50 page bill reported yesterday by the military affairs committee.

Vandenberg discovered an obscure section providing for sales of federal surpluses "with due regard to the needs of industrially underdeveloped areas" and suggested that this may be an attempt to "decentralize industry."

Question Purpose of Section.

"Does this mean that under the guise of meeting unemployment and selling surpluses we are committing ourselves to a new economic pattern under fiat from the United States government?" he asked.

When Sen. Johnson [D., Colo.], leading the floor fight for the measure, said no such purpose was intended, Vandenberg retorted. "Some people here in Washington would like to do just that."

Vandenberg observed further that the bill would give a single federal agency, the Smaller War Plants corporation, virtual blanket priorities to buy surplus goods and resell them to small businesses at its discretion. He suggested this power might be misused to favor some companies at the expense of others.

Other senators expressed surprise that the bill contains "gift" and "discount" features which would reduce greatly the government's receipts from surplus sales.

Schools Could Get Foods Free.

These include proposed authority for the federal security agency to donate goods suitable for educational use to states or individual schools, and a proposed 50 per cent discount on any kind of surplus goods bought by state and local governments, or nonprofit charitable, medical, and educational institutions. Debate on the bill is expected to continue several days.

Nelson told the press after his appearance before the senate group that he was "not talking."

Sen. Ferguson [R., Mich.], a committee member, told reporters he "felt better" about the reconversion program after hearing Nelson.

"I am still concerned that Mr. Nelson is leaving, because he has active charge of reconversion, which is such a vital job just now."

NAZIS ASK SWISS TO SHIELD LAVAL, SAYS BROADCAST

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—The German ambassador to Switzerland was reported by the secret German language station Radio Atlantik tonight to have asked the Swiss government for asylum for Pierre Laval. NBC recorded the broadcast. Laval last was declared to be virtually a Nazi prisoner.

Radio Atlantik, whose location never has been officially announced, said the Swiss government had not yet made any decision as this step was seen as an effort to assure a haven for fascist leaders even from Germany.

Swiss Sever Vichy Ties.

LONDON, Aug. 23 (AP).—Switzerland broke off diplomatic relations with the Vichy government today, asserting Marshal Henri Philippe Petain no longer considered himself chief of state. The Swiss radio said: "The Swiss federal council, having taken note of Petain's statement that he has been taken forcibly from Vichy and no longer considered himself chief of state, has broken off diplomatic representation with the Petain-Laval government."

WOMEN IN VFW! MEN TO DECIDE QUESTION TODAY

Some Propose Delay on Problems.

Delegations from each of the states and Hawaii to the 45th annual encampment of the Veterans of Foreign Wars met in their rooms in the Morrison hotel last night to determine how they will vote today on the question of admitting army and navy women to the V. F. W.

Sen. Revercomb.

Many of the delegation indicated a strong sentiment to admit women into the organization, but with the reservation that they form their own posts. The Illinois delegation was reported almost unanimously in favor of women membership on that basis.

Two Groups Favor Delay.

At least two delegations hinted they would propose a delay on the matter until veterans of World War II. come home and signify their desires. The V. F. W. has been a men's organization since 1919.

The convention adopted a resolution calling for a peace time army of "no less than three million men with up to date equipment," to insure against any threat of invasion. The group also recommended that military discharge priority be granted on the basis of length and type of service.

They indorsed a 50 per cent additional "battle pay" for men in combat, and termed the war man power act a "transgression and invasion of the right of free enterprise."

One Man Rule Hit.

At a session of the convention yesterday, Sen. Revercomb [R., W. Va.] denounced centralization of power in the national government, particularly in the chief executive, and those who believe strict regulation of the lives of the people is best for the country.

He drew repeated applause from the veterans when he said the present political campaign is a clash of philosophies of government with those who believe the best government for America is the one that leaves it in the hands of the people under laws which guarantee each individual the right to live his own life and make his own way arraigned against those who seek centralization.

Sen. Truman [D., Mo.], nominee for Vice President, preceded the West Virginia Republican on the platform on the toss of a coin. Sen. Truman told the veterans of past wars and a few who fought in World War II., that during the next generation war veterans will be the most potent political factor in the nation.

The Military Order of the Cootie elected Austin A. Flanagan, New York City, supreme commander. Vincent A. Schaaf, Pittsburgh, Pa., was named supreme senior vice commander, and Bernard Griffey, Chicago, supreme junior vice commander.

CALLS GREEN'S SPENDING AID TO DEMOCRATS

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP).—Bruce A. Campbell, Belleville, chairman of the downstate Democratic campaign committee, asserted today the G. O. P. administration of Gov. Green is spending state funds at an unprecedented rate and thereby is helping to brighten Democratic November election prospects downstate.

He addressed downstate state central committeemen meeting here to map campaign plans. Other speakers included Cook county State's Attorney Thomas J. Courtney, party nominee for governor, and United States Sen. Lucas, seeking reelection.

The campaign will start officially Sept. 11 with three caravans touring the state.

"Six months ago the chances for Democratic victory downstate looked dark," Campbell declared. "Today the situation is exactly reversed.

"One reason for this," he asserted, "is the disgust and dissatisfaction with the extravagance, waste and petty politics of the Green machine."

Indiana Flyer, 2 Others Are Killed on Maneuvers

Santa Maria, Cal., Aug. 23 (AP).—Three army flyers were killed yesterday when their transport plane crashed on maneuvers, Santa Maria air field spokesmen announced today. The dead included 1st Lt. Wayne M. Manlove, Milton, Ind.

DULLES REPORTS PROGRESS AFTER TALK WITH HULL

BY HAL FOUST.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—John Foster Dulles, Gov. Dewey's foreign affairs adviser, after an unprecedented 2 hour and 40 minute conference with Secretary of State Hull this afternoon, reported "progress in exploring possibilities of bipartisan collaboration" in America's current foreign negotiations. He was cautious, or silent, in replying to other questions from newspaper men when he left Hull's private office.

The conversations, for the announced purpose of pooling Democratic and Republican thoughts on diplomacy, will be continued tomorrow afternoon. There was little indication from Dulles on whether this unusual meeting will result in foreign affairs being eliminated from the Presidential campaign, but the best guess was that issues will be clarified for debate before the electorate.

"Can you tell us," a reporter asked, "what questions on foreign affairs will remain for the voters to decide?"

It's Dewey or Roosevelt.

"They'll have the big question of whether it's Dewey or Roosevelt," replied the Wall street lawyer, who has a diplomatic background and an international practice.

"Did you learn anything to confirm or to quiet Gov. Dewey's fears?" asked another reporter, referring to the Republican candidate's statement last Wednesday that Churchill-Stalin-Roosevelt diplomacy was aimed at power politics suppressing minorities and small nations.

"I'd rather not comment on that," was the answer.

"Did you discuss the secrecy at Dumbarton Oaks?" the Dewey representative was asked. Representatives of the United States, Great Britain and Russia are in session this week at Dumbarton Oaks, an estate here.

Favors More Publicity.

"Yes," Dulles said, and pressed by further questions, added, "it's my opinion that more information could be given out from the meeting. However, it must be borne in mind that the foreign delegates are guests and their wishes must be respected."

"British or Russian wishes?"

"I'm not implying that either has insisted upon secrecy," Dulles said. "It is the judgment of the secretary of state that the most progress could be made under the present arrangements."

He was asked whether he had seen the American or any of the foreign plans for world collaboration. He said he had seen none, but had discussed them with Hull at length and that this discussion will continue tomorrow.

Gerald Smith's Criticism.

While reporters were waiting in a state department corridor for these discussions to adjourn for the day, a representative for Gerald L. K. Smith, president of the America First party, circulated a mimeograph of a letter from Smith to Hull. It condemned Dulles and Hull equally as guilty of un-American and unconstitutional practices in behalf of internationalism. Dewey was also attacked.

[The America First party has no connection with the America First committee, which was dissolved shortly after Pearl Harbor.]

Dulles was described by Smith as "a known internationalist, having served with [President] Wilson at Versailles." He charged that the state department has a secret deal with Russia in regard to Poland. He charged that the exclusion of the press and of congress from Dumbarton Oaks is consistent with the administration's policy of secrecy, but is foreign to American policy.

"I accuse Gov. Thomas E. Dewey," read the letter, "of coöperating with the instigators of these unconstitutional practices. I accuse the state department of revealing facts to the agents of Russia and England, which are kept secret from Americans."

News Is Scarce.

The only news from the three power parley was a handout that four committees had been appointed.

The State Department Correspondents' association is meeting with Undersecretary of State Stettinius tomorrow to complain about the newspaper reading public being left in the dark.

The delegates visited the White House during the day and reporters were given a copy of President Roosevelt's informal remarks. He compared the sessions with an international get together, with the powers sitting around a room with their feet on a table, smoking cigars and getting acquainted.

"We have got to make not merely a peace, but a peace that will last, and a peace in which the larger nations will work absolutely in unison in preventing war by force," said the President. "But the four of us [China is to be included in later sessions] have to be friends, conferring all the time—the basis of getting to know each other—' putting their feet up on the table.'

"All I can do is to wish you every possible success in this great task, but at least it gives us something to build on, so that we can accomplish the one thing that humanity has been looking forward to for a great many hundreds of years."

Dulles is to remain here the rest of the week to confer with senators and congressmen.

With him was Miss Joann Green, 19, of Knoxville, Tenn., who is his guest during the celebration. But neither would discuss their future. Miss Green is his "best girl," Sgt. Huff said.

Huff met a flood of complimentary speeches today with a simple plea that the folks at home support the G. I.s at the front with "your prayers and your letters."

1,400 QUIT CIO IN PHILADELPHIA; ASSAIL LEADERS

Mass Resignations Due to Transit Strike.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 23 [Special].—Mass resignations from the CIO Transport Workers' union, representative of operating employes of the Philadelphia Transportation company, materialized today as a new development in the series of labor troubles which earlier this month led to a city-wide transportation tieup and restoration of service by the army.

With the deadline for withdrawal from TWU membership due at midnight under the terms of a contract signed Aug. 9 between the company and the CIO, Andrew Kelly, a trolley pilot and former TWU organizer, appeared at union headquarters with what he said were 1,000 resignations from the union.

Kelly said the resignations were signed by men dissatisfied with the manner in which union officials had looked after their interests during the work stoppage, which occurred after eight Negroes were "upgraded" to the rank of motormen.

Resignations Rejected.

James J. Fitzsimmons, TWU organizer in charge at the union headquarters, refused to accept the resignations from Kelly, asserting the contract provided resignations, to be valid, must reach the union by registered mail.

Kelly at once took the resignation cards to the main postoffice, where he and a group of aids were busy at a late hour placing them in individual envelopes and getting them registered.

In addition to the 1,000 resignations collected by Kelly, more than 400 others have been made out and mailed individually by discontented TWU members, Kelly said.

Question Representation.

"The reason for the resignations is that we are questioning the representative capacity of the TWU as a result of their failure to meet the demands of the rank and file employes in the recent strike relative to Negro upgrading," Kelly said in a statement.

"The rank and file is now preparing to demand a new election from the state labor relations board. These withdrawals will take so much membership out of the union that it will represent scarcely one-third of the system's employes."

The CIO union won collective bargaining rights by a narrow margin in an election held in March. The TWU polled 4,410 votes to a combined total of 3,452 for the PRT employes union [Independent] and the Amalgamated Association of Street Electric Railway and Motor Coach-Employes [AFL].

No Comment on Revolt.

Fitzsimmons said he would have no comment tonight on the revolt, but will make a statement later. He said he thought the resignations would be accepted if they are authentic and come in by registered mail.

While a contract between the company and TWU was in process of negotiation, an unauthorized strike broke out in protest against the use of Negroes as operators. Since the withdrawal of troops last Thursday, two Negroes have been operating cars and five others officially are in training as prospective operators.

"My wife's happy to be in the kitchen again and I'm enjoying my meals for a change. But when things return to normal we'll have to hire a cook."

CITES HILLMAN'S RECORD TO SHOW RED SYMPATHIES

Dies Report Gives Lie to Speech: Busbey.

Seven pages of the recent Dies committee report on the CIO political action committee directly refutes Sidney Hillman's assertion in a Boston interview that he has "fought communism in and out of season for 30 years," Rep. Fred E. Busbey [R., 3d] declared in Chicago yesterday.

Busbey said the seven pages are devoted to Hillman's record and are part of a public document the CIO leader has not denied directly.

"Hillman was not fighting communism," Busbey declared, "when with Lenin's help, as indicated by the undisputed record, he advised the membership of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers to 'invest' in the soviet textile industry under the style of Russian American Industrial corporation. This venture in Utopian capitalism was a complete flop.

Funds Sent to Russia.

"I would not be surprised to read next where Hillman claimed he was fighting communism when he took 5 million dollars from the Amalgamated Clothing Workers and sent it to Russia.

"Mr. Hillman says he is opposed to the Communist philosophy, but he has never disavowed the Communist controled faction in the American Labor party, under such leaders as Michael Quill, Eugene P. Connolly, Joseph Cohen, Hugh Thomas, and Saul Mills, veteran followers of the Communist party line."

The Illinois congressman, listed as No. 1 on the purge list of Hillman's PAC, said that if, as Hillman says, the congressional committee on campaign expenditures will be shocked to learn how little money the PAC has when he testifies before the committee next week, then "it could well be due to the fact that various locals of the CIO have been advised not to send their PAC funds in until a later date."

"Little by little," Busbey said, "members of the various locals of the CIO are becoming aware of the sinister plans of Hillman and his followers to gain control of our government by controling the Democratic party, and they are refusing to be assessed for the PAC, as they did in my own district at the Libby, McNeil & Libby plant at Blue Island.

Sees New Revolts.

"I predict that many locals of the CIO before long will assert their independence and refuse to submit to the Hillman political dictatorship because they will appreciate that such methods are un-American and doing the real cause of labor much damage.

"I solemnly pledge to continue my fight on the side of and with the patriotic laboring men in the ranks of the CIO who are fighting courageously to throw off the Communist domination of their union. The membership of the CIO should not be condemned for this condition, for they are not responsible for it, but should be given support by all loyal, patriotic Americans."

New Orleans, La., Aug. 23 (AP).—The United States weather bureau said today that indications were the hurricane in the lower section of the gulf would continue its west-northwestward movement and reach the Mexican coast near Tampico tonight. "Strongest winds are estimated about 85 miles per hour near the center," the advisory said.

LEATHER UNIONS AGREE TO WAIT ON COURT EDICT

Joseph Jacobs, attorney for locals 44 and 50 that seceded from the AFL International Ladies' Handbag, Luggage, Belt, and Novelty union, and Alfred Kamin, attorney for the AFL international union, agreed yesterday that a preliminary injunction should issue against the locals until further court action can bring about a final settlement. The attorneys promised Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe to prepare a stipulation of the agreement, to be presented to the court this morning.

The locals agreed that all moneys collected previous to their secession from the international be kept in the custody of the court and that all records and books of the unions remain in status quo until after the court renders judgment.

The locals will be allowed to function as independent unions and retain all dues collections after July 27, when they seceded from the international.

SENATE VOTES TO SCAN AIDS OF COMMITTEES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—The senate voted today to find out what New Deal burocrats and outside experts are being retained by senate committees to draft proposed legislation and assist in investigations.

By a voice vote the chamber approved a resolution by Sen. Wherry [R., Neb.] requiring each committee to report monthly to the senate the names of its employes, their past affiliations, and annual salaries.

The measure was an outgrowth of senators' protests last week against an invasion of the senate chamber by Dr. Herbert Schimmel, an $8,000 a year employe of the war production board, who during debate whispered in the ear of Sen. Overton [D., La.], acting chairman.

Businessmen Hit Possible Replacement of Nelson

New York, Aug. 23 [Special].—The possible replacement of Donald M. Nelson as war production board chairman was protested today by the American Business congress in a telegram to President Roosevelt. The wire was made public here by George Harrison, chairman of the New York unit, at a press conference at the Advertising Club of New York. "If reports of the forthcoming replacement of Donald Nelson are true, we, representing America's independent business men, protest vigorously," the message read. The congress questioned whether a successor to Nelson could be found who would not favor big business to the detriment of small firms in the reconversion period.

Given Alternative of Resigning.

Salt Lake City, Utah, Aug. 23 [Special].—Instructions of a CIO district officer to local political action committee members to vote Democratic or resign were quoted today in minutes of a CIO union meeting made public to refute denials of union heads that such an ultimatum was delivered.

Sidney Hillman.

The minutes showed the CIO district officer directed the members to "vote Democratic from President of the United States down and thru the office of governor because it was the order of the national CIO-PAC," the organization headed by Sidney Hillman which is raising a huge slush fund to try to maintain Mr. Roosevelt in power.

Members Bolt PAC.

The conflict came into the open Aug. 12 when the PAC members of two Tooele county locals of the CIO International Mine, Mill, and Smelter Workers' union bolted the PAC, with the backing of their unions' memberships, after declaring that "no one has a right to demand that we vote a straight Democratic ticket."

This was followed by a denial from presidents of the union locals, in identical letters, that an attempt had been made to compel members to vote for any candidate.

But today Joseph Beck and T. Paul Thomas, resigned members of each of the local PACs, made public copies of the minutes of the meeting at which they said instructions were given to vote as the national and state PACs ordered.

Quotes District Chief.

The minutes quoted Beck as asking at the meeting: "If a man represents labor regardless of other good or bad qualities . . . are we to understand that if the state CIO-PAC indorses him, we are to support him?"

"Yes, if we indorsed him, the members are to vote for him," the minutes quoted J. Frank Marble, district president-secretary of the union and head of the state CIO-PAC, as having replied.

The record also quoted Marble as telling PAC members they must "vote Democratic . . . otherwise you are asked to resign."

Another and contradictory copy of the minutes of the meeting was made public by George W. Haycock, United Steel Workers' representative on the state PAC, and this copy made no reference to the questions and answers.

CIO NEW DEAL'S MACHINE, SAYS OUSTED MEMBER

Suit Charges Fraud in Collecting Dues.

Harry Morgan, 36, a turret lathe operator in a Chicago war factory who joined a CIO union in November, 1942, filed suit in Superior court yesterday to get his money back.

He charged that the organization is a New Deal and communistic machine which collected his dues and fees thru fraud by misrepresenting itself as a labor union. Morgan has been employed for eight years at the Chicago Flexible Shaft company, 5600 Roosevelt rd., and his union is local 1150 of the CIO United Electrical, Radio, and Machine Workers.

Calls Trial a Farce.

Pat Amato, president of the local, and Irving Krane, business manager, removed him as chief shop steward in June, and a few days later, in what he described as a farcical trial, the executive board expelled him from union membership, Morgan charged, because he refused to circulate the union's New Deal and communist propaganda.

Represented by Atty. William J. Grace, Morgan asked the court to declare the board's action null and void; to enjoin the union from attempting to cause him to lose his job because of the maintenance of membership contract; and to order the union to repay him his money.

Morgan submitted a copy of a letter he wrote resigning from the union and asking the return of his dues. His membership, he charged, was obtained by fraud and misrepresentation.

"I was informed that the CIO unit was a labor organization and was to represent me in negotiations with my employers as to hours of labor, wages, and conditions of employment—nothing else," he said.

"Propaganda Machine."

"I am now satisfied that it is a New Deal, partisan, political organization whose object is to regiment members into one particular, political belief, and is a propaganda machine for communism. I have my own political beliefs. They are my own business—not the union's business.

"My dues and union money are being used for political purposes," Morgan wrote.

Certain officers of the union, Morgan's suit charged, conspired to circulate among the Chicago Flexible Shaft company employes "political propaganda for the New Deal, masquerading under the name of the Democratic party; also for the fourth term for Franklin Delano Roosevelt; and also propaganda in favor of communism and various communistic individuals, organizations, plans, and proposals."

STATE SALES TAX AGENT FINED FOR SOLICITING BRIBE

Walter McNichols, 42, of 4032 Polk st., an investigator for the sales tax division of the state revenue department, was fined $100 yesterday by Judge Francis Borrelli in Felony court on a charge of soliciting a bribe. Hearing on a motion to vacate was set for Sept. 22.

McNichols was accused of soliciting a $20 bribe from William Poy, co-owner of a Chinese restaurant at 6318 Cottage Grove av., May 15. At a previous hearing Poy testified that McNichols examined his books, which were kept in Chinese and meaningless to McNichols, and declared, "For $150 I'll forget all about this."

Poy said he explained that he didn't make that much in six weeks, and that McNichols accepted $20. A dozen character witnesses testified at yesterday's hearing in McNichol's behalf.

Rowe Told to Return U. S. War Ballots to Senders

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 23 (AP).—Atty. General Barrett advised Secretary of State Rowe in a formal opinion today to return to senders all federal war ballots received by Rowe's office and suggested that applications for state ballots be enclosed. The office has received 22 federal ballots from Illinois voters in military service. Only the state ballot is valid in Illinois.

TWO ROB WOMAN OF PURSE.

Miss Margaret Timpkins, 5628 Blackstone av., was stopped by two young men at 59th st. and Harper av. Tuesday night and robbed of her purse, containing $8.

"CONSTIPATION GONE —THREW PILLS AWAY"

"Year's trial convinces me All-Bran's a better way"

Why go on dosing? Read this sincere, unsolicited letter from an ex-constipation sufferer:

"Tm a regular listener to radio programs featuring KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN. Pleased to say my breakfast every morning for over a year has been a generous bowl of ALL-BRAN. It gives such wonderful relief I've thrown out all pills and other purgatives. ALL-BRAN'S a much gentler way to aid regularity. Others with constipation like mine really should try it." Mrs. F. F. Grubb, 4406 N. Broadway, Fountain City, Knoxville, Tenn.

This seeming magic makes plain common sense. You see, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN can really get at a common cause of constipation—lack of dietary cellulosic elements—because it is one of Nature's most effective sources of these elements. They help the friendly flora to fluff up and prepare colonic contents for easy elimination. KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN is not a purgative! Doesn't sweep you out. It's a gentle-acting, "regulating" food.

If you have constipation of this kind, eat KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN, or several ALL-BRAN muffins regularly. Drink plenty of water. See if you don't find real lasting relief. Insist on the genuine ALL-BRAN, made only by Kellogg's in Battle Creek.

Divorce and $350 a Month Granted Former Actress

Mrs. Ethel Hampton Hunter, 33, of 1349 Astor st., a former actress, divorced her husband, Victor, 34, in Superior court yesterday on her charge that he deserted her July 16, 1943. They were married Dec. 24, 1936, her attorney, William C. Boyden Jr., told Judge John A. Sbarbaro. Mrs. Lois Mandel of the Ambassador hotel and Mrs. Angele L. Logan, 1209 Astor st., were witnesses for Mrs. Hunter. She was given custody of her child, Scot, 2, and $350 a month alimony and support.

BLUE ISLANDERS REJECT PAC TAX FOR SLUSH FUND

Packing House Local Joins Revolt.

Troubles mounted in the Chicago industrial area yesterday for Sidney Hillman's CIO political action committee as additional CIO locals refused to contribute to the political slush fund by which Hillman hopes to insure a fourth term.

The 400 members of local No. 47, United Packing House Workers of America, at the Blue Island plant of Libby, McNeil & Libby voted at their regular August meeting against taking any part in the PAC program. Elmer Rockrohr, president of the local, said that while the entire membership was not present, the sentiment of those attending was overwhelmingly against the PAC program.

Steel Workers Also Rebel.

"It was the opinion of almost all the members present," Rockrohr said, "that politics should not be injected into a labor organization. When you bring politics in you bring in friction."

The action of local No. 47 was similar to that taken by local No. 1,117, United Steel Workers of of America, at the American Bridge company plant in Gary. This local voted to table a proposal to participate in the PAC program.

The action of both locals left individual members free to contribute to the PAC fund if they so desired. It was the forced contribution to which the large majority of union members objected. The PAC strategy where possible has been to obtain special assessments of $1 a member. In this way, if the $1 is not paid to the PAC, the member no longer is in good standing in the union and can be threatened with loss of his job.

Tries to Reverse Vote.

Joseph Goin, CIO subdistrict director at Gary, admitted that members of local No. 1,117 were entirely within their rights, but he called a conference with the local's executive committee in an effort to rescind the action and asserted that a majority of the members did not vote on the question.

Chester F. Midgett, chairman of the grievance committee, said the local had voted to table every communication that has come from the PAC and that "if they attempt to force this on the members we will blow it sky high."

$1,368,361 Taxes Paid to Treasurer in a Day

Taxes for 1943 totaling $1,368,361 were paid yesterday in the office of County Treasurer Schlaeger, raising the amount collected so far to $121,459,000. Taxpayers have until Sept. 1 to pay the second instalment of realty taxes; after that date a penalty of 1 per cent a month will be added.

CLAIM BRITAIN'S NAVY STRONGER DESPITE LOSSES

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—The British information service announced today that Great Britain's navy, despite the loss of 561 warships in nearly five years of sea warfare, "is actually more powerful now than at the beginning of the war."

Among the war losses listed up to Aug. 13 were: Three battleships, two battle cruisers, five aircraft carriers, two small carriers, 28 cruisers, 14 armed merchantmen, 124 destroyers, 64 submarines, seven frigates, 23 corvettes, and 289 miscellaneous smaller craft.

F. D. R. ALLY BUYS RADIO STATION UNDER FCC EDICT

Publisher of Leftist N. Y. Paper Is Purchaser.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 23 [Special].—A Cincinnati radio station was added today to the growing list of broadcasting properties being grabbed by New Deal supporting newspaper publishers who have been facilitated in airing their globalism as a result of the federal communications commission's "duopoly" order.

The FCC approved the sale of station WSAI here by the Crosley corporation to Marshall Field III. of New York, publisher of the communistic PM in that city. The sale price was $550,000.

The commission's approval of the deal, negotiated only a few weeks ago, came unexpectedly soon. It had been believed the transfer would not take place for perhaps six months.

Near Doubtful States.

As a result of the expeditious action, the station falls into Field's hands in good time to be used as a mouthpiece in campaigning for a fourth term of the New Deal. The station could be used to spread New Deal propaganda over the doubtful states of Kentucky and West Virginia.

WSAI was under the same ownership as the powerful WLW station. Consequently, Crosley was compelled to give up one under the FCC's duopoly order which requires holders of two or more standard broadcasting licenses in a single community to dispose of all but one of their radio properties.

Thru identical circumstances a number of other radio stations have been opportunely acquired by New Deal fawners in the publishing business, many of whom have been itching to get into the broadcasting field and so were quick to take advantage of the fortuitous FCC order.

Field recently acquired, with FCC approval, the controling interest in station WJJD at Chicago which was owned by the Atlass interests who also operate WIND, Chicago, with its transmitter in Gary, Ind.

200 TURTLES RACE TONIGHT ON SLOW TRACK IN INDIANA

Excitement will mount to a fever heat and the mutuel take will go to at least $30 tonight in the lighted ball park at Porter, Ind., when the fifth annual Chesterton-Porter turtle race is run in two heats by some 200 entries. Chesterton and Porter are just across the railroad tracks from each other and on highway 20, 13 miles east of Gary.

Sam Newton, Chesterton oil man, is in general charge. The first contest will result in a champion class of 10 emerging in a 20 foot race from the remainder of the 200-odd terrapins, tortoises, or what have you. Then the heat to determine the grand champion will be run over the same course. And last, the remaining 190 or so will be tossed out and consolation prizes allotted to the winners. The pay-off, in war stamps, will be about $40 in all.

As for the turtles the youth of both towns has been busy for weeks gathering them from the creeks and pools, swamps and sloughs in the vicinity.

And the mothers have been busy clearing up the ravages of poison ivy.

"Money burning a hole in your pocket, Bill?"

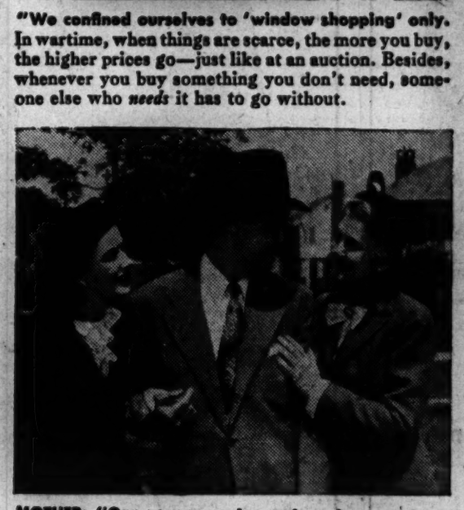
BILL: "What do you mean, Mom? Say, we could use a car like that. May be a long time before they make new ones again."
MOTHER: "Why, Bill Griffin! Where'd you be today if your father and I had bought everything we thought we could use?"

"Your father made good money during the last war—and don't think we wouldn't have liked to 'sport around' and show off like some of our friends did. But we could see the foolishness of that. Why, the more they spent, the less they got in return for their money.

"We confined ourselves to 'window shopping' only. In wartime, when things are scarce, the more you buy, the higher prices go—just like at an auction. Besides, whenever you buy something you don't need, someone else who needs it has to go without.

"Your father was too smart to 'blow in' the money he made. Every time someone we knew bought something extravagant, he'd buy an extra Liberty Bond. 'Sarah,' he'd say, 'to have real security, we've got to build it ourselves. And right now is our big opportunity.'

"That money came in mighty handy later on. Those Liberty Bonds put you through college—and because we had life insurance and savings, we were able to keep our home together during those lean years when your father started out in business for himself.



MOTHER: "Our government says to put your money into War Bonds, life insurance, and a savings account. Then you'll have the financial security you need."
BILL: "You're right, Mom. Guess I'll stick to busses—and stow away the difference!"

GIVE UP UNION OR JOB, POLICE TOLD BY JOLIET MAYOR

His Ultimatum Asks for Pledge Today.

In Joliet a new crisis of confusion is due today.

The latest trouble is in the police department, which has a newly organized policemen's union. Mayor Arthur O. Janke has issued an ultimatum to the union members, demanding a written pledge by 5 p. m. today that they will cease interference in police department affairs. If the pledge is not forthcoming, the mayor said he would recommend that the civil service board dissolve the union by dismissing all the members.

Raymond Shea, president of the Will County Central Trades and Labor council [AFL], who has been serving as spokesman and promoter of the police union, said the mayor's ultimatum would be ignored.

Plan to Seek Injunction.

"The union will send no letter to the mayor," he asserted. "If he tries to discharge the union members, we'll get an injunction to stop him. There is no law forbidding municipal employes to organize."

Shea represents the Pressmen and Assistants union, No. 111, on the council, but he is employed as a salesman by a printing company. Mayor Janke said Shea has been disgruntled since the city's fat printing account was taken from Shea's firm and distributed among all printers of the city.

The mayor said also he suspected that gambling interests anxious to operate in Joliet are responsible for some of the agitation to break down his police department.

"We want no hoodlums of any kind in this city," he said.

Gambling Charge Denied.

The charge that gambling may have something to do with the police union controversy was denied hotly by Shea, who said no interest except that of the working man was involved. He conceded there might be some difference between a police union and a union of factory workers, but said the difference would have to be specified by the courts.

Meanwhile there is need for a police union because of the "haughty attitude" of the chief and the "disharmony" on the force, Shea said.

Mayor Janke said he understood the union had only 24 of "the 52 on the force." Shea said the union has signed up 36 of "the 48 on the force."

Chief Wants Impartial Force.

"My only interest," he said, "is that we have an efficient, impartial police force. I don't believe policemen can be impartial when they are union members. And if I had to consult a grievance committee every time I made a move, I soon would have nothing to say about the police force."

Chief Overbey served as a cavalry officer in the regular army in the last war. He has been a member of the Joliet police department for 21 years, coming up thru the ranks.

The police union dispute follows on the heels of another sponsored by the same union, the American Federation of State, County, and Municipal Employes, which called a strike of 70 Joliet park district employes on Aug. 11. Mayor Janke, who also is president of the park board, refused to recognize the union. Yesterday the strikers returned to their jobs, still without recognition of the union.

DEMOCRAT BLOC FOR O'DANIEL DESPITE HIS 'NO'

Birmingham, Ala., Aug. 23 (AP).—Presidential electors of the American Democratic party, anti-Roosevelt organization in Alabama, announced today they would give their votes, if elected, to Sen. O'Daniel of Texas despite the senator's announcement he is not a candidate.

This decision was reached at conferences here yesterday and today. Sen. O'Daniel spoke at a meeting of the American Democratic group here Monday.

A statement from the electors said:

"The coming campaign demands that all parties be definite and clear. Sen. O'Daniel has declined to become a candidate for President of the United States for definite and sound reasons. It is our opinion, however, that Sen. O'Daniel's private, public, and political life is a clear cut expression of the character, philosophy and ability that our next President should have. We shall therefore cast Alabama's 11 Democratic electoral votes for Sen. O'Daniel."

OUTLINES PAC'S PLAN TO FORCE FREE RADIO TIME

FCC Hears Reports on CIO Petition.

BY PHILIP DODD.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—The pattern of the CIO political action committee program to force radio stations to give free time for CIO broadcasts was outlined today at the federal communications commission hearing on a CIO petition to cancel the license of station WHKC, Columbus, O.

The CIO petition charged WHKC had censored scripts for a program sponsored by the local United Automobile Workers [CIO] union while allowing commentators to broadcast what the union said were anti-labor views.

In cross-examination Ernest Goodman, associate counsel of the UAW-CIO, drew from Carl M. Everson, WHKC vice president and manager, statements that he would give labor unions time for sustaining programs, provided time was available and scripts did not contain material forbidden by law to be broadcast.

Unions "Backward."

Goodman then asked Everson if he considered it improper for national unions to advise locals how to obtain free radio time, or to form committees to do so. Everson replied that organized labor had been "backward" in developing radio programs and that he saw no reason for denying unions facilities used by other national and local organizations.

Everson was shown an editorial in the Aug. 14 issue of "Broadcasting," weekly radio trade publication, which charged a handbook recently issued by the CIO-PAC was a "brazen and impudent" attempt to pressure radio stations into turning their facilities over to the PAC, headed by Sidney Hillman, foreign born former New York garment worker. Goodman asked Everson if he agreed with "Broadcasting," but the question was disallowed by FCC Commissioner Ray C. Wakefield, presiding.

Once Served Time.

Goodman was counseled by Maurice Sugar, general counsel of the UAW-CIO. Sugar took no part in the questioning of Everson, but Goodman frequently conferred with his superior.

Sugar was revealed yesterday by Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.], in a house speech, to have been sentenced to prison in the last war for conspiracy against the conscription act. As a candidate for Detroit city council Sugar received the support of the Communist party, Hoffman said, adding that Communist literature said Sugar's slogan was "close the churches."

SLUGGING BRINGS QUIZ IN 1ST WARD G. O. P. RIVALRY

Rivalry within the Republican party in the 1st ward was being studied by investigators of the assault upon Bernard S. Black, state lodging house inspector, early yesterday. Black moved into the ward from the north shore as the head of reform forces in 1940 and is continuing his efforts.

Black's forces succeeded in defeating Dan Serritella for renomination as state senator, but failed last April to oust him as G. O. P. ward committeeman. Black was the losing candidate. Some of the 1st ward followers expected Black to leave, but he has been keeping up his organization of precinct captains.

Black had attended a meeting of his organization at 254 W. 26th st. He then went to a restaurant at 539 S. Wabash av. with Phil Spalla, 2708 Wells st. When they emerged a tire on Black's car was flat. While they crouched to change the tire two men ran up, slugged Black with a club, and kicked him. One fired a shot as Spalla gave chase. No puncture was found in the tire.

Black has received many threats during his 1st ward work. On Monday, he said, a man telephoned him a warning not to hold a meeting Tuesday.

CHILD SUPPORT DEBT AGAIN BARS DAD AS CITIZEN

Judge Michael L. Igoe in federal court yesterday denied for the second time in seven months the citizenship application of Leo Birk, 49, of 3716 Clifton av., German born butcher, until he pays his child support arrearage.

When Birk appeared before Judge Igoe last February, his petition was protested by the bureau of immigration and naturalization on the ground that Birk was $900 in arrears on a Superior court order directing him to pay $7 a week for the support of his 10 year old daughter. Judge Igoe ordered Birk to pay up and resubmit his application.

Yesterday Birk admitted the arrearage was still unpaid. Judge Igoe turned down the application, as well as a suggestion by Birk that instead of paying the back support money he take out a $1,000 life insurance policy in his daughter's favor. The judge continued the hearing for six months.

LEND-LEASE GIFT THEORY REVIVED BY F. D. R. REPORT

Continuation After Nazi Defeat Urged.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—British suggestions that lend-lease be made an outright gift and be continued after the war were revived today as President Roosevelt submitted his 16th quarterly report to congress on operation of the program, disclosing shipments to allies had reached 28 billion 270 million dollars on July 1.

In a letter of transmittal accompanying the report the President said lend-lease should be continued after the defeat of Germany, until the defeat of Japan.

"We should not permit any weakening of this system of combined war supply to delay final victory a single day or to cost unnecessarily the life of one American boy," the President's report said.

Urges Necessary Aid.

"Until the unconditional surrender of both Japan and Germany, we should continue the lend-lease program on whatever scale is necessary to make the combined striking power of all the united nations against our enemies as overwhelming and as effective as we can make it."

Mr. Roosevelt said the 28 billion 270 million dollar outlay represented 15 per cent of the American war spending, holding that the help lend-lease has been in raising the prospect of victory sooner than expected was cheap at the price.

The lend-lease report showed the British empire is the chief recipient. The United Kingdom received $9,321,549,000, Australia and New Zealand received $1,011,885,000. Britain got the lion's share of $3,070,829,000 sent to Africa, the middle east, and the Mediterranean area.

Russian Aid Nearly 6 Billion.

Russia received $5,931,944,000 and Latin American countries received goods valued at $171,970,000. Russian aid included more than 11,000 planes and 300,000 trucks and military vehicles.

Other lend-lease items include 6,000 planes and 9,900 tanks to Great Britain; 4,800 planes, 51,100 tanks, and 73,000 trucks and other motor vehicles in the Mediterranean, and 5,000 planes and almost 3,000 tanks to the Southwest Pacific.

The report showed that the 28 billion 270 million dollars of lend-lease exports, naval and merchant shipping aid, and lend-lease services was distributed as follows:

LEND-LEASE EXPORTS.

United Kingdom	$ 9,321,549
Africa, Mid. East & Mediterr'n	3,070,829
U. S. S. R.	5,931,944
Australia and New Zealand	1,011,885
India and China	1,402,426
Latin America	171,970
Others	624,267
Total lend-lease exports	21,534,870
Naval and merchant shipping [not given by countries]	2,448,039
Lend-lease services provided by U. S. [not given by countries]	3,451,350
In transit and otherwise not accounted for specifically	835,741
Grand total	28,270,000

Mr. Roosevelt said lend-lease is not a one way proposition, going into detail on reverse lend-lease from Britain. He said the allies have supplied approximately 3 billion dollars' worth of goods to American troops. The report showed $1,934,400,000 of reverse lend-lease in the United Kingdom.

Mr. Roosevelt's statement that he desired lend-lease to be continued at least until the defeat of Japan was regarded as confirming assertions that the British government had asked the United States to continue lend-lease after the war in Europe is ended. Last Aug. 6 the National Association of Manufacturers said in its weekly publication that British leaders had told the United States extension of lend-lease beyond the war in Europe is "absolutely necessary to stave off a serious economic situation in England."

SAYS U. S. SOUGHT TO SEIZE ALL JACKSON HOLE

Sheridan, Wyo., Aug. 23 (AP).—The state charged today that a Presidential proclamation creating the Jackson Hole National monument was worded to allow federal control of all the Jackson Hole territory and not just 221,610 acres.

John J. McIntyre, the state's soldier-prosecutor, said the proclamation referred to the Jackson Hole area and did not mention specifically limiting the monument to 221,610 acres. But his plea for permission to amend the state's supplemental complaint in a suit challenging creation of the monument was denied by United States District Judge T. Blake Kennedy of Cheyenne.

McIntyre said the proclamation permitted government control of all lands in the Teton forest in addition to 221,610 acres commonly accepted as monument area. Approximately 100,000 acres of the Teton forest are considered included in the monument.

The court has been asked by the state to interpret the antiquities act of 1906, rule on the Presidential proclamation and restrain the national park service from administering the monument.

Death of 2 Boys in Fire Brings Suit for $20,000

Owners of an apartment building at 4333 Wentworth av., where two Negro children died in a fire May 1, were sued for $20,000 damages yesterday in Superior court by the La Salle National bank as administrator of the children's estates. The suit charged the owners failed to provide proper exits. The children were Theodore and John Jerry Jr.

NEGRO FLYERS GET BELATED CALL TO CAMP

Seventeen Negro cadets of the Civil Air patrol entrained yesterday for Chanute field, Rantoul, three days late for the opening of the 10 day summer camp conducted by the Illinois wing, but happy that a previous order barring them from attendance had been rescinded.

Miss Willa Brown, executive director of the National Airmen's Association of America and a lieutenant in the CAP, said she had received word from Maj. C. W. Shuck, Illinois wing commander, that barracks were available at Chanute field and requesting that Negro cadets of squadron 613-6 be sent to camp, which had started Sunday with nearly 400 cadets from all sections of Illinois attending.

Publication of protests by Miss Brown and others in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE last week was credited by the CAP lieutenant for the change in orders, giving the Negro cadets an opportunity to attend the summer camp and to enjoy the training afforded white cadets of the state.

Mine Blasts Ship Traffic with Reich, Swedes Say

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—A new type of allied electric mine which is set off by sound and defies the usual mine sweeping operations is cited by the Swedish press as an important reason that Swedish ship traffic with Germany is almost nonexistent, a Stockholm dispatch to the American-Swedish news exchange said today.

ROOSTERS MUST KEEP DISTANCE IN KENILWORTH

Kenilworth roosters must step back 300 feet from the nearest house to crow this morning, but hens may get as close as 200 feet to cackle.

The new village ordinance, which takes effect at cock's crow today, was adopted by the village board to quiet the complaints of Kenilworth residents who have been awakened too often at dawn by neighbors' poultry.

C. M. Osborn, village manager, said the Kenilworth board took the word of the Wilmette village board that a rooster's good morning call fades at 300 feet. Wilmette requires crowing roosters to be 300 feet, and cackling hens 75 feet, from residences. Evanston allows chickens, including roosters, to sound off as close as 30 feet.

Why your gasoline dealer's Ethyl pump may be dry

It has become necessary to limit the supply of premium gasoline to civilians—in spite of the fact that the production of Ethyl fluid has been increased tremendously since the war began. We would like the millions of Ethyl users to understand why this wartime shortage exists, and why it is, in fact, good news.

When you drive up to an Ethyl pump these days the dealer may tell you he has no Ethyl, or that he can let you have only a little.

The reason for this shortage is the simple fact that "More and more Ethyl is going overseas."

Failure of the Luftwaffe to prevent the Allies from bombing practically at will, means our airmen can make more raids; and so use more high-octane gasoline.

Failure of the Japs to stop our Pacific offensives means America has more bases from which to strike; bases that must be supplied with gasoline.

Failure of the Wehrmacht to stand off invasion means that Allied ground forces can send their tanks, trucks, jeeps and other motorized equipment plunging ahead—and this, too, calls for more gasoline.

This is good news! But it means that military demands for high-octane gasoline—practically every drop of which contains Ethyl fluid—have reached an all time high. It means that there is less Ethyl fluid available for civilian use.

To conserve this vital material, the Petroleum Administration for War recently directed that the quantity of premium gasoline be cut in half. The total amount of civilian gasoline was not changed by this order, only the quantity of premium gasoline. In our opinion there is no doubt that this decision was correct.

We feel sure that as long as the needs of war have first claim on Ethyl fluid, you will gladly make the best of whatever gasoline is available.

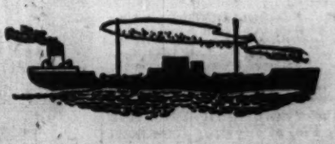
MORE AND MORE ETHYL IS GOING OVERSEAS



SERGEANT FREES WAC WIFE WHO LOVES CORPORAL

Judge Learns Her Suitor Is No John Alden.

When Sgt. Lewis L. Parson, 30, of 2217 Foster av. returned home on furlough in July, 1943, from Camp Livingston, La., his wife, Shirley, 23, froze him with a cool stare as he rushed to embrace her.

"I am thru with you," she said.

Sgt. Parson couldn't guess why. He returned to camp and pondered his wife's attitude for several days, until the letter came. It was from a bomb squadron corporal at Gowen field, Boise, Idaho, named Michael Bialc. Sgt. Parson never had heard of Corp. Bialc.

"I Love Your Wife."

"Hello, Louis," wrote Bialc, carelessly misspelling the sergeant's name. "I love your wife very much. She loves me. Why don't you give her a divorce? I'll be about the only guy that can make her happy.

"I am a flying engineer. I make $99 a month. Did she write to you for a divorce? Or is she just lying to me? You cannot get her back now because I'm just what she wants. I'm from New Jersey.

"I guess you won't refuse to help me. I'd go crazy if I lost Shirley. I hope you understand because I've just got to have her.

"Thank you. Write to me. No hard feelings.

"Mike."

Asks Judge for Divorce.

Sgt. Parson obtained a special furlough, and appeared before Judge John A. Sbarbaro in Superior court yesterday with the letter and Atty. Irving A. Eisenman to ask for a divorce on the ground of desertion. Parson and Shirley were married Oct. 11, 1938, and separated Feb. 11, 1943, he said. She since has joined the WAC and is at Fort Des Moines, Ia.

"I think it would be futile for me to try to overcome this corporal's competition," Sgt. Parson said.

Judge Sbarbaro granted the divorce, and read the letter again. "He's certainly no John Alden," he said of Mike Bialc.

'Ouch, Senorita Polka' Shown to Dance Masters

The Spanish theme was mingled with a polka to create "Ouch, the Senorita Polka," which was introduced yesterday by Del Mar and Renitor, creators of the dance, to the Chicago National Association of Dancing Masters, convening in the Hamilton hotel. The originators said they had combined Spanish steps, long popular in the United States, with the polka in anticipation of the new popularity which folk dances will receive when service men return home.

RUTH FREED SUED BY HUSBAND, WHO 'FEARS FOR LIFE'

Edward J. Freed, former night club manager, charged his wife, Ruth, with cruelty in a suit for divorce filed yesterday in Superior court. Judge John Sbarbaro issued an injunction restraining Mrs. Freed from molesting her husband or talking to him. They were married July 15, 1925, and separated Nov. 1, 1940. In November, 1940, Freed was shot in the left leg by his wife while he was sitting with a strip tease dancer in a Peoria night club. Freed's suit, filed for him by Atty. Ira Jacobs, said he left his wife because he feared for his life. He said she cut his face with a glass on one occasion. Mrs. Freed was sought in 1936 for questioning in the mysterious murder of Audrey Vallette, a night club girl. She surrendered a year later and was cleared by a coroner's jury.

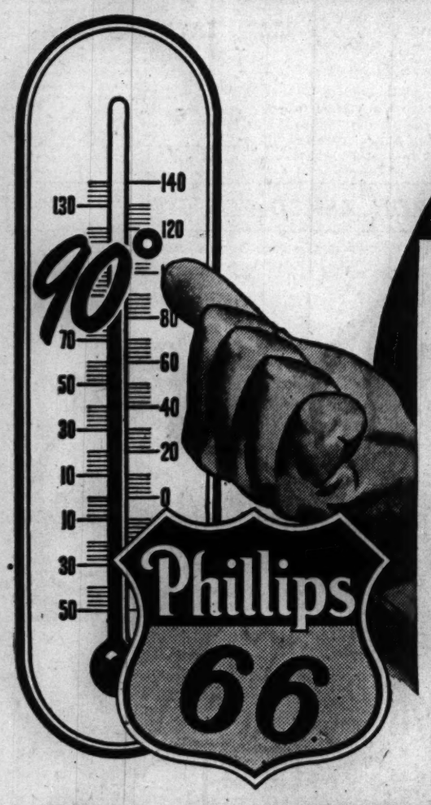
Tires Wear Out twice as fast at 90°



WHEN YOU SUFFER with the heat, remember that your tires really sizzle on the road . . . because road-surfaces are usually 25° hotter than air temperatures.

This frying-pan heat saps the strength of rubber . . . produces doubled wear as the thermometer rises from 60° to 90° . . . and multiplies tire-failure by twenty per cent.

Obviously, you and every other patriotic driver, want to get every bit of precious mileage remaining in your present set of tires. That is why we bring you these authoritative suggestions:

Avoid hot-road driving as much as you can . . . Drive at slower speeds . . . Don't over-inflate tires, but avoid under-inflation as you would a plague . . . And don't neglect to have your tires cross-switched every 3,000 miles.

Your Phillips 66 Service Man is anxious and waiting to help you. Give him the opportunity, at least once a week, to check air pressures . . . to inspect for nail holes, cuts, and bruises . . . to examine tires so he can warn you when re-capping is advisable.

This is only part of the Tire-Saving and Car-Saving Service pledged to you at every Phillips 66 Service Station, to help you "Care For Your Car For Your Country".

In the Nation's interest and in your own, be watchful and intelligent about making your car and your tires last longer and go farther. Drive in for help at the Orange and Black 66 Shield, the sign of famous Phillips 66 Gasoline and Phillips 66 Motor Oil.

SOLDIER'S WIFE GETS PROBATION FOR MISCONDUCT

Mrs. Sue Smith, 18, wife of a soldier in a Georgia camp, was placed on probation yesterday for six months by Judge Irwin Clorfene in Woman's court when she was arraigned on a disorderly conduct charge after being arrested in her room at 2001 Madison st. in company with a semi-clothed soldier.

Mrs. Sue Smith.

Mrs. Smith, mother of two children, told police that the visiting soldier was a friend of Miss Siller Asher, 18, who lives at the same address and who also was in the room.

Mrs. Smith's father-in-law, Clio Smith of Tampa, Fla., was given court permission to take the woman and her children back to Tampa with him. Judge Clorfene spoke scathingly of "faithless war wives" and said there was no excuse for their infidelity to be defended by "sob sisters."

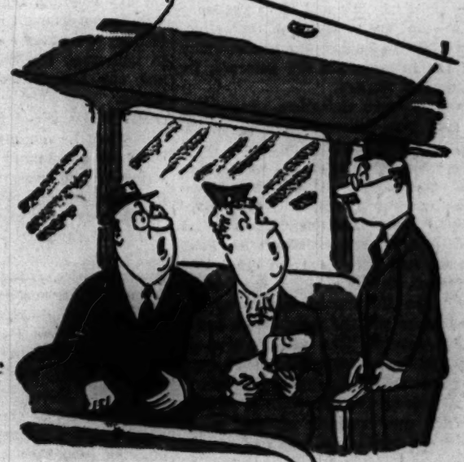
(In Five Easy Lessons)

1 Feeling a little bored? How about a nice long vacation trip—a couple of thousand miles or so? Don't bother about all those travel warnings from the Office of Defense Transportation. Apparently those dopes don't even know the war is over... Well anyway, it's almost over.

2 Phone for reservations at the last minute. They'll be sold out—but you know a guy who knows a guy who'll fix you up. Of course, you'll have to slip him 5 or 10 bucks. But so what? You've got plenty of dough these days.

3 Be a good sport and take your wife along. It's only one more seat—and that service man who would have had her space doesn't really have to see his family before he goes overseas, does he?



4 When you can't get a seat in the diner until the service men have eaten—gripe bitterly to the conductor! Tell him it's an outrage. They should have special troop trains for the soldiers.

5 As soon as you arrive at your destination, write a sharp letter to the railroad, complaining about:

a. the soldiers and sailors who were sleeping all over the train and kept disturbing your rest
b. the terrible service in the dining car
c. the train being 20 minutes late
d. the dirt on your window, and
e. the insufferable noise of the freight trains carrying war goods.

AFTER THE LIBERATION OF FRANCE.

Four years ago France had been crushed and most Frenchmen regarded their case as hopeless. They could not save themselves and they had no faith in the ability of the British to recover from Dunkirk. England must also be lost. The war seemed to be beyond reclaim and the German was master of Europe for unknown years. At this dreadful time the idea that American troops would be cutting German armies to pieces on the soil of France; that the Stukas and tanks would be beaten by the soldiers of a country which did not have an army and had no planes or tanks was utterly unbelievable.

The unbelievable has happened. Paris is free without the American columns having actually entered its gates. Their courses around the city gave the Nazis the alternative of leaving or being trapped, and the French themselves finished the task. The deliverance of all France is visibly at hand. The enemy is broken and running.

The first sensations of the French released from captivity would be, and are, joyous. If this exaltation could lead to a reasonable conciliation of differences and such a tolerance of diverse opinions as is required by national recovery the future of the country would be better guaranteed. It will be a miracle if this desired result is obtained. The French expected to live for many years in such conditions as the Germans would grant them. Marshal Petain had his old age vision of a pietistic France nursing its husbandry and its religious faith as it raised itself to strength out of the soil. His government capitulated to Germany and entered into the obligations of the armistice.

Stories of French treachery before the war and before the surrender are current. Sumner Welles in Paris a few months before the surrender was told that Mme. de Portes, the feminine influence over Premier Reynaud, was subservient to German intrigue and that, thru her, Mme. Huntzinger, wife of the collaborationist general, became so important that Reynaud ordered the police to see that she left Paris if she did not voluntarily depart. There is a legend in France, cultivated by the leftists, that the Comite des Forges and the industrialists conspired with German industrialists for the overthrow of the third republic and the ascendency of Hitler to stop the proletarian revolution. That story cost Pierre Pucheu, the former Vichy minister of the interior, his life before a De Gaullist tribunal in Algiers.

Certainly there were defeatism, dissension, aspects of civil war, extraordinary party hatreds, hostility to the republic from both right and left before the war, and all the weaknesses which would come from something close to anarchy. These conditions existed years before Hitler invaded. France was demoralized by its internal strife and, in peril, disintegrated. Four years under the armistice have not eradicated the evils. Indeed, they may have been made much worse. The Communist hatred of the bourgeois is intense and the fears of the latter are vivid and natural. The assassination of Adm. Darlan and the execution of Pucheu were malignant symptoms, the execution particularly so because it took on the character of judicial proceedings and was exemplar of what might happen when the partisan judges had a wide field of opportunity.

A Communist, Trostkyite, account of what took place at the Pucheu trial says that the victim was executed not because of what he did as minister of the interior but as a reactionary agent of the industrial class and as an indication to the workers that they need not rise to assassinate their employers, who would be dealt with by courts. The masses "clamored for Pucheu's blood." The De Gaullists gave it to them. Americans have been a steadying influence in France, altho the radicals have damned them for it. The British were as weak as the French in the operations preceding the collapse and afterward they fought what remained of the French government, sinking French ships, making a futile attack on Dakar, and a more successful one on Syria.

American arms may chase the Germans out of France, but they cannot rescue the French republic from its own weakness, the French people from their own anarchy, or long prevent partisan fury from excesses. Many of the most distinguished men of France are now the prisoners of factions. Herriot, Blum, Daladier, Gamelin, and other ministers and generals of the third republic were sentenced by Petain and their trials suspended. The fall of Vichy may release them from one custody only to deliver some of them to another. The De Gaullists in North Africa have imprisoned the colonial administrators who gave obedience to Petain but followed Darlan over to the side of the Americans. Their trials were postponed after Pucheu's execution.

We were successful in winning the aid of these Frenchmen in a critical moment, but not in protecting them afterward. Liberation is expected to bring a rebirth to France. If this is a rebirth of savage partisanship, with reprisals and blood purges, it will not be a rebuilding.

ANOTHER CHINA TOUR.

President Roosevelt has gone on the defensive to try to explain his order which will send Donald Nelson, chairman of the war production board, off to China for economic and military conferences expected to consume several weeks or perhaps months. Mr. Roosevelt says his order is not the "kick in the teeth" some of Nelson's friends think it is, but nobody is likely to be fooled by the White House statement describing the China journey as "most pressing" and "necessarily confidential."

Nelson has emerged from the Washington confusion as the leading advocate of reconversion. He has won his battle to turn American industry back into peace time production which will bring the country prosperity and prevent a post-war depression. His assistant, Charles E. Wilson, who will assume control in his absence, is lined up with the army and navy and New Deal collectivists who want to keep industry on a war footing beyond any reasonable need because they do not want to lose any of their war time powers over men and materials and factories.

Mr. Roosevelt has a record of sending underlings who would have embarrassed him by their radicalism out of the country during a campaign. Nelson, however, is not going to China for the same reasons that Henry Wallace did. He is being shipped out because he won a victory over the collectivists and is a continual embarrassment to them. With him out of the way they may be able to undo his good work.

Some of the Republicans in congress already have expressed alarm over Nelson's removal from Washington thru artifice, and Sen. Ferguson of Michigan says he is going to request that the war investigating committee, of which he is a member, call Wilson in for questioning. Investigating committees have their usefulness, but the only way congress can protect America's future is to pass laws retrieving the totalitarian powers it granted Mr. Roosevelt and reinvesting them in the people, where they belong.

MR. DULLES GOES TO WASHINGTON.

John Foster Dulles is in Washington to confer with Secretary Hull about post-war world organization. He indicates that he expects to stay on and participate, from the sidelines, in the concurrent international conference at Dumbarton Oaks.

Mr. Dulles, in addition to being the country's most active practitioner of international law, is a Republican. He went to Washington as a representative of his candidate, but without credentials from his party. He asserted before he left Albany that his conferences will not remove foreign policy as an issue in the pending Presidential campaign. He said, correctly, that such an elimination is neither healthy nor desirable, because debate and discussion are essential if our people are to adopt and execute policies with conviction.

Our political institutions parallel our legal institutions closely. Before a case can be tried in court, the issues must be fixed. Many a lawsuit has been won or lost, before trial, in the pleadings that fix them. What chance have the American people to conduct a fair and useful trial of the issues that will fix their future foreign policy, if those issues are fixed by advocates who are on the same side?

We know where Mr. Hull stands. He is an advocate of British foreign policy. What is there in the experience or environment of Mr. Dulles to show that he will so frame the issues that the subsequent trial of the case will have meaning?

His law firm, as could be expected from its prominence, represents many powerful corporations, a number of which operate on an international scale. Among the latter is the International Nickel company, which is a party to the British nickel cartel that for years has gouged American users of the metal.

Mr. Dulles himself specializes in the negotiation and trial of international cases. He has frequently been the counsel of European governments, in causes that often have been more important and significant than those handled thru the foreign offices of the nations involved. He has pending, for example, the suit of the Belgian government in exile against the French, seeking to recover a quarter of a billion dollars in gold that the Belgians deposited in Paris and the French let fall into the hands of Hitler.

Mr. Dulles would not have been given those briefs had he not been a brilliant lawyer. He could be a brilliant advocate of American interests in the current negotiations in Washington were he not tied so closely, for so long, to interests adverse to ours. Against his long record of advocacy of foreign causes we have only Gov. Dewey's recent denunciation of power politics, apparently inspired by himself, from which to extract reassurance.

Mr. Dulles' trip is, however, useful politically. It serves to clear the air. His close connections with Wall street international finance strip the conference of any false aspect of humanitarianism. Dumbarton Oaks stands disclosed for what it is, an endeavor to place the British empire on a permanent American pension without the pensioner assuming the subservience appropriate to his status.

The pro-Americans, who are in such a vast majority in this country, need not lose heart. They can still place their hopes in congress, and, as Rep. Sumner and other members of that body have made clear in recent days, those hopes will not be in vain. A mere prearrangement by or on behalf of candidates cannot be binding on the American people, a fact that Miss Sumner notes. Congress must still consent, and, as Sen. Brooks, Sen. Wherry, and Sen. McKellar have shown, there will be ample strength on both sides of the party aisle in the senate to prevent any profligate dissipation of the American heritage.

FRISCO'S SCHOOL FOR PARENTS.

[Arizona Republic, Phoenix.]

San Francisco believes it has found a partial solution at least for increased juvenile delinquency in that city. Going on the assumption, as did juvenile authorities in Phoenix some months ago, that parents are largely at fault when their offspring become delinquents, the parents are brought into court.

The parents of delinquents, or those parents charged with neglect of their children, or with bad family behavior, are sentenced by the court to hear eight lectures on how to rear children. Their cases are not disposed of until they have completed the schooling. The ultimate disposition depends in a measure upon how diligently they attended the lectures and how intently they listened to the lecturers.

AIX MARKS THE SPOT.

So we have captured Aix! But wait a minute—which Aix? The map of Europe seems to be pock-marked with that name. All right, Aix-en-Provence; what about the others?

There are three Aixes, two French and one German—Aix-en-Provence, which is privileged to be called by its first name only; Aix-les-Bains, and Aix-la-Chapelle. The latter may also be identified by its German name, Aachen. All have mineral springs and traditions as watering places that run back to the ancient Romans, who were keen for medicinal bathing. If you are looking for a first-rate cosmopolitan spa, however, we suggest Aix-les-Bains.

Aix in Provence is worth a day of any tourist's time, but its trade is light because trippers usually scoot across the Provençal landscape in hot haste to reach the burning sands and sophistication of the Riviera. Its cathedral of St. Sauveur has been praised by experts. Its springs are remarkably hot and carbonic.

Aix-les-Bains, in the mountainous region of Savoy, has been rated as the "smartest" of the French spas. Its gossips report that Stanley Baldwin, former prime minister of England, was a frequent patron, and its English colony has been large. They also say that once upon a time the fabulously rich Aga Khan, who was always good for a column of European society gossip when there wasn't a war on, met an Aix salesgirl in a pastry shop and presently made her his begum. Type of springs: warm sulphur. In the other war the A. E. F. nicknamed this resort Aches and Pains.

Aix-la-Chapelle, otherwise Aachen, is a considerable city close to the Luxemburg border, and its tradition runs back to Charlemagne, who built a palace there. A portion of its cathedral recalls his imperial activity. Historians have to struggle with three treaties of Aix-la-Chapelle, of large importance. The waters resemble those of Aix-les-Bains. Incidentally, the mother chapter of the Alexian Brothers, who administer a well known Chicago hospital, is in Aachen.

AFTER LABOR DAY.

The candidates, now mild and meek,
Will open up and start to speak
After Labor day.
The teachers will grow wan and pale,
And children will begin to wail,
Because they'll be sent back to jail
After Labor day.

Of course we'll still be short of meat,
But we're not apt to cuss the heat
After Labor day.
And as we chant the martial song,
We hope our soldiers, brave and strong,
Will be home before very long
After Labor day. W. L. Hudson.

Voices from the Boondocks.

The word "boondocks" [Aug. 21] came from the Philippines back in 1898. The native term for wooded, mountainous country is bontoc. There is a province so named in the northern part of Luzon. It is the home of head-hunters.

When a soldier went A. W. O. L. or a wanted native was absent, it was always said that he went "to the bontocs." This was first corrupted to "bondocs" and later to "boondocks."

Any soldier who served during the Philippine insurrection, 1898-1901, will confirm this.

J. F. S.

During my five years' sojourn in the marine corps I have heard two schools of thought as to the origin of "the boondocks."

One is that it is a Chinese word, pronounced approximately as "boondocks," and meaning brush country or unpopulated terrain. The other is that it is a Burmese or Indian word of similar meaning. Pl. Sgt. R. H. Hobbs, U. S. M. C.

I served two years in the old Carabao outfit [13th infantry] in the Philippines from 1914 to 1916, and during that time I never heard the rural districts referred to as anything but "out in the bundocks." I have always been under the impression that the word came from the Tagalog language, which is the Malayan dialect spoken by many natives around Manila. C. Bruckner.

"Boondocks" stems from Bontoc, a province in Luzon. Many natives in Manila, of course, were not born in that city, but came from the provinces and went back home once in a while. Among American sailors Bontoc was used to mean any province, hence the back country. Then the word became "bundocks." Anonymous.

The word "bundok" originates from Tagalog, one of the Philippine dialects. Any golfer who has played golf in the vicinity of Manila where Tagalog is spoken can give you the correct definition. L. I. Smith, Captain [SC] U. S. N.

That's why we ordinary guys

V. F. R. asks: "Is it true that overseas service counts for time and one-half or double time if we remain in army service after the war?"

There is no such provision in present regulations. Probably you have been talking with some old army man who may be old enough to be eligible under the old schedule of retirement. Agitation for amendment of the present laws to conform to the older schedule has had little encouragement.

J. M. S. asks: "Is time spent as an aviation cadet counted as service time in determining eligibility for benefits under the G. I. law?"

Yes, 90 days or more of such service would qualify you.

ARE YOU MOSQUITO BAIT? TAKE VITAMIN B.

WE have been puzzled to explain why the bites of mosquitoes will disturb some persons so sadly, while others will scarcely be affected. The explanation lies in the reaction of the individual to the venom of the "skeeter." With many, a single attack may be responsible for huge wheals and welts, while with others, only mild redness may be experienced. As a rule, spirits of camphor or ammonia water will help—but not cure.

A year or two ago, Shannon made the observation that skin irritation, accompanied by itching, could be controled with proper doses of thiamin chloride [a fraction of vitamin B]. He was able to demonstrate a number of instances wherein complete relief had been achieved, and among conditions which responded favorably were insect bites.

As many of us realize, lesions of this sort may constitute a health hazard by disturbing sleep and rendering patients so uncomfortable that appetite will fail. Now and then, systemic symptoms will develop, including fever. Cases have been reported in which mothers were obliged to keep their youngsters indoors, so violent were the consequences. This occurs at the very season when children should be out in the fresh air. Sunshine was thus denied them because breeding places for the pests were located nearby.

One of Shannon's patients, a 2 year old boy, was unable to rest day or night because of incessant discomfort and scratching. Forty mg. of thiamin chloride permitted him to slumber all night long. Later, he was offered three daily doses of 20 mg. each, and, altho he encountered fresh nips, there was no obvious distress. By evening of the third day, all swelling had disappeared.

How does this remedy behave? It is given by mouth and enters the circulation. Shannon believes that it not only renders the person tolerant to the toxins, but creates a situation in the blood of the victim which is distasteful to the insect. At any rate, many kept on a small daily quantity during the season seem to be bothered less frequently than those who do not receive enough of this food accessory. One of our best sources is meat, particularly pork, and the chances are that we consume less of this edible during the warmer season.

Those who are taking the compound regularly have remarked that their perspiration possesses a peculiar odor. They assert further that when mosquitoes alight on the surface of their bodies, they depart in haste. This has led to the suggestion that an ointment containing 3 or 4 per cent of the drug might be used as a skin protective. Experiments, however, have proved unsuccessful. We must conclude, then, that the vital fluid of one who is taking the vitamin contains something which drives away the "bugs." Even tho the epidermis is pierced, symptoms will not be severe.

Here's a suggestion for fishermen: load up on thiamin which you can do without the slightest harm. Perhaps you will be spared a goodly amount of suffering.

Condemned.

He had known prison fare too long;
Her bounty came too late.
Accustomed now to shabbiness
And to the meager plate,
It is no wonder he is mute,
That he can scarcely feel
This deference of decent suit
And final hearty meal.

Nomenclature.

Frank Cipriani, a Tribune writer, took his family out to dinner at a Chicago av. restaurant the other night and found that far too many others had the same idea. All had to wait in line for a table, and a hostess jotted down the names of newcomers to be called in their turn. She approached the Ciprianis, pencil in hand. "My name's long," Mr. Cipriani began apologetically. "I'll spell it out for you." "All right, Mr. Long," the hostess interrupted him tersely with one of those you-must-think-I'm-awfully-stupid-not-to-be-able-to-spell-that glances. "I'll call you when your table is ready."

Kind World Note I.

A tailor in Monmouth, Ill., is advertising a service men's special. He will alter or repair free of charge the uniform of any officer or enlisted man home on furlough.

Kind World Note II.

A widow with seven small children lives in a nine room house on Chicago's northwest side. Half a dozen of her male neighbors noticed that the house was badly in need of paint. Working on Saturday, Sunday, and at night they did the job for her in three weeks.

War Note.

An air corps scribe, writing in the air corps' Polar Tech, told of a train conversation he had with a fellow soldier traveling south. The discussion quickly drifted to the absorbing subject of women, and the fellow soldier commented on the shortage of girls around army camps. With a deep sigh he then emitted this Churchillian tidbit:

"Never have so many pursued so few, with so much, and obtained so little."

Racy Talk.

The man was about 35. His lady companion fluttered near 55. Both were heavily intoxicated as they rode back into Chicago from the Washington Park race track. The man kept falling asleep, his head falling onto his companion's shoulder with each lurch of the train. Each time she would push him back against the window, slap his head, and yell: "Say, who is the weaker sex?"

An End to All This.

"These magazines are not on lend-lease. Please pay the cashier."

Novelty?

Advertisment in the Decatur [Mich.] Republican:

"Wishing to close out my undertaking business, I will do undertaking at cost and less. I will sell caskets well trimmed for from $8 to $11 and use of hearse free. Call at the Decatur Novelty Works."

The Navy Gets There.

Add to resourceful navy legends: A young navy lieutenant stationed at Key West inspects PC and SC boats. One day not long ago he had two to inspect. In such matters it is customary to go out to sea on one boat, inspect the man overboard, gunnery, and special drills, and transfer to the other at sea. But on this day the sea was too rough for the two boats to come alongside. Undaunted, this fearless lad took off his clothes, dived into the sea, swam 50 yards to the other boat, and clambered aboard. Then he crouched on the deck until his clothes had been shot across to him by a hand rail or breeches buoy. His dignity unabashed, he put them on and called, brightly: "Inspection!"

DEBUNKING RENEGOTIATION.

Wilmette, Ill., Aug. 15.—From time to time since the war started newspapers have published reports by government bureaus on the great savings they have effected by renegotiating the prices bid by manufacturers on products for the army and navy. In fairness to the 99 per cent of our people who never have occasion to work on production costs, bids, and the like, I think the real purpose and function of renegotiation legislation should be made clear. First, war or no war, the government is required by law to take bids before purchasing. Unprepared for war as we seem always to be when one breaks out, time is the most important factor. Therefore, the mad rush to make contracts and get into volume production on thousands of items never before produced except on paper or in a few handmade samples.

Since the only way to find total actual costs is after the kinks and bugs are ironed out thru production and use experience, the bids were largely rough estimates and only intended to comply with our law that bids have to be submitted. Naturally, therefore, no person in his right mind made the cost guess too low. After all concerned were satisfied that no more radical changes were required and that production methods were reasonably efficient, true costs were calculated.

When actual costs were known, the renegotiation departments and the producer got together on the price the government was to pay. This was well understood to be the procedure when the contract with the legally required price bid was made. Therefore, the difference between this price guess and the final price did not represent a saving by the government as claimed or inferred by the politicians and others who try to sell us the centralized government idea. OVERLOADED BUSES.

Chicago, Ill., Aug. 14.—Overloading of buses can be a factor in the accident rate and perhaps the Sunday accident at 63d st. near Laramie av. was the result of excessive wear and tear on the front axle system from repeated overloading. Many local and suburban buses accept too many passengers with resultant crowding around the driver. This crowding prevents proper view of the side traffic to the right of the driver and may prevent him from observing the approaching vehicle in time to avoid an accident. It is also an accident hazard because the driver may fail to see if the steps are clear before the bus is put in motion.

There is, I believe, a state law designed to prevent crowding around the driver and if enforced by the police the driver would have a better chance to drive safely. In addition more frequent mechanical inspections should be in order. If the average car owner must have his car inspected every six months, then weekly or monthly inspection should be the rule or law for public transportation vehicles. OBSERVER.

THE CIO SLUSH FUND.

Waukegan, Ill., Aug. 17.—Some years ago a certain gentleman was elected to the United States senate from Illinois after a hard campaign. At that time he was refused his seat in that body because it was disclosed that a certain corporation had contributed to his campaign fund, and as a matter of fact he never took his seat.

How can these radicals and so-called liberals who are now speaking of millions being contributed by the CIO political action committee to the election of Roosevelt expect him, if he is elected under those circumstances, to be entitled to be inaugurated?

CHARLES E. MASON.

DID THEY USE CHAMPAGNE?

Evanston, Ill., Aug. 20.—National officers of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, Northwestern university women faculty members, and local women prominent in Alpha Phi sorority activities are mystified over the apparent clandestine launching, as far as this city is concerned, of the Liberty ship S. S. Frances E. Willard on the west coast many months ago.

A joint effort of the W. C. T. U. and the Alpha Phi sorority to have a Liberty ship named in honor of Miss Willard disclosed that a ship bearing her name was launched on March 16, 1943, at Richmond, Cal. It also was disclosed that no advance notice of the vessel's launching had been received by any one in Evanston, where, for many years, Miss Willard had her headquarters, and where national W. C. T. U. headquarters still are located. MEMBER.

WHAT OF THE DEAD?

Chicago, Aug. 17. — In President Roosevelt's address of Aug. 12, I read with dismay these proud, freighted words: "All of the battleships and smaller craft which were sunk or damaged in the attack on Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941, have been raised with the exception of the Arizona."

How glibly our commander in chief speaks of ships. How eloquent his silence respecting personnel. What of the brave men who died at Pearl Harbor because President Roosevelt failed in his task to be ready? What of our dead in the ugly South Pacific seas? These men gave their lives because we arrived with too little, too late, sometimes with weapons too obsolete to do the job there was to do. Has human life no value at all? H. F. P.

CEMETERY ASSESSMENTS.

Chicago, Aug. 21.—Does the sale of part of a cemetery lot automatically give the local cemetery association authority to bill the owner for a portion of the annual general care of the cemetery? S. M.

Cemetery deeds commonly provide that the lot owners shall be subject to the by-laws of the association. While this wording would not permit assessments which had no relationship to the wise management of the entire enterprise, it does permit the officials to adopt a landscape plan and to require individuals to conform to it by refraining from haphazard individual planting, by limiting monuments to those in harmony with the plan, and by meeting reasonable assessments for care of the lots. We cannot advise further without knowing the wording of your deed and of the by-laws. TRIBUNE LAW DEPARTMENT.

SENATORS' VIEW BOOSTS CITY AS WORLD AIR HUB

Warning to F. D. R. Held to Enhance Prospect.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23.—Rep. Allen [R., Ill.] asserted today that Chicago's prospects as the aviation center of the post-war world have been enhanced by a senatorial warning to President Roosevelt against decisions involving international air policy without congressional knowledge and approval.

Allen referred to a letter sent the President yesterday by a special senate subcommittee on post-war aviation which declared no executive action should be taken in that field "until full consideration of government policy can be had by congress."

The letter, signed by Chairman Bailey [D., N. C.] of the committee on commerce, and Sen. Clark [D., Mo.], head of the subcommittee, also said determination "whether or not the United States should now modify its historic position as to sovereignty of the air above its borders" was a question of grave importance to be decided by both the legislative and executive branches. It cited the "grave dangers" of a civil aeronautics board recommendation that no limitation on volume of traffic on international routes be agreed upon by the governments of the world.

Warning to Roosevelt.

"That was a warning in unmistakable language to Mr. Roosevelt," said Allen in a statement, "that he was under no circumstances to make any commitments whatever, without the indorsement of congress, concerning the future of American aviation.

"The policy thus enunciated will eventually bring about the emergence of Chicago as the air center of the world. Its obvious advantages will be considered in congress whereas, if the air policy were left to the chief executive, international influences would probably swing decisions away from a course designed to place American interests first.

Boomed for 20 Years.

"For more than 20 years, Col. Robert R. McCormick has persistently and consistently maintained that the state of Illinois and the city of Chicago were destined to become the centers of the aviation world. More than 10 years ago, he told me personally that Chicago was the one great city on the continent that actually looked forward to the four points of the compass; that it was the logical center of air transportation with air feeder lines flying into Chicago from Canada at the north, from the great northwestern states, from the eastern and western seabords, and from the Mississippi valley cities.

"The senatorial letter notes that approximately 75 per cent of international air travel may be expected to be of United States origin and that this country is entitled to expect a position of preëminence in international air operation. I believe that congress has in mind the realization of the program advocated for two decades by Col. McCormick and that Illinois and the middle west will eventually contain, in Chicago, the hub of the air universe."

THE QUESTION.

What was the name and the purpose of the club you belonged to as a youngster?

WHERE ASKED.

THE ANSWERS.

Frank Stolfa, clerk, 2935 Lexington st.—I belonged to a "model makers' club." It was formed for the purpose of getting all the youngsters in the neighborhood interested in model airplanes. A pilot took it upon himself to organize us. He knew we'd enjoy it and he was really our hero because he could fly a plane.

Bob Miner, naval aviation cadet, 7125 Constance av.—The "Lucky Horseshoe club." About 15 fellows met in our basement just for fun. My father had a big box of cigars and we borrowed a few of them one night. The basement was full of smoke and we were all half sick when he arrived. That was the end of our smoker and club.

Betty McNamara, student, 8134 Rhodes av.—When I was in the seventh or eighth grade 10 of us girls had a social club. We met primarily for the purpose of chatting and having an excuse to dress up. Our dues were 10 cents every two weeks, and we'd pool our money and go on a big spending spree when we had enough.

Donald Harvey, naval aviation cadet, Denver, Colo.—The "13 club" was a rugged bunch of boys. There were 13 fellows in it who were 13 years old. Whenever we took in a new member we'd initiate him with our paddles that also bore the number 13. We met for no good reason and probably were the terror of the neighborhood.

Anne Nolan, student, 2821 E. 76th pl.—Seven or eight of us girls had a club. We couldn't think of anything to call it so we spelled "girls" backwards and called ourselves the "Sirig club." Our dues were 5 cents a week, which usually was spent before it ever reached the treasury. We organized just to have a club.

101 NEW SCHOOL ROOMS ON SOUTH SIDE APPROVED

The Chicago board of education yesterday approved plans for addition of 101 new classrooms within the coming school year on the crowded south side. The rooms will be included in two new buildings and in additions to two present buildings. Three other new schools are planned for other areas and another is under construction and due to be opened about the first of the year.

Estimated cost of all these projects is $2,174,497. The program is the most extensive undertaken by the board in several years.

One Building Converted.

One school, the building formerly occupied by the La Salle Extension university at 41st st. and Michigan av. is being converted to an elementary building with 38 classrooms and room for more than 1,500 pupils. It will be opened about Sept. 15, John C. Christensen, architect, told board members.

The board yesterday let contracts totaling $316,452 for construction of a 20 room addition to Phillips elementary school, Pershing rd. and Prairie av. The addition will accommodate 800 pupils, besides the 1,200 formerly enrolled. Construction will be started immediately and will require about six months.

The board will bear the total cost of both of these buildings.

Final Approval Expected.

The federal government is expected to approve the board's application for funds to cover about two-fifths of the cost of the other projects, estimated to total $1,019,408. The Chicago regional office of the war production board has approved the application and Washington approval is being awaited. The school board would pay $604,442.

If Washington WPB officials approve the plan soon, the elementary school projects will go forward as follows: Addition to Doolittle school, 525 E. 35th st., 24 classrooms, estimated cost $278,278. Addition to Gillespie school, 93d and State sts., 11 classrooms, new shops, and an all-purpose room, $243,102. New building, Raymond school, 3635 S. Wabash av., 19 classrooms, kindergarten, assembly room, and gymnasium, $300,082. New building, Olcott and Myrtle avs., four classrooms, $47,004. New building, 99th st. and Luella av., 11 classrooms, $150,942.

Icaza Agrees to Leave U. S., Released from Jail

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 23 (AP).—On his agreement to leave the United States by the first available vessel, Antonio Icaza, Panamanian who had sued band leader Tommy Dorsey for $40,000 for alleged injuries suffered in a fight, was released today from jail where he had been held on a charge of illegal entry. Icaza, who had been held without bail since his arrest by United States immigration authorities, alleged he had suffered severe fright, a cut ear and a ruined suit of clothes in the fight, in which Dorsey and film actor Jon Hall engaged.

'Miss Lieutenant'..... By Nina Wilcox Putnam

SYNOPSIS: Lt. Carol Melton, an army nurse in North Africa, overhears a military conference in which the need for maps and photographs of the crooked little towns along the Riviera is discussed. She tells Col. Barlow her identical twin, Lita, is married to a Frenchman who has a collection of maps, drawings, and photographs of all the secret passageways along the coast, that she was educated at Nice, and knows every inch of the coastline. She persuades him to recommend her for the mission and is transferred to intelligence. Two experienced commandos will accompany her. Col. Barlow confides that information known only to trusted officials about the troops in Africa has been leaking out. The informer knows the Riviera well. Taken by ferry to a submarine, Carol finds one of the commandos is Bright Stoner, a childhood sweetheart whose memory has always stood between her and other men. On the way to Le Bastion, the castle of Lita and Jacques Cassard, they come to the restaurant of Papa Brochard, husband of Carol's old nurse, Mme. Victorine, and find Lita and Jacques are friendly with the German officials. Wearing clothes Lita had given to Victorine, and with Bright disguised as her porter, they are nearing the castle when a Gestapo car passes. Jacques Cassard is in it. Bright hides in the tool shed while Carol enters the castle. From Victorine she learns Lita has been gone for three days taking money and valuables with her, and that Jacques had violent words with Marshal Karl Herman Janner that morning. Carol smuggles Bright up to a secret room under the roof. At dinner, Maj. Fritz Uhlan is taken from the table in a drunken stupor. Carol is questioned, disclaims any knowledge of the maps, and is locked in Lita's room. Using a secret stairway, she goes to the drawing room and meets Bright there. The maps are gone, but they find the body of Uhlan, who has been poisoned. They escape, taking Uhlan's body to his car, and send the car over an embankment. Victorine is discharged and the castle is heavily guarded. Victorine will send word to them at Grasse of Lita's whereabouts. They evade the Gestapo. Tired, they stop to rest.

INSTALMENT XXII.

THE CIRCUS.

In other years the fields would have been swarming with workers, women and children for the most part, bending over the fragrant rows and piling up great baskets full of carnations for the perfume factories. Now they were deserted. Carol and Bright crossed the road, made their way thru the flowers and weeds.

"So this is what heaven is like!" Bright murmured. "A million flower stores' worth of carnations, oranges and you beside me underneath the bough!"

She nodded, a sudden irrepressible happiness welling up within her. The bittersweet of the warm oranges was on her lips and his as they met. The hands that pressed them to each other there in the sun-spattered shade were anointed with the pungency of the ripe fruit. She clung to him as tho she could never let him go again, as tho war and death and duty were far away nightmare things which had no reality.

"It's always been like this with me, Kansas," he said at last, not moving, but speaking into her ear. "There's never been anybody who counted but you."

"There's never been anybody but you, Bright. I guess we belong."

"I guess we do. I know we do."

"And nobody else ever gets to carry your books after this—promise?"

"I promise—this way."

She kissed him again and this time it was a kiss which said all the romantic and beautiful things neither of them could find words for.

It was a long time before he was able to bring himself back to a sense of duty. But he was the first to remember. Grasse, distantly above them, looked rather grim in the gathering dusk. Perhaps by the time they reached the town it would be too late, and the mysterious M. Ledoux might be gone from his office. Then they might have difficulty in finding him. Almost gaily they returned to the highway and began the long climb towards the town.

But they had walked only a little way when an incredible spectacle came towards them. A monstrous creature was looming out of the dusk, its head swaying, its ungainly gate a strange disquieting thing.

"I haven't been drinking," said Bright, "so that really is a camel!"

He pulled her into the ditch beside the road and they watched in fascinated silence as a weird procession came into sight. It was without a doubt one of the hundreds of forlorn little circuses which had infested the rural neighborhoods of France before the war.

The specimen which approached now was a poor one indeed, palpably depleted by war conditions but somehow hanging together. Led by the mangy, broken down camel, the performers, a weary looking lot, followed mostly on foot. A few trained dogs drew small carts piled high with household goods, and an old woman carried birds in a cloth covered cage. There was only one important vehicle even remotely resembling the gilded caravansaries of the old days and this was pitifully shabby, the red paint peeling from its sides and drawn by a broken down mule. This was followed by a hand cart piled high with canvas and the sections of a wooden ring. After this came a second hand cart filled with a heterogenous jumble of objects on top of which sat a woman nursing an infant while a man wearing a harness, pulled the cart along and two others pushed it from behind.

At the tag end of the procession was a bearded man driving a heavily laden small white donkey; one of the tiny animals which the hill people of the Riviera breed for their especial needs. At sight of the creature Carol could not restrain a cry.

"Baba!" she called. "Baba!"

The small donkey stopped dead in its tracks and looked around. Then Bright's hand went over her mouth as he pulled her back into the thicket.

Carol was angry and struggling. After a moment of confusion the man with the beard whipped the donkey into obedience and they hastened to catch up with the rest of the procession. When they were out of sight, Bright released her.

"Are you nuts, yelling like that?" he demanded sternly.

The feeling of awareness she always experienced when she was about to have some form of contact with her twin was upon her and the excitement of it made her incoherent.

"But it was Baba!" she said rapidly. "He heard me. He knew his name. It was Baba, I tell you, Lita's pet!"

"You did say all the animals from the Castle were gone, but what's the hook-up?"

"It doesn't take any very heavy detective work to figure that out! One of those missing pets is right down the road and traveling fast. O, Bright, can't you see what it means?"

"I see just like in a blackout!"

"Victorine told us! At least she was trying to tell us when that soldier hit her. I thought she's gone off her head with fright but now I'm sure she was just trying to get a message they wouldn't understand across to me."

"What did she say, exactly?"

"She said, 'It's a circus! Ha! ha! It's a circus!' I'd asked her to tell me where to look for Lita and that's what she said. It didn't make sense then, but now . . . Bright, we've got to follow that outfit and investigate."

"We are probably just sticking out necks out for no good reason," he said, doubtfully.

"It won't be for the first time. Look, Bright. Lita loved her pets. She never in this world abandoned them."

"But that Baba burro might have been bought, or maybe stolen. You're putting two and two together and makin' a mess out of a mole hill."

"Perhaps. But why was Victorine so uncertain of Lita's exact whereabouts? Because Lita was moving about from place to place all the time. Victorine knew the circus might be in this neighborhood and she was going to send word to me at Grasse when it arrived. Let's follow them. Please!"

It was quite dark now, the mountain's shadow darkening the valley. She could feel Bright's silent yielding even before he took her elbow and helped her out of the ditch.

"Okay," he said, "let's go! But be careful now, Kansas. Take it easy on the approach!"

They started back down the road, walking quietly on the earthen edge to deaden the sound of their footsteps. And they had not far to go. The little circus had left the highway close to the abandoned trout pond and was making camp in the woods behind it. Bright motioned her to turn off under the trees a little distance away where they could watch without being seen.

VIVISECTION ROW 'STUPID,' SAYS ANTON CARLSON

Denies Animals Suffer Needless Pain.

BY ROY GIBBONS.

Animals in pain can't give you the answer, therefore it is stupid for anti-vivisectionists to assert that medical investigators inflict needless suffering on dogs and other experimental creatures used in the laboratory to advance the cause of medical science and man's welfare, Dr. Anton J. Carlson, emeritus professor of physiology at the University of Chicago, said yesterday.

Dr. Carlson, who is president of the American Society for the Advancement of Science and president of the Society for Experimental Biology in Medicine, asserted that "not once in a million times" was any laboratory animal made to suffer needlessly and that if and when such suffering did occur "it was purely by accident and positively never by design or intent."

Council Hearing Set.

His comments on animal experimentation by reputable medical schools and research hospitals were aimed, he said, at urging defeat of an anti-vivisection resolution which will be up for public hearing before the city council's committee on health at 10:30 a. m. Monday.

The resolution, sponsored by Ald. O'Halloran [18th], would repeal an ordinance which now permits "any reputable institution of learning, hospital, or allied institute," to use unclaimed and unlicensed dogs from the city pound "for the good of mankind."

Such animals, Dr. Carlson pointed out, would be uselessly destroyed by the city and turned into soap or fertilizer if they were not made available for humane experimentation and painless death under anaesthesia in the laboratory to aid man's conquest of disease.

Vital to Medical Knowledge.

"Free and intelligent experiments on animals during the last 300 years have been the greatest factor in our present achievements in knowledge of the nature of life and control of disease," Dr. Carlson said.

"It was not until the great William Harvey began to observe and experiment on animals that we started to understand the heart, the blood, and the circulation. We began to make real progress in the understanding, if not in the control of cancer, when this malady was discovered in animals and experimentally produced in animals.

"Animal experimentation has been a great factor in giving us better knowledge of nutritional anemia, digestive and kidney disorders, glandular disturbances, nervous diseases, the control of tuberculosis, scurvy, hookworm, pellagra, and many other ailments."

Responsible for Insulin.

Insulin, the cure for diabetes, Dr. Carlson said, came out of the experimental laboratory directly as the result of humane research on dogs.

Altho he did not refer to his own achievement, medical annals disclose that Dr. Carlson, working with Dr. Ernest L. Scott in 1911-'12, first detected the possibilities of insulin as a cure for diabetes while working on experimental animals at the University of Chicago. He was able at that time to induce and control the disease in dogs with the cruder pancreatic substance then available, altho it remained for Dr. Frederick Banting of Canada to develop insulin thru further animal experimentation into a form sufficiently pure that it could be given to human sufferers.

Had animal research not been invoked to yield the secret of insulin more than a million diabetics, including 200,000 children in this country alone, would now be dead instead of leading normal lives, it is said.

Need More Animals Now.

Increased demands for medical research resulting from the war and accelerated medical programs call for more instead of fewer experimental animals if our fighting men are to be safeguarded thru scientific care, Dr. Carlson asserted.

Preventing accredited medical schools and hospitals from having free access to the city's unwanted dogs would impose a financial burden upon these institutions by compelling them to buy such animals at a cost which Dr. Carlson said would approximate the income on an endowment of from 5 to 7 million dollars.

A burden of this sort might hinder such institutions in continuing free medical care thru their clinics to the city's poor, he stated.

In conclusion he said:

"More pain is inflicted on animals in one hunting, trapping, and fishing season than in all the centuries of animal experimentation."

MRS. ELMA GASDIEL.

A woman of 19, who was married when she was 17 to a boy 15 years old who has spent the last 2½ years in the navy, was arraigned yesterday before Judge Irwin B. Clorfene in Women's court after her third attempt to drown herself in Lake Michigan.

The defendant, Mrs. Elma Gasdiel of 7648 Blackstone av., was rescued early yesterday by Seaman Warren Strout of the Coast Guard after she had slipped into the lake from the 63d st. breakwater.

"I am just disgusted with everything," she told the court. "I write to my husband, Seaman Glen Gasdiel, who is in the South Pacific, twice a week, but I haven't heard from him for months."

HELD IN $10,000 BONDS ON BOGUS COUPON CHARGE

William W. Pelzer, 29, of 4436 N. Albany av., who owns a gasoline station at 3102 Montrose av., was arraigned before United States Commissioner Edwin K. Walker on charges of possessing and transferring counterfeit A-12 gasoline coupons good for 25,000 gallons. Lana Jelke's July Elopement Disclosed by Her Parents

BY JUDITH CASS.

THE announcement yesterday that Miss Lana Jelke and Michael James Brody of Mexico City were married July 17 will come as a surprise to their many friends. The news of their romantic elopement to Woodstock, Ill., was given by the youthful bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John F. Jelke of Lake Forest, who four days after the elopement entertained at a tea to announce the engagement of their daughter to Mr. Brody.

Mr. Brody, the son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Brody of Pittsburgh, Pa., has gone back to Mexico City, where his bride will join him shortly. The former Miss Jelke and young Mr. Brody met last winter in Mexico City, where she was studying at the University of Mexico and he is engaged in business.

On the Calendar.

It will be a case of the early bird catching the worm when announcements for a "Greenwich Village party" Sept. 16 at the Saddle and Cycle club are received by club members, for only the first 150 to make reservations for the evening can be accommodated. The entertainment will be the Chicago premiere showing of the technicolor motion picture, "Greenwich Village," starring Don Ameche and Carmen Miranda, which will be presented following dinner.

Mrs. Wells Farnham, head of the club's entertainment committee, has arranged two other parties at the club in the near future, a Mexican fiesta Saturday night, and a dinner-dance Sept. 30. Mrs. Henry Rew Gross is in charge of decorations for the Saturday party, for which an orchestra has been engaged. All the garden furniture will be moved to the swimming pool, where cocktails will be served during a diving exhibition from 7:30 to 9 p. m., following which there will be dinner and dancing on the outdoor terrace midst tall cactus plants, gaily colored guitars, and other Mexican decorations, including a cunning papier mache burro laden with charcoal.

Being welcomed back to Chicago at Saturday's party will be Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bates, who have been away for several months while he served as a major in the army. Mr. Bates has been released from service and, with his wife and their children, is at the Lake Bluff home of his mother, Mrs. Adelmer M. Bates, until the younger Mr. and Mrs. Bates can find a home of their own. The Jere Pattersons, the John Roots, Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. E. Franklin Motch, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel A. Culbertson II., and Mr. and Mrs. Winfield T. Durbin II. are others entertaining Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Bates will be among the Farnhams' guests.

For the duration the club will be closed at 1 a. m.

College Notes.

The young women who are going away to college this fall have a busy schedule of teas and other "get acquainted" parties planned for them. The Chicago and North Shore Vassar clubs are giving their annual luncheon for incoming freshmen today at the Racquet club. Their mothers, alumnae, and undergraduate students also have been invited. Miss Dorothy Wrigley, a sophomore, will conduct a question and answer quiz, and two other students, Miss Patricia Jeanne Healy and Miss Martha Louise Harbrecht, will speak.

Miss Healy's talk, on "Extra Curricular Activities, Including the New Housework," will be of particular interest. With the shortage of help,

Urges Library Unifications in Post-War Era

BY JOHN ASTLEY-COCK.

"Unification" should be today's slogan for metropolitan libraries which foresee post-war restricted budgets, Amy Winslow, librarian of Cuyahoga county, Cleveland, O., yesterday advised the Library Extension institute at the University of Chicago.

"Library governing bodies faced with inevitable decline in post-war income should choose the agreeable path of unification," she said. "By coöperation with civic and political bodies, aid in drafting a new legal framework to their liking might be accomplished."

Since coöperative planning demands cost studies, Miss Winslow suggested that such analyses could be undertaken by impartial agencies—public administration bureaus, reasearch students, local foundations—providing a plan covering centralized purchasing and processing, economic overhead, and the elimination of overlapping library services. She said that while as yet no action had been taken, a merger of the Chicago public, Newberry, and John Crerar libraries already has been considered by the Metropolitan Library council.

"However," she continued, "seven communities in the Chicago area have been aided by the 'big brother' help of the Chicago public library which has extended its services in an advisory capacity, loan of books, and deposits from surplus stock to areas lacking tax supported libraries.

John A. Vieg of the United States bureau of the budget told the institute that politics was the greatest impediment to the consolidation of metropolitan governments.

"No proposal for the integration of public services in a big city is likely to get anywhere," Mr. Vieg declared, "unless it relates to a vital public function, is technically capable of coping with the difficulty involved, and so formulated as to appeal to a majority of the citizens."

Selection of the technical device appropriate to the difficulty, Mr. Vieg stated, often hinged on the inequalities existing in a particular area, even tho the actual aim of the consolidation visualized by the civic leaders is for the good of the total situation. This is why, he explained, the embodiment of the device must be a "politically marketable package" which has to be put over by astute advertising, and aggressive selling among the several groups of voters who have to "buy" it before it can become effective.

Transportation, library service, and educational opportunities were among the interests pointed out by Mr. Vieg as instrumental in introducing plans for coördination and consolidation. He cited Chicago where 300,000 suburbanites in 52 adjacent cities and towns are supplied with water; Los Angeles, Cal., where 36 cities have organized a joint health service, and Cincinnati, O., which provides fire fighting service to neighboring communities either on a contract or special charge basis.

Ideal All Purpose Fur Coat

Leopard Skins Fill a Variety of Style Needs

BY REA SEEGER.

Spots before your eyes this winter will be the coats, capes, and jackets of leopard skin, furs of dramatic eye-appeal and high fashion. Leopard skins are no longer the too heavy, stiff, and unwieldy pelts of 20 years ago; they're amazingly soft, flexible, and light on the shoulders, with the tawny, golden beauty preserved without a flaw. Nothing used by either furrier or costume designer equals the compelling spotted glory of leopard skin. Use it as you will, wear where and whenever you choose, and it fashionably eclipses almost every other ensemble in the crowds.

Both full length and the swagger short length coats are featured in the fur collections, also the fitted, semi-fitted, and the loose flared boxy models. But nothing is allowed to detract from the stunning black or deep brown and gold pelts. Collars are virtually nonexistent, sleeves are simple skins, matched and blended perfectly. The results are exciting coats, each model one of great distinction. The best argument for selling or buying them is that such black and gold beauty can be worn with every color. This is the season you'll see it used as inner lining for cerise, green, gray, and bright blue, with neutrals of gray and beige, with brown, black, and navy. And the fur coats can be worn with these same shades most effectively.

Leopard skin trims coats and suits in long tuxedo collars, it's for regulation notched lapels, collars, and cuffs, for patched-on pockets, huge buttons, and deep cuffs. There are hats to match, or hats bowed with bands of leopard, muffs of all sizes and shapes, and even belts.

Thru the Looking Glass

Never underestimate the powers of observation of the male!

Men notice, and deplore, more flaws in feminine grooming than most women realize. Just a day or so ago one of the most courtly, quiet gentlemen we ever knew waxed wroth on the habit of women office workers of winding their legs around their desk chairs, with the result that their hose show soil! In the space of one minute he could point out two young women within our line of vision whose hose were badly smudged and whose otherwise perfect grooming was therefore damaged.

And he's quite right. If you notice women workers homeward bound in the evening you'll see that a surprising number of them look as tho they'd neglected to launder their hose. Some of them, it must be confessed, are really a bit lax about donning freshly clean stockings every day, but the majority of them have simply smudged them because they've done what almost all desk workers do—wound their legs nervously around their chair or typewriter table at some time during the day.

Even more than physical beauty, we think, men admire crisp grooming in the women with whom they must spend a great deal of time. "That gal always looks neat" is the highest compliment they can bestow on women with whom they work day after day. It might be well for wives to remember this!

The crooked stocking seam, the finger tipped with chipped nail lacquer, the soiled powder puff, the white collar that is off-white for want of sudsing, the hair that screams for a shampoo, the soiled handkerchief, the pin in place of a button—all these are the little slips of grooming that men notice.

The Chicago park district and the Chicago metropolitan area office of civilian defense will be cited by the Music War Council of America "for having brought the inspirational power of music into play in the local war effort," according to an announcement made yesterday by Howard C. Fischer, executive secretary of the council. The citations will be presented by Ray S. Erlandson of Hinsdale, council president, at the massed choral concert featuring 750 voices, to be presented at the Grant park band shell Friday night, Sept. 1, by the Choral and Instrumental Music Association of Chicago.

Defauw Reads Wagner Ably in Cold Setting

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The Chicago Symphony orchestra, Désiré Defauw conducting, last night presented a successful all-Wagner program in Grant park.

The audience was spared the "Tristan and Isolde" sequence which often stops a program of this sort dead in its tracks. Instead there was the somewhat more eventful Rhine journey and death music from "Twilight of the Gods."

Preceding and following this were excerpts from "The Flying Dutchman," "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg," "Lohengrin," "The Valkyrie," and "Tannhäuser."

No reporter who has developed a grasp of the obvious could fail to note the suitability of the music to the surroundings amid which it was played. Wagner wrote more outdoor music than any other major composer, and such a windy, spume laden piece as the "Flying Dutchman" overture found in the cold night sky a better roof than any concert hall could provide.

The overture was adequately performed, with the conductor putting a satisfactory amount of thunder and lightning into the stormier sequences and presenting the naïve, dancey little theme with the lightness it deserved.

The spaciousness and the sense of dignified doom which characterize the excerpts from "Twilight of the Gods" were fairly well realized and projected, but it was not until "The Mastersingers of Nuremberg" was reached that the musicians displayed the urgent, eloquent kind of playing that can shatter a listener's reserve.

Here the solo violin of John Weicher spoke with an extraordinary purity of tone and beauty of inflection. Mr. Weicher, the orchestra's concertmaster, was heard in the Prize Song, which was programmed separately, as if Wagner did not put enough of the song's melody into the overture. When the overture was reached, the orchestra presented it with considerable verve and with that lordly quality which its type of inspiration demands.

A high point of the program's second half was the "Lohengrin" prelude. Mr. Defauw gave some of its finer phrases intoxicatingly beautiful contours.

Women in War Work

By Dorothy Johnson

Rehabilitation, hospital, and Americanism committees of the ladies' auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars, meeting thru today in the Hotel Sherman in its 31st national encampment, yesterday made annual reports at two business sessions.

Mrs. Margaret Leitner of Okarche, Okla., national auxiliary rehabilitation chairman, announced that $133,166 was expended by her committee during the year on its relief and service work among disabled veterans and the families of deceased veterans. These contributions included donations to the American Red Cross, the Y. W. C. A., army and navy relief organizations, the United Service Organizations, and community charities.

In addition to supporting the veterans' service and rehabilitation program of the V. F. W., the auxiliary conducts its own rehabilitation work in communities in which its 3,000 chapters are situated.

Mrs. Bertha Jalbert of Pawtucket, R. I., national hospital chairman, reported that her department spent $457,352 on hospital work in behalf of disabled veterans of both world wars and their needy families.

Gifts to hospitalized service men constituted the major part of the committee's expenditures during the year, Mrs. Jalbert said. Gifts included cigarets, tobacco, stamps, writing paper, games, books, magazines, and personal necessities.

The Americanism committee, headed by Eleanor J. Percival of Norfolk, Va., last year distributed 34,170 pieces of literature, sponsored 1,000 programs and 307 radio broadcasts, held 461 classes for aliens, in which it helped to prepare citizenship papers, and presented 4,277 flags to various institutions.

Shirley Anne Davis, 18, of Des Moines, Ia., yesterday was awarded $1,000 and a gold medal for the best essay on the subject, "Unity for Peace," in the ninth annual high school essay contest sponsored by the auxiliary.

Shirley Anne Davis.

The auxiliary's war service committee, headed by Mrs. Bessie Hanken of Revere, Mass., held a rally last night in the grand ballroom of the Sherman, which was attended by women in uniform as well as members of the auxiliary. A war bond sales campaign for the purchase of an ambulance plane was one of the features of the rally, at which Margaret S. Banister, chief of the women's interests' section of the war department, spoke on "Women in the War."

Mrs. Mary Frances Hill of Philadelphia, Pa., national president of the American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., brought greetings from her organization to the auxiliary's morning session yesterday. Engaged in patriotic projects and hospital work, the mothers' principal interest is the perpetuation in the public mind of their sons' sacrifices in this and the last war.

The Gold Star Mothers have 4,000 members who lost sons in World War I., and more than 900 who have enrolled so far in the present conflict. The organization, founded in 1927, has three major departments, in New York, Massachusetts, and Michigan, with national headquarters in the New Colonial hotel in Washington, D. C. Most of the membership, scattered thruout the United States, is classified as members-at-large, unaffiliated with chapters.

Urges Pepper Price Be Boosted Enough to Relieve Shortage

The spice industry in Chicago believes a reasonable raise in the price of pepper would not affect the cost of living and would be a means of relieving the present pepper shortage, J. Bosley Bond, president of the Wixon Spice company, said yesterday after a meeting in the Palmer House in which representatives of the industry conferred with Fletcher H. Long of the special commodities branch of the war food administration's office of distribution.

Bond calculated that, on the basis of supplies available, a raise of 5 cents a pound would add only fourtenths of a cent per person to the cost of living.

Supplies of pepper sufficient for about two years are available, he said. The difficulty is the office of price administration 6½ cents a pound ceiling. D. T. Gunning, president of American Spice Mills, Inc., earlier explained that companies holding pepper supplies cannot afford to sell it at the current ceiling because of expenses incurred for insurance and storage.

Mrs. Fulton's brother, Lt. John Andrews King Jr., is a little more fortunate, for he is stationed with the army here in Chicago. He was promoted recently to a first lieutenant.

Looking at Hollywood

—By Hedda Hopper—

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Aug. 23.—The $64 question will soon become the $500 question. Here's the dope: Spencer Tracy starred in "The Seventh Cross." In it he escaped from a German prison camp. Tracy's double is so much like him that only Spencer's mother can tell them apart. So Tracy's double will soon begin a tour of seven cities, starting in San Francisco, then going on to Denver, Boston, New York, Washington, and three others. In each city he'll parade the business section, and the one who recognizes him first gets $500. If no one does, the money is doubled in the next city, and so on. This was all thought up by Howard Strickling. Besides being a wonderful stunt, it may make people a bit more observant. I recall the time, at the beginning of the war, when a newsman here dressed as a German, walked the streets of Hollywood, and no one even turned around to look at him.

Out of This World—in a Bustle Dress!

Norma Shearer, Connie Bennett, Simone Simon, Mrs. Ray Milland, Mrs. Bill Powell, Bubbles Schinasi, and several hundred more ladies all forgot it was the hottest day of the year, while o-ing and ah-ing over Adrian's new bustle dresses. He had only two of them, and they were so feminine. One is for evening, in powder blue lace, and its wearer would get a new beau even if she were a grandmother. Then there's a "conversation piece"—a suit in gaily colored squares done in sequins. Looks like the fireworks at the world's fair.

Has Her Work Cut Out.

Paulette Goddard does the Bob Hope picture before going to England. Over there she'll tour the country in a jeep, stopping by camps to say hello to the fellows. And it will all be put on the screen for the British government. . . . Mrs. Bob Hope has moved in from Malibu to be here when Bob arrives. . . . With Myrna Loy and John Hertz Jr. it's all over—and the shouting, too. When she left here to go to Mexico to get the divorce, she hadn't yet received his signature, so necessary on the papers. She was scared that the story would leak out, in which case he might not have signed them.

Our Loss—and We Feel It Keenly.

Tommy Treanor has gone, but he lived up to the standard he had set for himself—getting the best news and getting it first for his paper. . . . Ruby Schinasi leaves at week's end for New York and a serious operation. . . . Ambitious Constance Bennett, besides becoming a producer, will open a dress shop this fall. . . . Katherine Dayton, who wrote "The First Lady" which starred Jane Cowl, is being paged to write the dialog for "Paris Underground." Louis Verneuil, whose wife is the granddaughter of Sarah Bernhardt, is doing the screenplay. . . . Gary Cooper dedicated the new theater for 3,000 WAVES at Hunter college, New York, with "Casanova Brown." He spent the following day at Mitchel field hospital, talking with men wounded in Normandy.

These Are Busy Days for Bette.

Bette Davis will have only four days between "The Corn Is Green," which finishes Sept. 12, and "Stolen Life," with Jack Chertok producing and Curt Bernhardt directing. Her part in this will be that of a glamorous, sophisticated, up-to-date girl—quite a change from the middle-aged schoolmarm in "Corn." The red wig she wore for the part goes among her souvenirs along with her scripts, because it saved her neck when the lamp fell on her head. . . . Walter Huston gets the part of the captain in "Flat Top" which promises to be one of the best parts of his career. It's the story written by Capt. Harvey S. Haislip, about an aircraft carrier brought into a naval repair base, and will be produced by Ralph Wheelwright.

Beginning Early; at 6, in Fact.

Hollywood's youngest casting director is 6 year old Carol Thomas, who solved papa Bill Thomas' problem of finding a four year old to play in "Dangerously Yours." Carol chose her playmate, Gwendolyn Weiner, and Bill hired her. . . . Hugh Harmon, pioneer in the field of animation, is releasing a new book this year called "The Clown Who Came Out of the Inkwell," a history of the animated cartoon. . . . Sonja Henie, rehearsing an ice scene for "It's a Pleasure," fell and knocked herself out. When she came to, she looked up at Director Bill Seiter and said, "Bill let's do the bedroom scene now, with me in bed!" . . . Jean Wallace [Mrs. Franchot Tone] is testing for the lead in "Bon Voyage," the story of a white collar girl, taken from the book "Tower of Strength" by Joseph E. Laurence. Jean was discovered at the Bliss-Hayden theater the other night when she played in "Stage Door." Twentieth Century's talent scout rushed back to the lot with the news that he had a new discovery—Jean Wallace. After checking, they found she was already under contract to the studio.

4 hearts	4 spades.	5 hearts	[all pass]

West, holding control of the trump suit with the well guarded king, opened his singleton club, intending to put East in later with a diamond and ruff a club return for the setting trick. Declarer, winning with the club jack, had little trouble visualizing West's insidious plan, and not much more trouble in nipping it in the bud. He laid down the heart ace, then led his singleton spade and finessed with the queen. The spade ace was then cashed for one diamond discard, and declarer's next move was to lead the spade ten and give the trick to West, discarding the last diamond from the closed hand. After that West could win nothing but the heart king—the club ruff could not be negotiated because East could not be put on lead.

Obviously, an original diamond lead would have defeated the contract, but West's selection was by no means illogical, and it probably would have had the desired result against 99 declarers in 100.

Almost every one who likes to eat enjoys stuffed green peppers now and then. Peppers may be filled with any edible mixture from leftover meats or vegetables to freshly prepared shrimps.

Usually one pepper is allowed for each serving. If you have oversized peppers, however, it is often possible to split them from stem to stern and use each half as a container for one portion.

Buy peppers of even size, and squatty ones, rather than tall ones, which are too much inclined to fall over when you get them on the dinner plate. See that they have a fairly broad base so that with little or no trimming they'll sit upright.

Remove the tops of the peppers and take out seeds. Tops may be chopped and added to the filling, or baked as covers for the stuffed peppers. If they are used as covers, they should be removed for the last part of the baking period, so that the filling may brown on top.

Parboil peppers for 5 minutes, or steam them a few minutes to start the cooking. Then fill them with your choice of stuffing and bake in a moderate oven. The pan in which the peppers are placed should have a small amount of water in it—just enough to cover the bottom.

Serve baked stuffed peppers with or without a sauce. Tomato sauce usually is the choice, altho mushroom sauce and cheese sauce are popular too.

Stuffed Pepper Dinner.
[Serves four.]

4 green peppers
1 tablespoon chopped onion
1 tablespoon melted fat
1 tablespoon flour
1 cup tomatoes
1½ teaspoons sugar
¾ teaspoon salt [or more]
1 cup corn cut from cob
¾ cup cooked spaghetti, macaroni or rice
¾ pound bulk sausage.

Parboil peppers, drain. Cook onion in fat, blend in flour, and add tomatoes. Cook until thickened. Add seasoning, corn, and spaghetti. Stuff peppers and cover each with a small, flat cake of sausage. Place in greased baking dish with ¼ cup water and bake at 350 degrees for about 45 minutes.

Shrimp Stuffed Peppers.
[Serves four.]

4 green peppers of even size
1 cup cooked shrimps, broken in pieces
1 tablespoon fat
1 tablespoon minced onion
¾ cup finely chopped mushrooms or ripe olives
1 fresh tomato, chopped
1 teaspoon minced parsley
¾ cup soft bread crumbs
Salt, pepper
Cheese sauce.

Parboil peppers. Chop the tops; cook several minutes in fat with the minced onion. Combine shrimp with sauteed pepper and onion, mushrooms, tomato, parsley, and crumbs. Add salt and pepper to taste, and possibly a sprinkle of basil if you have the dried herb at hand. Stuff peppers and brush over with melted bacon fat or other shortening. Place in a casserole dish with a little water in the bottom of it, and bake in a 350 degree oven about 20 minutes, or until thoroly hot and lightly browned. Serve with cheese sauce.

A Twin Buggy and 2 Tricycles Sought by Sally

[Activities of the Sally Joy Brown department are sponsored by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc.]

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

We appreciate the fact that tricycles are difficult to obtain, but hope that if any reader has one stored away it will be donated for one of the many needy children who could enjoy it.

Mrs. M. is providing foster home care for two little boys, ages 4 and 5. They are the only children in the neighborhood who have no tricycles and plead constantly with the other children for rides. The mother will be glad to call anywhere, if some reader can provide a tricycle.

Mrs. A. has had to depend upon a public agency for support. She is the mother of two boys. The eldest has a birthday coming and has begged for a tricycle. It is impossible for the mother to obtain one on her income, but a discarded tricycle would provide great happiness for both the mother and the child.

A case worker has requested a twin buggy for a very deserving family. Altho there are 11 children in the family, the youngsters are always neat and clean and given good care. The youngest children are twins, 8 months old. It would be impossible for the family to purchase a buggy for them, tho it would be a great convenience.

Tin Cans Still Going to War; More Needed

Flattened tin cans are being shipped to the detinning mill at East Chicago every three days and any tin cans piled up in the public dumps are only awaiting a truck to take them to the railroad loading platform, Mrs. Walter Kelly said yesterday. She is chairman of the grease and tin can salvage committee for the local office of civilian defense.

"Tin is one of our most important salvage items," said Mrs. Kelly. "If you see tin cans piled up in a dump near a street don't get the idea that no one appreciates the patriotic work you did in cutting out the ends and flattening the cans."

As the result of Mrs. Kelly's suggestion every city garbage truck carries a separate box labeled "Prepared tin cans going to war." At the dumps the salvage work is taken over by James J. Creed, superintendent of refuse disposal. His trucks collect the dumped piles of cans every three days and pile 40,000 pounds onto a gondola at one of his railroad loading stations.

"We've shipped 370 full carloads from Chicago in two years," said Mr. Creed. "But the rate is going down. In July we loaded eight or nine cars and this month it probably will be only five or six."

William M. Scanlan, regional salvage manager for the war production board, joined Mrs. Kelly and Mr. Creed in urging that every housewife rescue, prepare, and flatten every tin can.

"The city's showing has been good, but not good enough," Mr. Scanlan said. "Tin is our scarcest metal."

If the tin cans start to rust at the dumps it really is a good thing, Mrs. Kelly explained. A little rust softens them and makes them easier to handle by the Metal and Thermit corporation, whose East Chicago plant does all the detinning in this region. Some coast detinners can shred unprepared cans, but Metal and Thermit must receive them opened and flattened. Also it can't handle truckloads, which means that Creed must give the tin a railroad ride.

It is the steel in the cans that rusts, not the tin. Metal and Thermit pays $12 a ton, f. o. b., for prepared cans to Mrs. Kelly's OCD committee. The tin, precious since the Japs took over Malayan mines at the start of the war, is only a wee part of the can, and the steel remainder is also bundled up and sent to war plants.

"The truckers are doing a wonderful job and we are using every tin can flattened and left beside a garbage can," Mrs. Kelly said.

White Collar GIRL

BY RUTH MAC KAY

In Retrospect.

Many's the moon that waxed and waned,
Many's the star that fell,
Many's the season come and gone
Since I once loved you well.

Often your letters I've reread,
Often I've been quite blue,
Often I've asked myself each day,
What did I see in you?

CULLIE.

Happy Birthday.

A woman who holds a responsible position with one of our top ranking companies sends along a series of notes and verses [homemade variety, complete with slick drawings] which greeted her one day last week. They were from the girls in her department and she forwards them with this comment: "Thought you would be interested to see how a 'Lady Boss' fares on her birthday. When I came down in the morning a sign on the door proclaimed the event, and in the office further greetings met my eye wherever I turned. We had birthday coffee cake with one candle—as my age is one of the unknown quantities! Thruout the morning and afternoon small gifts kept appearing, and at the end of the day a lovely compact arrived from all the girls in my department. It truly was a thrill to find that at least one lady boss is loved by her white collar girls!"

Here's a tip I'll pass on: If rings are left by the cleaning fluid, I find that in most cases I can steam them out. And if a chocolate stain gets on a rug I find lukewarm water is the best to use in removing it.

Wise Guidance of 5 Year Old Often Effective

[Copyright: 1944: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

"Do you remember how friendly Billy used to be and how quickly he did what he was told?" asked his mother. "Well, that has all suddenly changed, and he's become shy with strangers. But this shyness takes a strange form and he does the most unexpected things—leaps about the room, turns hand springs on the rug, or makes gruesome noises. And his idea of what constitutes obedience rarely coincides with mine."

"How old is Billy, now?" I asked.

"O, he was 5 years old four months ago," was the prompt reply. "He is going to school, and he comes home with a lot of wrong words and phrases, and he seems possessed to use them.

"I suppose he'll lose some of these faults, and gain others, but I'd like to know how best to manage so that this 'phase' will pass as painlessly as possible," she finished.

It is a tremendous help to know, and, I might add, disadvantageous not to know, what changes to expect in our children as they grow out of babyhood.

The fifth birthday is a sort of turning point, perhaps not at 5 exactly, but in that general neighborhood. At that time small boys, more than small girls, I think, appall their mothers with the most obstreperous kind of behavior. Aghast, their parents see them show off in the most embarrassing manner. And the presence of admiring guests simply goes to their heads.

They have become so well able to take care of themselves physically that they get decidedly cocky, and seem selfish, but they are really just temporarily absorbed in self [quite a different matter at this age, and one thru which many parents have to live].

When children are going thru this period of shyness and self-consciousness, it is best not to ask them to perform before guests or relatives. Just let them alone, in a friendly way.

Especially where the 5 year old has younger sisters or brothers, it is wise to embark upon a constructive or positive campaign of management. Friendliness, praise, and fact are needed to offset the correcting and restricting that you find is necessary. And, I might add, the art of overlooking—not pointing up his every disturbing act—will help you and him thru this period.

A cunning small sister, for instance, may easily become a thorn in his side, if she is admired and "cooed over" too much in his presence. Let him feel that he retains his own particular place in your affections.

"KANSAS CITY KITTY."

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

"Kansas City Kitty" should delight Joan Davis' fans because she's all over the piece like a rash.

This is a farce, quite pure and very simple. Polly Jasper [Miss Davis] has a learn-to-play-the-piano-by-ear-in-six-easy-lessons school located just across the street from the office of her dentist boy friend, Dr. Talbot [Erik Rolf]. Next door is a music publishing house run by two discouraged souls [Tim Ryan and Emmett Keane] who want to sell the business on account of there isn't any. . . .

The much ado about music features much hilarious and ofttimes quite amusing incident. Miss Davis clowns in her familiar fashion, and she has excellent support—going out of my way to mention Tim Ryan. The movie was directed with sympathetic screwiness.

Songs you may like are "Kansas City Kitty," "Tico, Tico, No Fuba," "Nothing Boogie from Nowhere," and "Pretty Kitty Blue Eyes."

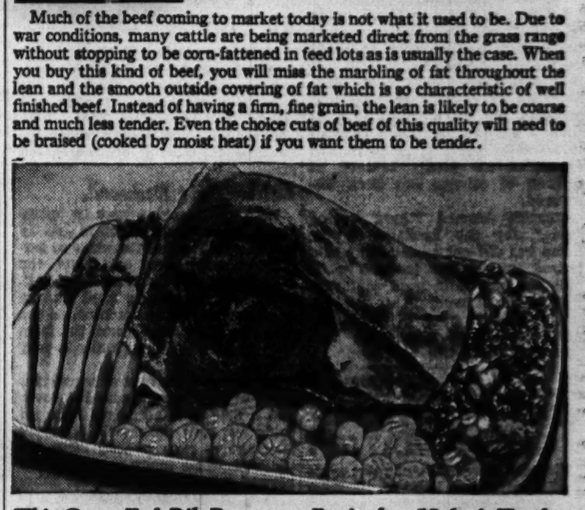
CHANGE COOKING METHOD FOR TODAY'S BEEF

Much of the beef coming to market today is not what it used to be. Due to war conditions, many cattle are being marketed direct from the grass range without stopping to be corn-fattened in feed lots as is usually the case. When you buy this kind of beef, you will miss the marbling of fat throughout the lean and the smooth outside covering of fat which is so characteristic of well finished beef. Instead of having a firm, fine grain, the lean is likely to be coarse and much less tender. Even the choice cuts of beef of this quality will need to be braised (cooked by moist heat) if you want them to be tender.



This Grass-Fed Rib Roast was Braised to Make it Tender

Wipe meat with clean, damp cloth, season well by sprinkling with salt and pepper. Heat 2 tbsp. bacon drippings or lard in a heavy iron or aluminum kettle or roaster with a tight fitting cover, and brown the meat well on all sides. Spread top side (cut surface) with a thin layer of Wilson's B-V to add a good meat flavor which is so often lacking in grass-fed beef, and sprinkle a quarter-inch layer of finely chopped (not ground) suet over the meat to help make it more juicy. Add ½ cup hot water, cover tightly and simmer over a low flame or put in a slow oven, 300° F., and cook until meat is tender—4 to 5 hours for a 3 to 5 lb. roast. More hot water may need to be added in small amounts from time to time as liquid evaporates. Turn meat when cooking period is half through and spread B-V on the other side too, transferring the suet to this side also. Just before serving, remove meat from pan, skim off excess fat, add water and thicken with flour to make gravy.

Clip Directions Here

OTHER METHODS OF MAKING MEAT TENDER

Using an acid such as tomatoes as the liquid in braising helps to tenderize meat. Grinding, pounding and freezing meat also help to make it more tender.

The fat which is marbled through the muscle of prime quality beef makes the meat more juicy when cooked and also more tender. This fat marbling which is so desirable is not present in grass-fed cattle. To make up for this, spread suet over the top of the meat as noted above. In case of a chunky piece of meat, the dealer might lard it if time permits—that is, insert many thin strips of suet or pork fat through the meat with a larding needle. As the meat heats, the fat melts, making the meat juicy.

Thanks to Wilson's B-V, you can also add flavor to this grass-fed meat . . . mix B-V right through ground meat or add it to the cooking water for stews.

Cooking Time Varies

Cooking time for braising varies with the size of the piece of meat and its original tenderness. A thick piece of grass-fed meat requires about 4 to 5 hours for a 3 to 5 lb. roast; a 1½ to 2½ inch steak should be tender in 2½ to 3½ hours, while 1½ to 2 hours are sufficient for a ¾ inch steak.

Grass-fed beef, if coated with Wilson's B-V and cooked slowly with moist heat, develops tenderness and a good flavor and, luckily, it contains all of the high quality proteins, minerals and vitamins of choice meat.

Sincerely,
George Rector

U. S. PUTS TORCH TO HEMP, GROWN AS WAR PRODUCT

Losses Are Estimated at Million Dollars.

BY GAIL COMPTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Polo, Ill., Aug. 23.—Clouds of white smoke mark thousands of dollars' worth of government owned hemp being burned near here because it spoiled before it could be processed into fiber for making rope. Farmers who grew it in response to federal plea for hemp to help the war are embittered over the waste.

Plant employes declared today 30 per cent of the 1943 crop at Polo, which now is being converted to fiber, rotted and spoiled in the field because it was not stacked properly. They estimated 3,100 tons of hemp, for which the government paid between $30 and $50 a ton, have been lost.

Stacking of the hemp was a responsibility of the plant management under contracts signed with farmers. The contracts provided the farmers were to deliver the hemp to the plant, where the management was to stack it. In some cases, it was said, this procedure was followed, and in others, because of shortage of help at the plant, the farmers themselves stacked the hemp under plant supervision.

42 Plants Erected.

The hemp is being raised by farmers because the war cut off imports of rope making materials. The government hemp program is directed by the war hemp industries, a subsidiary of the Defense Plants corporation.

To extract the fiber from the hemp stalks, the government last year hastily erected 42 plants thruout the country at a cost of more than $100,000 each.

Farmers around Polo who are watching their crop go up in smoke spoke bitterly about the waste. Altho they have been paid a good price for their hemp by the government, they feel their patriotic efforts have been betrayed.

Rains Blamed for Spoilage.

Officials of the war hemp industries declared the hemp plants in the country had experienced losses averaging between 5 and 10 per cent this year. With each plant handling an average of 7,500 tons of hemp, the loss amounts to more than a million dollars. Officials said spoiled hemp is being burned at all of the plants because no method of salvage has been discovered.

Officials blamed "hard spring rains" for the spoilage of the hemp but did not explain why rain caused some stacks to spoil while others remained in good condition.

With the 42 hemp plants completing their first year of work, the government has announced two-thirds of them will be closed.

2 ADMIT GUILT IN JEWEL THEFT; GET PROBATION

Bernard Brewer, 30, of rural route 2, Elmhurst, a Railway Express agency freight router at the airport, and William Furie, 39, of 2106 Thomas st., owner of a second hand jewelry store at 606 S. State st., were placed on 18 months' probation yesterday when they pleaded guilty before Federal Judge Michael L. Igoe to charges of stealing and receiving merchandise from an interstate shipment.

Assistant United States Atty. George G. Kelly told the court that Brewer took 349 uncut diamonds and 18 rings, with a total value of $4,450, while they were being transferred from one plane to another, and sold them to Furie.

The prosecutor said that full restitution had been made by the two defendants.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

ANOTHER new farm implement is being tested at the Wheaton farm. This is a special manure loader built for the small farm tractor. Its size makes it possible to work inside the low ceiling cattle barn, a feat impossible before this.

Only two of the implements have been manufactured, so interested farmers are asked to curb their desire for one until after the war.

Barn Cleaning Simplified.

The machine consists of a large series of tines, much like a big manure fork, hitched to the back of the tractor and operated by the tractor motor. Behind the tines is a sheet of metal that can slide backward and forward over the top of the tines.

In operation, the tractor drops the tines to floor level and backs into the manure pile, scooping up from 200 to 300 pounds at a time. Shift of a gear elevates the tines with their load to wagon height. Another gear shift, and the metal plate moves forward, pushing the manure off into the wagon.

Farmer Faces Tough Job.

A common practice on most midwest farms is to bed the steers down each day with several fresh bales of straw thrown over the floor of the cattle barn. As a rule, this straw accumulates with manure thruout the entire feeding period, for the farmers do not clean out the barn.

After the cattle are shipped, the farmer is faced with the back breaking job of digging out three or four solid feet of matted manure and straw. This always has been a long and arduous task that is necessary because of the value of decomposed straw.

Labor Time Reduced.

With the machine now in operation at the farm, the job is greatly simplified. It takes the place of several fork wielders and cuts the time of the job by more than half. Close watch is being kept on the performance of the machine, as the manufacturers have asked the farm to help iron out any kinks it may possess.

In answer to the federal request for crops of legume seed, a field of clover and a field of alfalfa have been set aside for seed purposes. A severe shortage of legume seed faces the nation because many pastures were plowed up to make room for other crops. A bonus of $3.50 an acre and from 1½ to 3½ cents a pound for clean seed will be paid to farmers by the government. The combine, with special attachments, will be used for the harvesting job.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

LEAF lettuce, head lettuce, and radishes are the three most practical vegetables for fall planting in outdoor hotbeds, but root crops such as carrots and beets also can be seeded now for harvest in late October.

If the hotbed soil is well fertilized, these two root crops can be planted in rows 7 to 9 inches apart, leaving just enough space to draw a hand weeder between the rows for cultivating. The seedlings must be thinned just as in normal gardening, leaving at least an inch between carrots and 2 to 3 inches between beets.

The gardener planted Touchon carrots in the Wheaton farm hotbed last season and found they grew successfully. They mature in 70 days outdoors, but take about 80 days in a hotbed. Detroit dark red beets, which mature in 60 days also were grown in the hotbed last season and harvested in early November.

AMERICA CUTS POULTRY LOSSES TO GAIN FOOD

A concentrated drive by health and other agencies trying to stimulate war time meat and egg production was able last year, the first in more than a decade, to achieve a reduction in adult poultry losses. This accomplishment was reported yesterday at the 81st annual convention of the American Veterinary Medical association in the Palmer House. It was achieved despite a shortage of feed that caused an increase of nutritional disease in the nation's poultry flocks.

The delegates were told by the committee on poultry disease that mortality was cut from 19.6 per cent to 16.2 per cent, thus saving millions of fowls and their eggs for America's tables.

The convention, which ends today, also was told of work done for conquest of a virulent swine disease known as necrotic enteritis. This was carried on by Doctors Robert Graham, E. H. Peterson, C. C. Morrill, H. J. Hardenbrook, G. E. Whitmore, and P. D. Beamer, veterinarians attached to the department of animal pathology and hygiene at the University of Illinois.

FOX RIVER INN, HELP ALL GONE, BANISHES MEALS

The Baker hotel in St. Charles, a Fox river valley show place for 20 years, will discontinue serving meals after tomorrow night; there is no help to cook them, serve them, or wash the dishes, Ernest J. Brown, manager, said last night. Brown said Col. Edward J. Baker, millionaire sportsman and owner of the hotel, instructed him to close the dining room and grill until help can be employed. Brown has been washing dishes and doing other kitchen chores in recent weeks. Government regulations make it impossible to pay hotel employes wages to compete with other employers, he said.

WOMAN PUT ON PROBATION.

Mrs. Metta Kottwitz, 50, of 5913 Peoria st., mother of six children, two in the army, was placed on six months' probation yesterday by Judge John Zuris in the South Chicago police court on a charge of stealing a $19.98 dress from a department store.

GEORGIE DRUM TAKES $16,800 SHERIDAN MILE

Equifox 2d in Mud at Washington.

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN.

Georgie Drum, the pride of the Pacific northwest, yesterday added Washington Park's historic $16,800 Sheridan handicap to his list of midwestern couquests. The 5 year old Allen Drumheller gelding, winner of the $50,000 Stars and Stripes handicap earlier in the meeting, triumphed by a length and a quarter over Howard Wells' Equifox in a field of five in the mile event.

John Marsch's Valdina Foe, given little consideration until an overnight rainfall left the track a strip of mud, finished third as Georgie Drum and Equifox passed him in the last sixteenth after following him all the way around. Coward and Dupuy's Appleknocker, one of the favorites, was fourth, and Clyde Troutt's Take Wing, fifth.

Valdina Foe Sets Early Pace.

The winner, ridden by Charley Corbett, paid $5.80, $3 and $2.20 across the board. Equifox, with Al Bodiou up, returned $4.80 and $3, and Valdina Foe, piloted by Otto Grohs, returned $2.60 for the show.

Valdina Foe went to the front at the start and opened up a three length lead over Appleknocker with Georgie Drum running third, Take Wing fourth, and Equifox last.

As they went into the stretch turn Valdina Foe's lead had been cut to a length and half with Appleknocker still in second place, but Georgie Drum made his move and as the pack came out of the turn the Marsch thorobred still was on top but fading fast as Groh stuck to the heavy going on the rail.

In midstretch Equifox passed Valdina Foe as Georgie Drum took command to win going away.

Victory Worth $11,300.

Georgie Drum's victory was worth $11,300 to the Walla Walla, Wash., sportsman, while Equifox earned $3,000 for second money and Valdina Foe $1,500 for third. The winner's time for the mile event, first run in 1884, was 1:40.

The Sheridan's supporting feature, the $3,000 Dinah Did Upset handicap, went to C. C. Tanner's Best Effort which scored by three lengths over Marion Brink's Foreign Agent in a field of six 2 year olds at five and one-half furlongs. The Northway stud's Quick Reward was third. Best Effort, ridden by Otto Grohs, was coupled with Wise Admiral as the Tanner entry and paid $5.20 for a $2 win ticket.

Woolf to Ride By Jimminy.

Yesterday's daily double was worth $52.50 when E. J. Powell's Caroline Ann took the first race and W. W. Crenshaw's Powdered Milk the second. Caroline Ann, ridden by McCreary, paid $4. Bobby Campbell booted in Powdered Milk at $15.20.

Georgie [The Iceman] Woolf will be aboard Alfred Parker's By Jimminy in the $50,000 added American Derby Saturday, seeking his third consecutive triumph in the historic Washington Park stake event. The 35 year old Canadian born jockey, long one of the nation's best, won with Alsab in 1942 and Askmenow last year.

Should Woolf bring in the fleet easern colt, he will become the second rider to win three times, the great Negro jockey, Isaac Murphy, having scored on four occasions before the turn of the century. Murphy rode the filly Modesty to victory in the first running of the Derby in 1884.

Pensive to Be Top Weighted.

Conditions of the race require Calumet farm's Pensive, Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner, to shoulder top weight of 126 pounds Saturday while By Jimminy gets in with 122. Conn McCreary, Warren Wright's contract rider, will be up on Pensive.

Other probable starters, with the exception of the fillies, Calumet's Miss Keeneland and Hyman Friedberg's Harriet Sue, will carry 118 pounds. The fillies are assessed 113.

The Dearborn stable's Nelson Dunstan, figured to be the horse to beat, will be ridden by Paul Keiper, and R. W. McIlvane's Old Kentucky, another respected starter, will have Al Bodiou in the saddle. There are nine 3 year olds listed as probable starters in the Derby, which will be worth $64,650 to the winner.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 23.—The currently depressed Cubs were courageous enough to barge into a brawl with the pace setting Cardinals tonight and the inevitable happened. The present and repeating champions conducting themselves as if they didn't realize there was opposition on the moth eaten field, frolicked thru nine innings to plaster the awed tourists with an 11 to beating. It was the 12th straight time this season the titleholders have dealt similar treatment to the Chicagoans.

The Cards, probably wishing to prolong their perfect 1944 record against the Cubs, didn't seem to mind what was thrown at them in the shape of pitchers. They treated Bob Chipman, the lefty, to such a royal jousting that he disappeared in the fifth with five runs chalked against his act. In the next inning they really opened up by scoring five in a bunch off Paul Erickson and Ed Hanyzewski. What little they accomplished thereafter was Japhet Lynn's affair.

No. 18 for Coope

While the various Cub pitchers were being subjected to the various indignities, Mort Cooper was enjoying a nice quiet evening. The only Cub who did anything worth mentioning while the portly right hander was fashioning his 18th success as well as the Cards' 15th in their last 17 games, was Stan Hack who blew himself to the extent of four hits. One of these was a double which was linked up with a single by Don Johnson and Phil Cavarretta's fly to lift the Cubs out of the shutout class.

The Cubs had to wait only until the Cards' half of the first inning to get an idea they probably were in for their 14th defeat in 19 games. Chipman walked Johnny Hopp and Stan Musial singled him to third from where he scored on an infield out. The next outbreak came in the fourth which opened with a pass to Whitey Kurowski and a safe bunt by Danny Litwhiler. Mort Cooper singled them home after Emil Verban had sacrificed.

Goodman Collides with Wall.

Walker Cooper provided the two run hilarity in the fifth. After Hopp had walked, the catching half of the Cooper pair banged a fly against the wall in left center. Ival Goodman momentarily dazed himself by running into the concrete and by the time a helper had recovered the ball, Cooper had circled the bases. Paul Erickson finished the inning with dispatch, but his treatment came soon thereafter. A single by Verban, pass to George Fallon and triple by Hopp, scored two of the five runs. Two more singles brought Hanyzewski to the rescue, but as soon as he walked one, allowed a single and hit one, Lynn was summoned. He yielded the last run in the seventh on singles by Fallon and W. Cooper.

And hope is high in every heart
That peace will soon be here.

But we can hope, and we can dream,
And, also, we can pray.

LUCKMAN'S AIM GOOD AS EVER, DRILL PROVES

Sid Aids Winners in Bears' Scrimmage.

BY EDWARD PRELL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Collegeville, Ind., Aug. 23.—The Chicago Bears this afternoon reached the peak in their preparations for next Wednesday night's battle with the College All-Stars in Evanston. After a two hour scrimmage the Blacks, bolstered by Ensign Sid Luckman, once again had asserted their superiority with a 32 to 7 triumph over the Whites. Last week the Blacks won, 19 to 0.

Luckman appeared his usual sharp self as he divided the quarter back assignment with Johnny Long, but little Ray [Scooter] McLean drew the biggest cheer from a handful of spectators from Collegeville and Rensselaer when he made a weaving 50 yard run for the final score of the afternoon.

Score Two on Passes.

The Blacks scored three touchdowns while Luckman was operating at quarter back and two while Long was in command. Sid pitched one scoring aerial, a high one from the 15 yard line to Jim Benton, who took it over the goal. Long made one scoring toss to Connie Mack Berry. Gary Famiglietti drove for the first Black score from the 2 yard line and Ray Nolting took a lateral from Luckman, then dashed 45 yards for a touchdown.

The Whites made their only score just before the half ended. After Tipp Mooney had recovered McLean's fumble Bill Glenn passed to Doug McEnulty from the 11. McEnulty was the most effective runner for the losers.

A Snake Stops Game!

Both lines were somewhat sluggish and could not offer the weather as an excuse, for it was nippy, with the sun and clouds playing hide and seek. Most important, from the coaches' angle, was an absence of injuries, tho the Blacks' forward line almost fainted en masse in the third quarter when the Whites were only 4 yards from a score. All of a sudden the Blacks yelled for time out and one of their number timidly kicked a garter snake off the playing field. This interruption was a life saver for the Blacks, who not only held but threw their opponents back to the 25.

In post-scrimmage analysis the Bears' board of strategy agreed that it was a spotty demonstration, but one which, on the whole, was satisfactory. At the beginning of the skirmish neither group was capable of stopping the other one. There were many missed assignments, as was expected. From now until Wednesday the big job will be to correct mistakes which developed today, work on defensive strategy against the All-Stars, and get the players keyed for the contest.

All-Stars Get Chance Today to Shine as Luncheon Guests

BY WILFRID SMITH.

[ALL-STAR ROSTER ON NEXT PAGE.]

The All-Star football squad members will be the guests of the Junior Association of Commerce of Chicago at luncheon today in the Morrison hotel. This annual luncheon for the college players and their coaches is their only official appearance prior to the game with the Chicago Bears in Dyche stadium next Wednesday night.

The luncheon, which first was sponsored by the Chicago Interfraternity club in 1934, always has been Chicago's welcome to the intercollegiate athletes from all parts of the country. In recent years, the Junior Association of Commerce has expanded the luncheon until it has become a highlight on Chicago's sports program and signals the beginning of each football season.

They'll Talk About—Football!

As usual, the program will be informal and brief introductions impromptu. Arch Ward, sports editor of THE TRIBUNE, will introduce Lynn Waldorf of Northwestern, head coach of the All-Stars, and the assistant coaches, A. N. [Bo] McMillin, Indiana; Henry Frnka, Tulsa; Jeff Cravath, Southern California, and Wes Fry, Northwestern's backfield coach. There can be no outline for the coaches' remarks but it is likely that each will report on football in his section. It also may be assumed that the chances of the All-Stars in the game with the Bears will be discussed.

The All-Stars, however, will hold the center of the stage and it will be Coach Waldorf's task to introduce the players individually. If Waldorf should slip in immediate recognition of any of the squad of more than three score, he can depend on Billy Andrews of the University of Texas, the team manager, to be his prompter.

No Practice in Forensics.

Those in charge of the luncheon do not know if any one of the All-Stars is noted as a public speaker—and there has been no practice of this nature at Northwestern—but identification of the Stars will suffice. Lt. Glenn Dobbs of the group which played in the victory over Washington last year; Lt. Bill Hillenbrand and his Indiana university team mates of 1942, Lt. Lou Saban and Lt. Charles Jacoby, and stars from the Pacific Coast, Southwest, Big Six, and Western conferences, head the parade of collegians.

Every section of the nation is represented. The 1944 squad ranges geographically from Frank Gaziano, Holy Cross guard, to Bruno Banducci, Stanford lineman, and from Bill Aldworth, Minnesota tackle, to Steve Van Buren, Louisiana State half back. Ohio State university, with seven members of its 1942 Western conference championship eleven, numerically leads midwest schools.

Four Are from Notre Dame.

Notre Dame, which boasted the 1943 national championship eleven, will be represented by Creighton Miller, leading half back on that team; Pvt. Corwin Clatt, full back for the Irish in 1942; John Yonakor, star end last season, and Bill Huber, who started at end for the All-Stars in last year's game with the Washington Redskins.

The squad drilled twice yesterday at Northwestern, the morning lecture and practice being followed by the usual two hour period on the enclosed field north of the stadium in the afternoon.

SCHNACKENBERG MAY START IN ALL-STAR GAME

Champaign, Ill., Aug. 23 [Special].—Starting lineups for the North-South All-Star High school basketball game here Saturday night began to take shape today in the rival camps.

In the North workouts, the lineup favored by Coach John Krafft of Elgin consists of Dale Bowers, West Rockford, and Paul Schnackenberg, South Shore of Chicago, forwards; Bill Moe, Kewanee, center, and Sam Sauceda and Jack Burmaster, both of Elgin, guards.

Coach Dolph Stanley of Taylorville, South coach, is favoring a lineup of young giants, averaging 6 feet 2 inches in height. This includes as forwards Ron Bontemps, Taylorville, and Jim Marks, Edwardsville; center, Walt Kersulis, East St. Louis, and guards, Lee Markwell, Casey, and John Orr, Taylorville.

DETECTIVE KING VICTOR IN POLICE GOLF TOURNEY

Detective Robert King of the detective bureau shot a low score of 73 to win the Sheriff Mulcahy trophy in the Police golf tournament held at the Glen Eagles club yesterday.

The Commissioner James P. Allman trophy was won by Sgt. Frank McDermott, who scored 70.

68s BY HARMON AND WILLIAMS SET TRIAL PACE

5 Pros Finish Test This Morning.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The old time carnival atmosphere that has distinguished the All-American golf tournaments since their inception will burgeon once more today, when a field of approximately 165 of the country's top professionals, amateurs and women, will set forth on the 72 hole battle for a total prize award of $42,500 in war bonds. They will battle in three separate divisions—26 amateurs, 28 women and upwards of 110 professionals—at the rate of 18 holes a day thru Sunday.

The traditional bloom was in evidence yesterday as the regiment of unexempt professionals played their qualifying round over Tam o' Shanter's well trapped yardage. These were due to tee off at 8 a. m., but the morning's rains detained them until an hour before noon. At a late hour yesterday afternoon, it was questionable as to whether these seekers after places in the big cast would finish their labors.

Five Halted by Darkness.

Finally when darkness halted play only five of the weary band had failed to finish the qualifying trial. This quintet, which signed off after 14 holes, will play the remaining four holes of their test, beginning at 8:30 o'clock this morning, one hour after a number of exempt pros start out. With 77 as the qualifying limit for the tournament proper, two of the five stood an excellent chance of making the championship grade. They were Eddie Held of St. Louis, who was one over par of 72 after 14 holes, and Ray Mangrum of Los Angeles, who was two over.

Several other items, which could happen only at Tam o' Shanter, transpired during the day. One incident was the sudden withdrawal of Lt. Lawson Little of the Hutchinson [Kas.] naval station. Little, former National Amateur and Open champion and father of twin daughters on Tuesday evening, phoned the club yesterday morning to advise officials that he was withdrawing, due to navy orders. It was assumed that Little's unexpected exit was the result of the navy directive.

Lead Shared at 68.

Yesterday's leaders in the battle among the unexempt pros for the 40 places and ties allotted to them in the tournament proper were Henry E. Williams Jr. of Royersford, Pa., and Claude Harmon of Detroit.

Williams, 27 year old war plant worker, who formerly was assistant to his father at the Reading [Pa.] Country club, made one of the fastest finishes in tournament history, firing a burst of consecutive threes on the last three holes. Harmon, 27, former assistant to Ky Laffoon and Harry Cooper at Northmoor, finished two hours after Williams and also put together two 34s for the 68 which matched Williams' effort.

Par, out	453	444	435—36
Williams, out	443	344	435—34
Harmon, out	553	444	334—34
Par, in	534	445	344—36—72
Williams, in	434	455	333—34—68
Harmon, in	444	444	334—34—68

Williamson Second with 70.

Following Williams and Harmon in yesterday's scoring was Bud Williamson, the handsome Hoosier who now is stationed at Lincoln, Neb. Bud fired a 70, thanks to a spell of sharp chipping. Tied at 71 were Chuck Rutan of Detroit and Steve Kovach, the able Pittsburgh steel worker, who is making his debut as a professional in this event.

SOX MOVE INTO CLEVELAND FOR 4 GAME SERIES

Dietrich to Face Harder Tomorrow Night.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Aug. 23.—The White Sox have beaten the Cleveland Indians 12 out of 15 this season and such humiliation shouldn't happen to a dawg. Friday night the teams, both of which straggled in from the east this morning where they perpetrated similar flops on their farewell seaboard tour—each lost 10 and won six—will open a four game series to determine which outfit is going nowhere faster.

Dietrich to Try Again.

As this is written, the White Sox still are in fifth place, but they could be in seventh when the lights are turned out in Cleveland stadium Friday midnight or a little earlier. Right now the Chicagoans are a half game ahead of the Indians, who are in an exact tie for sixth with the awakened Athletics. Contrasted with the Sox's 15 to 3 edge over the Indians is the Athletics' 13 to 7 margin over the Sox. And further to confuse the issue, the Indians have whipped the A's 12 out of 18.

The approaching series between the two inept crews will include the night game Friday, an afternoon game Saturday in league park, and a double header Sunday, back in the stadium.

In the affair Friday night, Bill Dietrich will make his second try for his 15th victory. He will be opposed by another veteran, Mel Harder.

Next Stop Detroit.

After they finish up here Sunday the Sox will move up to Detroit, via steamer. Next Tuesday and Wednesday they will play the Detroit Tigers in single games.

The team will slip back into Chicago on the morning of Aug. 31 and on the night of Sept. 1 will play the Indians in Comiskey park, the first of 10 lamp games to be played there in September.

Joe Hiestand Wins Fourth Trap Crown

Vandalia, O., Aug. 23 (AP).—Capt. Joe Hiestand of Hillsboro, O., and Fort Myers, Fla., today became the first man in history to win the North American clay target championship four times.

He gained his fourth crown at the 45th Grand American Trapshooting tournament by breaking 200 straight targets. The army captain, who has captured nearly every trapshooting title in existence, won the North American in 1935, 1936, and 1938.

Will Finish Today.

Mrs. Ruth Knuth of Indianapolis, Ind., won the women's champion of champions event with 94 x 100 today, and appeared to have a grasp on the North American Women's title, to be determined tomorrow.

Mrs. Knuth finished early with 183 of 200 targets. The only contestant with a chance was Mrs. George Peters of Springfield, O. When showers halted firing, Mrs. Peters still had 50 targets to shoot. She'll have to hit every one of them tomorrow morning in order to tie Mrs. Knuth.

Reinders, Drennan Second.

Lt. Vic Reinders of Waukesha, Wis., and Brooksfield, Tex., and Bill Drennan of Utica, Ill., finished second to Hiestand in the North American with 199 x 200.

The champion of champions among the men was John A. Peterson, 50 year old Racine, Wis., shipping clerk. He broke 98 of 100 to win that title by a single target from Herschel Cheek of Clinton, Ind., and George Wagner of Dayton, O.

Class championships decided today were:

Veterans—Tom Houghton, Flint, Mich., 98x100.

TRUST CHARGES FILED AGAINST WESTERN RAILS

Conspired to Keep Up Rates, Says U.S.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 22 (AP).—In one of the largest anti-trust suits in history, the justice department today charged a group of railroads, trade associations, investment houses, and rail executives with conspiracy to restrain and monopolize trade in the transportation of freight and passengers in the west since some time prior to 1932.

Defendants named in the suit, filed in Lincoln, Neb., include the Association of American Railroads, the Western Association of Railway Executives; J. P. Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co., New York investment houses; 47 railroads, and several score of individuals associated with the rail lines or the trade associations.

Charge Competition Prevented.

Among many charges in the complaint, the defendants are accused of acting collusively to maintain noncompetitive rates, preventing improvements of service and facilities of western lines, and retarding and suppressing development of motor carriers and other competitive transportation agencies.

Atty. Gen. Biddle, who is completing a tour of the west, declared in a statement that the "agreements, combinations, conspiracies, and activities of the kind charged in the complaint violate the Sherman [anti-trust] act and are not authorized by the interstate commerce act or any other act of congress."

The complaint asks dissolution of the A. A. R., an organization of major roads which operate more than 85 per cent of the country's railway mileage, and of the Western Association of Railway Executives, an organization of western railroads.

Seeks to Enjoin Revival.

It also seeks to prevent the continuance or revival of the western agreement, the western commissioners, or the committee of directors, thru which the department charges the defendants controled railroad rates and services. It also seeks to enjoin the defendants from setting up any similar system "to restrain trade and commerce in violation of the Sherman anti-trust act."

The complaint made these specific charges:

1. Freight rates are maintained for the western United States which are higher than those fixed for the east, an inequality which has deprived the west of the advantage of low competitive rates and has been a detriment to the west's economic development.

2. Improved railroad technology has been stifled.

Oil Rates Conspiracy Alleged.

3. The delivery of perishable products has been delayed thru unwillingness to speed up schedules.

4. By conspiring with the major oil companies owning and operating common carrier pipe lines, arbitrary and noncompetitive rates were established for rail and pipe transportation of petroleum and its products.

5. The defendants have conspired with motor and water carriers to bring their rates up to the higher rail level.

6. A highway department was established within the Western Association of Railway Executives to retard the development of the trucking industry.

7. The defendant railroads entered into the western agreement, which established the office of western commissioner who acted as arbiter in matters relating to transportation rates and services and that his activities were subject to review only by a committee of directors.

Charge Control of Financing.

8. J. P. Morgan & Co. and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and their affiliates have and still control substantially all the financing operations and security issues of the defendant railroads, have similar control in relation to many eastern railroads, and have substantial financial interests in numerous large industrial concerns in the east.

The complaint said further that Morgan & Co. and its predecessor participated in the organization of the A. A. R.

The carrier defendants were listed by the justice department as:

The Alton; Santa Fe; Chicago and Eastern Illinois; Chicago and Illinois Midland; North Western; Burlington; Chicago Great Western; Milwaukee; Rock Island; Colorado and Wyoming; Denver and Rio Grande; Denver and Salt Lake; Duluth, Missabe and Iron Range; Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic; Duluth, Winnipeg and Pacific; Elgin, Joliet and Eastern; Fort Dodge, Des Moines and Southern; Fort Worth and Denver City; Great Northern; Green Bay and Western; Illinois Central; Illinois Terminal; Kansas City Southern; Kansas, Oklahoma and Gulf; Lake Superior and Ishpeming; Litchfield and Madison; Louisiana and Arkansas; Midland Valley; Mineral Range; Minneapolis and St. Louis; Minneapolis, St. Paul and Sault Ste. Marie; Missouri and Arkansas; Missouri-Kansas-Texas; Missouri Pacific; Nevada Northern; Northern Pacific; St. Louis-San Francisco; St. Louis Southwestern; Southern Pacific; Spokane International; Spokane, Portland and Seattle; Texas and Pacific; Texas Mexican; Toledo, Peoria and Western; Union Pacific; Wabash, and Western Pacific.

Suit Is Dictator Move, Asserts Carriers' Chief

C. E. Johnston.]

Charles E. Johnston, chairman of the Western Association of Railway Executives which has offices in Chicago yesterday said that if issues involved in an anti-trust suit "are the same as those raised by Atty. Gen. Biddle and his assistant, Wendell Berge, in speeches and interviews, they strike at the keystone of the economic and political structure of this country."

The association is a defendant in a suit filed by the department of justice in Lincoln, Neb.

"First, is the question of whether industry in the future shall operate under the dictatorship of the attorney general thru the questionable process of 'consent decrees' or under regulatory laws prescribed by congress.

Seek Revolutionary Change.

"Second, is the question of whether a revolutionary change shall be enforced in the method of establishing freight rates, resulting in widespread dislocation and reshuffling of industries thruout the nation and agricultural production as well.

"I wish to point out solemnly that anybody seeking to bring about a condition of economic paralysis at a time when the country is concerned with the successful conclusion of the war, reconversion of industries to peace time pursuits, jobs for returning armed service men and women, and employment for the workers in closed war plants could not have chosen a point of attack that would produce national chaos more certainly.

"Biddle and Berge will get the cheers of the elements in our country who are seeking the outright overthrow of our economic system.

Rail Regulation Rigid.

"The railroad industry has been under rigid regulation prescribed by congress for more than half a century and most of the alleged violations of the anti-trust law with which we are charged are actions necessary to comply with proper regulatory laws and mandates of the interstate commerce commission.

"Charges of regional discrimination in freight rates are political buncombe, pure and simple. Anybody who can write a letter and has the price of a 3 cent stamp can file a complaint with the interstate commerce commission. Any dissatisfaction with the commission arises from the fact that it considers complaints on their merits and resists the demands of pressure groups seeking advantages.

"Biddle and Berge propose to liquidate this procedure and set themselves up as the administrators of the railways and presumably every other form of private enterprise."

UNION STATION BONDS PUT ON MARKET AT 101½

The new Chicago Union Station company issue of $37,800,000 of series G first mortgage 2⅞ per cent bonds to mature July 1, 1963, will be offered to the public today at 101½, subject to approval of the interstate commerce commission. An underwriting group headed by Kuhn, Loeb & Co. was awarded the issue.

A group of 16 banks headed by the First National Bank of Chicago was high bidder for $6,200,000 of Union Station guaranteed serial notes to mature in 19 instalments from July 1, 1945, to July 1, 1954. Proceeds from the two sales will be used to redeem on Jan. 1 an issue of 44 million of 3¾ per cent first mortgage bonds due July 1, 1963.

The Burlington road asked ICC authority to issue 40 million dollars of first and refunding mortgage bonds, series of 1974, to redeem 40 millions of series A first and refunding mortgage 5 per cent bonds due Feb. 1, 1971.

Army's Top Fighter Planes Won't Be Sold to Public

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23 (AP).—Surplus high performance combat aircraft, such as Airacobras, P-38s, and Black Widows, may be junked or salvaged for usable parts after the war, but will not be offered for sale to the public, the house postwar military policy committee was told today. Maj. Gen. O. P. Echols, assistant chief of staff of the army air forces, told the committee such planes "would be dangerous and impractical in the hands of the public."

STOCKS REGAIN STRENGTH AS UTILITIES RISE

Low Priced Motor Inquiry Begins.

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—The stock market regained its balance and turned up slightly today under the leadership of utilities and peace-tinged industrials.

Thoughts of a quick European victory were bolstered by the liberation of Paris and the sweep of the allies toward Germany. Investors, consequently, switched from holdings in companies that may experience reconversion difficulties to those that stand to benefit immediately when the Nazis crash.

Motors generally did well, even the low priced shares holding about even as their recent boom became a subject of official investigation. The securities and exchange commission asked the New York Stock exchange to supply information relating to trading operations in the affected stocks.

Ask Figures on Five Stocks.

Exchange members and member firms were asked for figures covering transactions for their own or customers' accounts during the 12 week period May 22 to Aug. 12 in stocks of Graham-Paige Motors corporation, Hayes Manufacturing corporation, Hudson Motor Car company, Hupp Motor Car corporation, and Willys-Overland Motors, Inc.

The SEC also asked the exchange to obtain from members copies of any comment on any of the five stocks, or automobile shares in general, in market letters or wire "flashes" during this period.

The exchange has been conducting its own inquiry in line with its policy of checking on unusual activity and fluctuations.

Rails Show Little Weakness.

Rail issues showed little weakness on the justice department's filing the long expected anti-trust suit.

Mixed tendencies persisted from the opening, but at the close 348 of the 850 issues traded were higher, 257 declined, and 245 were unchanged. The Associated Press 60-stock average rose 0.1 to 55.2.

At peaks for 1944 or longer, some up 1 to 4 points, were Briggs Manufacturing, Braniff Airways, Engineers Public Service, and preferreds of American Power and Light and Standard Gas.

BONDS NOT DISTURBED.

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—Indictment of the major western railroads under the anti-trust laws today caused only a ripple of disturbance to listed bonds. The market was uneven from the start.

There were enough "under the market" buying orders in rails to hold declines to small fractions, and the group had its quota of small gains. Investment interest again was a stabilizing influence in the high grade department. United States government loans held steady.

CHICAGO PRICES MIXED.

Prices were mixed yesterday in increased turnover of 33,000 shares on the Chicago Stock exchange. Volume leaders included Peter Fox Brewing, up 1¼ on a dividend increase; Middle West Utilities, up ¼, and Chicago corporation, Commonwealth Edison, and General Finance, unchanged.

MACY DECLARES FIRST DIVIDEND ON 'A' PREFERRED

R. H. Macy & Co. yesterday declared an initial dividend of $1.06¼ on the new 4¼ per cent cumulative A preferred stock. The stock was distributed as a dividend Aug. 1 at the rate of one share of preferred for each ten shares of common held. As indicated at that time, the common dividend rate was cut yesterday when 50 cents was voted for the final quarter this year and 40 cents for the first quarter in 1945.

McKesson & Robbins authorized payment of two regular quarterly common dividends of 35 cents each, changing from a semi-annual payment policy.

Treasury Makes Offer of Certificate Exchange

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23 (AP).—Secretary Morgenthau announced today that ⅞ per cent treasury certificates of indebtedness, series F-1945, will be offered on a straight exchange basis, to holders of treasury certificates E-1944, maturing Sept. 1, 1944. Morgenthau also announced that holders of series C-1944 and series D-1944 treasury notes maturing Sept. 15, 1944, will be given an opportunity to exchange such notes for series A-1946.

AFL Will Ask F.D.R. to Hike Wage Scales

BY GEORGE HARTMANN.

A direct appeal to President Roosevelt to use his executive power to increase wages in the same manner they were frozen was decided on by the American Federation of Labor's executive council yesterday in the Drake hotel.

President William Green of the federation said the President would be asked to discard the Little Steel wage formula entirely. He said the administration's treatment of requests for higher wage levels under the formula "looks like a complete stall."

President Green said he would appoint a committee to wait on the President early in September, so that he will have ample time to act before the November election.

"Suffer from Maladjustment."

"The working men and women of this nation have been made to suffer from a maladjustment that exists between wages and cost of living," said the AFL board. "This maladjustment has broken and depressed their peace time standards of living. The American Federation of Labor has vigorously and persistently attempted to prevent this.

"The stabilization program outlined by the President clearly embraces the opportunity of correcting this grievous situation. However, the power to modify the Little Steel formula and thereby reëstablish the workers' standards is no longer within the jurisdiction of the national war labor board. It is obvious that this power rests now solely with the President."

Charges Pleas Were Ignored.

The AFL board recalled that the federation has twice petitioned the WLB for readjustment of the formula, but "no action has been taken in response to our petitions."

The AFL board made John L. Lewis' chances of getting his United Mine Workers union back into the AFL almost an impossibility when it issued a charter to the International Chemical Workers' union. Lewis withdrew his petition several months ago. The petition of the chemical workers had been held up for a year because AFL leaders believed that, if the UMW were to return, Lewis would claim the AFL chemical workers because he now has chemical workers in his union. The new AFL International union claims 30,000 members.

Another new international was chartered: The International Office Workers' union, which Green said "has a potential membership in the millions."

BUSINESS GROUP SAYS U. S. NEEDS NELSON IN WPB

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—The American Business congress said today that "if reports of the forthcoming replacement of Donald Nelson" as WPB chairman were true, "a wave of justifiable indignation will sweep the country."

In a telegram sent to President Roosevelt the organization asserted:

"We, representing America's independent businessmen, protest vigorously. Mr. Nelson's broad vision and efficient administration have brought American business thru the war crisis with the least amount of dislocation."

Reports concerning Nelson's post were circulated after the White House announced Saturday that he would visit China with Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley.

Air Line Carries 14 Pct. More Passengers in July

Nearly 14 per cent more revenue passengers were carried by American Airlines in July than in June, Charles A. Rheinstrom, vice president in charge of traffic, announced yesterday. The July total was 30 per cent higher than a year earlier, he said.

PORK SUPPLY IS CUT AGAIN BY NEW FALL IN RECEIPT OF HOGS

Fresh pork supplies became scarcer yesterday with the arrival at the Chicago stock yards of only 13,000 hogs, including directs to packers, the smallest Wednesday volume since Oct. 6, 1943.

Farmers shipped in only 43,800 hogs during the first three days of this week. Receipts have been as low in only two weeks since this country entered the war, stock yard records showed.

Packers gave the $14.75 a hundred pounds ceiling for all good 150 to 240 pounders, and also accepted some light pigs down to 100 pounds and half fat sows below 240 pounds at this price.

Only slight price changes occurred in the cattle market. Five carloads of prime steers brought the $18.35 top, while most sales were $14.50 to $17.75. The scant supply of sheep and lambs sold steady.

Early Relief from Federal Control Asked

Midland, Mich., Aug. 23 [Special].—Government regulations over business should be dropped as soon as the war ends and in the meantime other rules no longer necessary for war should be abandoned because their continuance will only delay the transition to peace, Dr. Willard H. Dow, president, told stockholders of the Dow Chemical company at the annual meeting today.

"There may be a shock in suddenly dropping the war controls, but not until every control is removed can we have the free, open, and competitive market in which the customer rules," he said. "That is the only kind of market that will give us a free and prosperous America. The longer we delay stepping forward into freedom, the greater will be the eventual shock."

Magnesium Curbs "Unneeded."

Dow recalled that the company recently informed the WPB that regulations concerning distribution and use of magnesium are no longer necessary because of the amount on hand. The company hopes to get magnesium back into private business.

Dow said during the war business in general has been taking customers too much for granted and the time is nearly here when customers cannot be taken for granted.

"That is going to come as a jolt to a lot of people and the harder the jolt the better for the country," he said. "The nation, and we as individuals, must realize that we can live only as we exchange our products with customers and that the customers must have something to exchange. We all exist in the dual capacity of being customers as well as hunting for other customers to exchange with."

Sales Trebled During War.

Commenting that the company's sales rose from about $39,200,000 for the year ended May 31, 1940, to about $124,700,000 for the year ended May 31, 1944, Dow said despite this increase the stockholders got the same dividend rate in 1944 at in 1940. He said that tho the company is by no means a "war baby," the stockholders must not deceive themselves by taking the rapid growth as natural growth. There has been a forced growth induced by war orders.

The company's profit for the year ended May 31, 1944, as previously reported, was $8,573,503, compared with $8,225,302 in the preceding year.

Supply of Tea in America Twice Total of Year Ago

New York, Aug. 23 (AP).—The supply of tea in the United States at midyear totaled approximately 25,252,000 pounds, more than twice the supply on hand a year ago, Benjamin Wood, managing director of the tea bureau, announced today.

WILLYS PLANS MULTI-PURPOSE PEACE VEHICLE

Combines Tractor, Truck, and Car.

Willys-Overland Motors is developing for peace markets a vehicle that will "combine successfully for the first time in history the basic qualities of the light truck, the tractor, the passenger conveyance, and the independent power unit," Ward M. Canaday, chairman of the board, told stockholders yesterday.

Reporting increased earnings for the nine months ended June 30, Canaday said the new vehicle, which he described as a "post-war jeep," would not be competitive with other vehicles and farm implements, but would "supplement their use and thus increase their sales and widen employment."

Profit Equals $1.24 a Share.

Profit in the nine months, after $15,793,100 for federal income and excess profits taxes and $4,760,000 for reserves, was $2,854,356, equal to $1.24 a share. In the corresponding period of the preceding fiscal year profit was $2,139,664, equal to 97 cents a share.

Canaday said the company had completed the conversion into common stock of all preferred shares not retired by lot for cash on or before Aug. 1. He said the high percentage of preferred shares converted was an "encouraging indication of stockholder approval" and aided in preserving the strong cash position of the company.

W. B. Jarvis Earnings Rise.

W. B. Jarvis company, manufacturer of interior hardware and metal ornaments for automobile bodies, had net income of $315,178, or $1.05 a share, in the fiscal year ending June 30. Provisions of $293,000 were made for renegotiation of contracts and federal income taxes. In the preceding fiscal year profits were $282,249, equivalent to 94 cents a share.

S. S. White Dental Manufacturing company, producer of dental equipment and war material, had net income for the six months ended June 30 of $354,568, equivalent to $1.19 a share, compared with $383,479, or $1.28 a share, a year earlier.

RYE LEADS SLIDE OF FRACTIONS TO 2 CENTS IN GRAIN

Grain futures declined fractions to nearly 2 cents a bushel on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday, as rains thru part of the corn belt and good war news from Europe created bearish sentiment. The largest drop was in rye.

Contributing to selling was a broadening opinion among traders that there would be more than enough food and feed grains during the 1944-'45 season.

Grain markets dipped at the opening, rallied under the leadership of September rye, and then weakened again. May and July wheat touched new lows. September wheat closed unchanged, with deferred deliveries off ⅛ to ¾ cent.

Rye dropped ¼ to 1⅞ cents. September recovered 2 cents from an early slide, but deferred deliveries broke in late trade. Oats declined ½ to ¾ cent. Barley lost ⅛ to ⅛ cent.

Emerson Radio Doubles Net Sales in 39 Weeks

Net sales of the Emerson Radio and Phonograph corporation in the 39 weeks ended July 29, 1944, totaled $14,426,106, compared with $7,280,949 in the corresponding 1943 period.

Illinois Group Submits Plans on Surpluses

The Illinois Manufacturers' association yesterday submitted to Senators Brooks [R., Ill.] and Lucas [D., Ill.] eight specific recommendations for legislation on surplus government property and its disposition. The recommendations were formulated by a committee of industrial executives headed by John F. P. Farrar, president of the Chicago Metal Hose corporation, Maywood. They are:

1. Create a commission to formulate policies for the disposal of surplus government property, independent of any executive department of the government, and composed of seven full time members nominated by the President and approved by the senate, each having at least five years executive experience in industrial or merchandising procedures.

Urges Frequent Reports.

2. Fix the general responsibility for the disposal of surplus government property in congress and require the governmental agency administering the program to report to congress not less frequently than quarterly.

3. Assure that the government conform to policies designed to promote free competitive enterprise and avoid unfair competition with existing private industry.

4. Provide for industrial and business advisory committees with whom the administrative agency shall consult regarding policies and procedures governing the disposal of various classes of property.

5. Specifically prohibit governmental agencies from operating government owned plants in competition with private industry.

Asks Equitable Treatment.

6. Assure that disposal policies represent equitable consideration of all segments of business, large and small.

7. Specify disposal thru established trade channels as long as there is a commercial demand for the surplus property.

8. Provide that any disposal legislation expire by its term not less than three years from the date of enactment.

Fred MacMurray Paid $422,166 by Paramount

PROMISE LOANS WILL EASE WAR CONTRACTS END

Eccles Also Seeks Aid for Business.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23 (AP).—Robert H. Hinckley, director of contract settlement, promised today that companies whose war contracts are terminated will be able to obtain quick interim financing thru "T-loans," pending final settlement.

Outlining procedures for federal reserve banks to guarantee termination loans, Hinckley said the T-loans would enable any war contractor to convert into cash at his local bank approximately 90 per cent of the sound value of his war assets frozen by contract termination. The lending bank, in turn, will be protected by a federal reserve bank guarantee.

Subcontractors, as well as prime contractors, are eligible for T-loans.

Acts to Speed Small Loans.

To speed the granting of small loans, federal reserve banks have been authorized to approve guarantees totaling $500,000 or less to a single borrower. Larger loans will be sent to Washington, D. C., for processing.

The regulations provide that the contractor certify his investment in termination inventories and accounts payable to subcontractors, and take this to his commercial bank.

Hinckley said the certification would not be questioned by the federal reserve bank or the government contracting agency "unless there is reason to believe it is substantially overrated in value."

Private Expansion Sought.

Meanwhile, legislation to create a government guarantee system for business loans, looking toward expansion of private enterprise after the war, was proposed today by Chairman Eccles of the federal reserve system.

Such a program would extend into the reconversion period the "V loan" system used in financing war production.

Eccles said the federal reserve system was in a position to guarantee such loans up to half a billion dollars without any new appropriation from congress.

"The guaranteeing of such loans by the reserve banks," Eccles told the house banking committee, "would not be competitive with the private banking system. A borrower would be expected to apply for such a loan thru his usual banking connection. The bank in turn would make application to the federal reserve bank of its district for the guarantee.

"It is contemplated that the guarantees would not exceed 90 per cent of the amount of the credit, since any enterprise which has reasonable prospects of successful operation should be able to obtain financing in which its bank assumes at least 10 per cent of the risk under the loan."

For Any Type Borrowing.

Such guarantees would be available under Eccles' proposal for any type of loans made by financing institutions to business and industry, short term or long term, and to provide either working capital or facilities.

"Numerous enterprises will not be able to resume peace time operation without financial assistance, in many cases beyond that available from private sources upon terms which will meet the borrower's requirements," he said.

"Some contractors, to avail themselves of a favorable opportunity for purchasing government owned facilities and inventory, may require a larger amount of credit than can be obtained upon terms customarily granted by banks. Such situations may occur before settlement of canceled contracts as well as thereafter."

JURISDICTIONAL DISPUTE PERILS SHIP PRODUCTION

Providence, R. I., Aug. 23 (AP).—A walkout of 7,650 members of the AFL Boilermakers' union today threatened to force closing of the Walsh-Kaiser shipyard, where 19,000 are employed building combat cargo ships for the navy. About 3,900 boilermakers left their jobs yesterday after John S. McDonald, general manager, said the management had discharged four erectors because they refused to finish a job begun by riggers, members of another AFL union. A management spokesman said the jurisdictional dispute began 18 months ago.

OLIVER MERGER PLAN CONTINUES 'IN DISCUSSION'

Negotiations for a merger of the Oliver Farm Equipment company and the Cleveland Tractor company have been undertaken, but discussions have not yet reached the final stage, a spokesman for Oliver said yesterday, when asked about reports that a special meeting of Oliver stockholders would be called shortly to ratify the plan.

F. D. R. SEIZES COAL MINES IN PENNSYLVANIA

Takes Over Philadelphia and Reading Firm.

Shenandoah, Pa., Aug. 23 (AP).—Government seizure of the mines and other workings of the Philadelphia and Reading Coal and Iron company was ordered today by President Roosevelt in a move to break a strike that started June 29 and has made 4,000 anthracite miners idle.

There was no official comment immediately from the miners.

Undersecretary of Interior Abe Fortas, acting in the absence of Secretary Ickes, issued an order taking possession of the properties and naming Ralph E. Taggart, president of the mining company, as operating manager for the United States.

Fortas called for a resumption of work Friday morning, saying the strike has cost more than a half million tons in anthracite production.

Claim Wages "Docked."

The strikers claim the company docked wages of contract miners in violation of their collective bargaining pact, while the company insists the contract was not violated.

The Shenandoah general mine board [United Mine Workers] charged the company "began to pay as low as $3.83 a day."

In Philadelphia Taggart termed the seizure "regrettable," but said it "apparently is the only way to end the outlaw strike."

"The demands of these few miners are in direct violation of their contract with the company and cannot be met without jeopardizing the entire working agreement between the United Mine Workers of America and the anthracite operators," Taggart added.

He charged that some of the miners "worked as little as one-half their working shift" and "demanded to be paid the full daily wage of the contract." The miners, Taggart added, "were repeatedly notified that they must discontinue shortening their work shift and work the full number of hours called for in the agreement."

5,000 Others Idle.

In western Pennsylvania, meanwhile, 5,000 bituminous miners were idle in a strike called to enforce demands of the United Clerical, Technical and Supervisory Workers of the mining industry, a branch of the UMW, that it be recognized as collective bargaining agent for supervisory workers.

The national labor relations board announced in Pittsburgh that notices of strike votes have been filed by supervisory employes in 59 mines. Those already out represent six mines.

STOP OVERNIGHT LEAVES IN AREA NAVAL SCHOOLS

A policy of no general overnight liberty for personnel at naval schools in the 13 states of this district was announced yesterday by the 9th naval district. Married men and single men having established homes within a radius of 50 miles of their stations were excepted. Formerly liberty regulations were fixed by the commandant of each of the 150 or more schools in the district. The new order, dated Aug. 15, was issued to establish a uniform liberty policy. States under 9th district command are Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Iowa, Michigan, Kansas, Ohio, Missouri, and Kentucky.

RATION BOARDS TO GET PAYMENT PLAN ON MONDAY

Local ration boards in Chicago next Monday will receive instructions for seeking money settlements from retailers, restaurants, and landlords accused of charging over ceiling prices, Marion Isbell, acting area office of price administration director, said yesterday.

The new plan, Isbell said, will be put into effect Sept. 1, and was drawn up under new provisions of the price control act. Under it price panels of local boards will negotiate with accused violators for voluntary settlements. When violations are deemed unintentional, refunds to customers will be asked, or if this is impractical, contributions to the United States treasury.

In so-called intentional cases, payments to the treasury will be asked to the extent of one and one-half times the overcharge, or $50, whichever is greater, with a minimum of $25 to be sought. "Flagrant" cases are to be referred to the area office for civil suits or criminal prosecution.

The new procedure, Isbell said, does not affect the right of an overcharged customer to sue in civil courts for treble the amount of the overcharge, or $50, whichever is greater.

WPB GIVES MILADY HIGHER HEELS ON HER FALL SHOES

Washington, D. C., Aug. 23 (AP).—Higher heels and leather bows are coming to civilians again, the WPB announced today in another relaxation of restrictions on footwear production.

Restrictions were lifted previously to permit shoe manufacturers to begin production of two tone shoes of black and white or brown and white, but no other color combinations, and that still stands, the WPB said.

The new order provides that "new designs, lasts, and patterns may be introduced, provided a manufacturer can do so without employing additional workers." Bows must be of scrap leather, but standardization of the weight of steel shanks is eliminated and wooden sole clogs, minus leather, no longer will be subject to manufacturer quotas.

COURT CHANGES ITS MIND ABOUT U. W. PATENTS

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 23 (AP).—The United States Circuit Court of Appeals today took the unusual action of withdrawing its opinion of June 30, 1943, which invalidated valuable patents held by the Wisconsin Alumni Research foundation for preventing and curing rickets thru food treated with ultra-violet rays. The court gave no explanation of its action, simply announcing it had withdrawn the opinion.

The university, which said the so-called "Steenbock patents" had netted it $7,500,000 in royalties from some 250 licensed companies, had petitioned for a rehearing and its action still is pending.

Gist of the court's June opinion was that a process utilizing sunlight could not be patented since solar energy is available to all mankind and that the Steenbock patents were invaluable discoveries but not inventions. Involved was the case of Vitamin Technologists, Inc., Los Angeles, which had lost for the most part in a patent suit, the lower court holding the university's patents had been infringed.
